Grand Rapids Milling Co.

Mrs. Housewife!

Do you know what it costs to run your house? Of course you want to know, but unless the merchants from whom you buy furnish you an limited statement of your account with each purchase, you cannot know without considerable trouble on your part.

You would rather pay four bills of five dollars each, or four bills of ten dollars each, than one bill of twenty or forty dollars. If you always know what you owe, you will pay your account before it grows too large to pay with ease.

If your merchant installs The McCuskey Account Register System he can give you with less labor than he now performs, a bill and statement combined, with each purchase. This will show what you bought, the price charged for each article and the total amount you owe him. There is no long and exasperating wait for a sales-slip where the McCuskey system is used. The items are written at the time the sale is made, and within a few seconds you can have in your possession the total amount of your indebtedness.

Has your dealer a McCuskey System?

Consumers League.

Delivered at the recent meeting of the Federated Clubs.

Now with your permission, I want to tell you a few of the things accomplished this year by the State Consumers' League.

After a thorough study of existing conditions by trained investigators, bills have been introduced in the legislature calling for a ten hour working day for women, for a greater number of women factory inspectors, for a more thorough inspection of meat, for the establishment in cities, towns and villages of municipal slaughter houses subject to state inspection and a bill calling for a minimum wage law.

It is a little more than a year ago since I became interested in the work of the Consumers League and when Mrs. Hill asked me to act as chairman for this year, I couldn't see that there was much to be done in Grand Rapids. As far as I could see there were no sweated shops, there was no wholesale employment of children under age, houses seemed far enough apart to give working people the privilege of light, sunshine, fresh air and sanitation. I supposed that sufficient wages were paid to workers to enable them to live comfortably. I knew that people were interested in the upholding of the pure food law, and as there was the extermination of tuberculosis the thing that the Consumers' League had plucked itself to work for, I thought that there was little to be done, that everything had been done, but I have changed my mind since then. I realize now the immensity of the work and that there are things to be done here.

At different times this year various complaints of unsanitary conditions have come to me. Sometimes by references to the proper authorities these things have been remedied. Some of the complaints however, are not so easily solved, for instance, I have been told, I do not say that I know positively that this is true for I have had no way to find out, but I have been told that one business man pays his beginning employees, young girls who work from eight until six—six days in the week one dollar and fifty cents. If this is true, it is a problem for the community to solve.

Last spring I went to the home of a girl who was sick, and I was really to believe that she had typhoid fever when I passed a house not a quarter of a block from her home and saw a drain pipe from the house discharging into the street.

When I think of all the things that might and should be accomplished, I am ashamed to tell you the little that we have really done.

At the beginning of the year we planned to do two things, work for the extermination of tuberculosis and to try to create a greater interest in the problem of the working girl and woman. With the latter we have done practically nothing because the chief factor in the creating of this interest, Miss Rose Farndale, the only woman factory inspector in the state has had so many things to attend to that she has not been able to come here to talk to us. If you ever have an opportunity to hear this grand good woman who is giving her time and pocket book to better the conditions of the working women in Wisconsin do go and listen to her. The little in this line that we really accomplished was to have some posters printed and distributed at Xmas time asking people to help the clerks by shopping early.

Then late in November we started the Red Cross seal crusade. We did not go into this work for the prize that might come to us, we had a larger aim in mind, but after the

ELKS MINSTREL A GRAND SUCCESS

The production of the Elks Minstrel show at Daly's Theater last night was certainly a success both as an amusement as well as a financial standpoint, and the boys are to be congratulated for the smoothness with which they carried the affair off.

There was something doing all the time, and when it came to high class singing and splendid jokes they had few Docksters bunch of ham-fisted lackeys to the mast and the rock on foreward yelling for help.

The first part was the regular minstrel style, with six and men, and about thirty in the chorus. There were a nice lot of songs, interspersed with numerous jokes about local celebrities, all of which were thoroughly appreciated and liberally applauded.

The second part consisted of a German school scene wherein Prof. Brockhausen officiated as schoolmaster while several of the "boys" took the part of children. There was some music and songs as well as an "Art recital" all of which made quite an amusing sketch.

There will be several changes in the show tonight. The songs will be almost entirely changed and some of the songs. Instead of singing "You Don't Expect" Mr. A. P. Mulvey will sing "Constantly." Mr. Mulvey and Mr. Harrington will also have a solo in the second part. In fact everything seems to point to a better show tonight and it would be worth the money to see it again.

Knights of Columbus Organize.

A lodge of the order of Knights of Columbus was organized in this city on Sunday last, the Eagles hall being used for the purpose.

There was a large crowd in attendance, there being delegates from Stevens Point, Merrill, Wausau, Marshfield, Green Bay and other points in this vicinity.

Ninety-three members were taken into the lodge, sixty-five of whom are from this city, and the others from towns in this vicinity.

Closing Banquet of Beacon Lights

The festivities at the M. H. Jackson home on Oak Street Monday evening marked the termination of the year's work of the Beacon Lights Club. An elaborate six o'clock dinner was served to which the gentlemen were invited.

The tables were prettily decorated in green and pink. The place cards were souvenirs brought from noted places abroad and the favors were little Maybaskets filled with arbutus.

Mrs. M. H. Jackson acted as toastmistress and called attention to the closing meeting of a most successful year's work and called upon the retiring President, Mrs. J. Reichel to respond to the toast "Our Club." Mrs. Reichel spoke in her usual gracious manner of the work accomplished in the five year's history of the Club.

Mrs. E. J. Clark responding to "Our Officers Old and New" gave a fitting tribute to the officers of the year and gave some witty advice to the newly elected ones.

As all the gentlemen were anxious for the privilege of toasting "Our Ladies" Mr. E. L. Hayward was especially honored in being called upon to respond.

Prof. C. W. Schwede as head of one of our best institutions in Grand Rapids was quite equal to the subject "Our City." He spoke of the changes that had taken place since many of the members of the Club had resided here and also he did not give the Club all the credit he expressed the thought that the members of this Club had been among those citizens who had done their share toward the bettering of the city.

In proposing the toast "Our Good Old State" the toastmistress spoke of the work of the year which had consisted of a thorough study of Wisconsin, its history, geography and progress along all lines; and called upon Mrs. J. J. Looze who, as always, was fully equal to the occasion.

Prof. M. H. Jackson in responding to the toast "Our Good Times Together" said he was always ready for a good time anywhere but especially for one connected with the Beacon Lights Club and called attention to the fact that while most of the social times were due to the efforts of the ladies, the gentlemen had not been entirely lacking in civility.

As a fitting close to the remarks of the evening Mrs. W. B. Raymond was officially introduced to the company as the new president, and responded with a few appropriate words.

Drowned While Fishing.

Three men were drowned at Harbort on Saturday, while out fishing on Lake Catherine. Their names were Wm. Jans, Frank Rosey and John Williams. Four men were out in a boat, when it commenced to leak badly, and becoming excited they jumped into the water and three of them drowned, the one who saved himself being Tony Rokos.

Wm. Jans was the son of Carl Jans who lives on the west side in this city and was about thirty years of age and leaves a wife and two children. The remains were brought to this city on Monday and the funeral will be held at 1:30 o'clock from the home.

The other two men were also well known here, having been here on previous occasions.

Fred Ott has purchased two lots on Ninth street of Louis Uls and commenced the erection of a home.

AFTER ONE YEAR'S EXPERIENCE.

The city of Eau Claire has been under the commission form of government for a year past, and the indications are that they like it over there. The following on the subject is taken from the Eau Claire Leader:

One year ago yesterday, the city of Eau Claire went under the so-called commission form of government, that is, the present administration took up the reins of government. The Leader has but one criticism to make, and that is, the men at the head of affairs have been altogether too modest in not letting everybody know the many good things that have been performed. In every department there has been better management, due to a careful supervision and the gradual adoption of business methods.

Eau Claire is a better city today because of the commission form of government and the work already accomplished is a guarantee of even better things in the future. We hope soon to be able to make a concrete record of work done. The people, we believe, are with the commission, and we know would pardon them if they "tooted their horns" just a little more loudly. There are, perhaps, still the doubting ones—besides the few unalterably opposed. Let each and every taxpayer honestly ask himself if we should return to the old order of things—the twenty aldermen from the town wards, with the political wrangle, tangle and hopeless inefficiency. The Leader thinks not.

"The Best for Eau Claire," is none too good. Learn the opinion of the city held by outsiders, as compared with the same opinion under the old regime. Get your own neighbor's opinion, and there is but one conclusion that can be arrived at and that is that we build better than we know.

"Daniel Boone on the Trail" Coming.

—The spectacular pioneer production, "Daniel Boone on the Trail" comes to Daly's Theatre for one night, Friday, April 28th. Daniel brings with him all the requirements necessary to properly give a reproduction of his earlier days, when a man had a right to fight the savage Indians by day and the hungry wild animals by night.

The tribe of real Sioux Indians from the great west are worked into the many exciting scenes of the famous drama. A den of bears; a pack of Siberian wolves and a number of large St. Bernard dogs are also used in this thrilling romance.

Boone has proven one of the record breaking attractions of the season. It is a play that the old want to see. It has that material that strongly appeals to the younger Americans.

The last act of this excellent drama shows the surrender of Cornwallis and Washington's message to Boone. After seeing the production of Daniel Boone one can safely say it was real. The story is true, the Indians are real, the wild animals are real. The only one missing is Boone; though dead his memory still lives and at Frankfurt, Ky., a monument now stands overlooking the famous Kentucky River, where Boone more than once came near giving his life.

Seats Thursday 25, 35 and 50 cents.

Introductory Band Concert.

Under the direction of the new leader Mr. Jos. Merrill, the Band will give a very fine concert next Tuesday evening at Daly's Theater, May 2nd.

This concert is given to introduce Mr. Merrill to the lovers of music in Grand Rapids and give them an opportunity to hear him in role of soloist on both the violin and cornet.

The Band is very desirous of retaining Mr. Merrill here and to do this we must get him scholars on violin in addition to his other work.

The concert will have for special feature Mr. Merrill's solos and a quartet of clarinets by Messrs. Bandelin and Morse.

A very choice selection of numbers by the Band.

Death of A. Saecker.

A. Saecker died at his home in this city on the east side last Saturday afternoon after an illness of considerable length from cancer of the stomach.

Decased was 61 years of age and had made his home in this city for something over a year past. He is survived by his wife and seven children.

The family left on Tuesday morning with the remains, it being their intention to inter them at Hingham. They were accompanied by Rev. M. B. Milne of this city.

Held Their Annual Banquet.

The annual banquet of the Historical and Literary Society was held on Monday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. O. T. Hogue. The gentlemen were also in attendance and there were toasts by the different members, and a very pleasant evening was spent.

WILL WAIT FOR THE CITY TO MOVE.

In an interview with Joseph Cohen recently, when asked what he intended to do with the building which the city council would either allow him to leave where it now stands, or move back to the position where it formerly stood, he stated that it was not his intention to do anything.

He said that there were others who had violated the ordinance concerning wooden buildings within the fire limits, and that if they were compelled to tear down their buildings, he would do the same without any cost or trouble to the city.

West Side the Largest.

One of the things that has worried some of the people of Grand Rapids since the census was taken, was to know which part of the city contained the most people. According to the census figures, the west side is the largest, having a majority of 139. The population by wards is as follows:

First ward..... 419
Second ward..... 664
Third ward..... 671
Fourth ward..... 912

Fifth ward..... 1,056
Sixth ward..... 869
Seventh ward..... 738
Eighth ward..... 627

The population of the county is given at 30,563, as against 28,865 in 1900 and 18,125 in 1890.

The population of Marshfield is given at 5,783, and Nekoosa is third in the list with a population of 1,570. Pittsville is given at 450.

Transfer is Made.

The deed for that portion of the river bank owned by Paul Prenton was received last week by the Advancement Association and the money has been paid over and the transfer made. It is the intention of the Association to sell the building on the property and clear it off as soon as possible.

The building will be sold to the highest bidder next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The removal of this building will clear off the entire west river bank as mapped out by the Association and will make a vast improvement in the appearance of things here.

Spohn-Mahoney.

The marriage of Charlotte Mahoney of this city to Charles Spohn, Jr., of the town of Saratoga took place quietly at the Scandinavian Moravian parsonage on Thursday morning, April 20, 1911. Rev. H. H. Johnson performed the ceremony.

The bridal couple were attended by Miss Cecile Mahoney, sister of the bride and August Spohn, brother of the groom. The young couple will immediately go to farming on the land owned by the groom in the town of Saratoga. They take with them the good wishes of their numerous friends.

Building Sidetracks.

The Grand Rapids Street Railway Company will build two sidetracks on their line during the present summer. One will be at the pavilion, which will be built first, and after it is finished one will be put in at the baseball grounds. This will enable them to handle the business at those places in a much more efficient manner than they did last season.

Notes.

I have moved my saloon business from Second Ave. South to the Pommerville building where I formed a partnership with Joe Garski. I invite all my friends and old customers to call on me at my new stand.

Respectfully yours,
Lorenz Shadkowski.

This Week's Attractions at Daly's Theatre.

Then late in November we started the Red Cross seal crusade. We did not go into this work for the prize that might come to us, we had a larger aim in mind, but after the prizes had been awarded, a friend told me that we had lost to Nekosha by a small fraction of one per cent, I felt that we had not done badly.

You may be interested in some of the details of our crusade. In nearly all of the stores and hotels we were allowed to leave seals to be sold. The manager of the skating rink put seals on all the tickets they issued for two days, the manager of the Grand Theatre helped advertise our work by throwing pictures of the seal on his screens between acts and he used stamps on his tickets for several nights. In the Reporter printing office seals were used as premiums; the different church societies allowed us to have a table and to sell what we could. The children in the schools parochial and public, worked nobly. In the High school, we gave a dinner and charged red cross seals instead of the customary 15 or 25 cents; a candy sale was conducted on the same plan; a number of basket ball games were played between the different classes or between one class and members of the faculty and red cross seals were collected at the door instead of money.

The Methodist Ladies Missionary Society sent us a check for two dollars, The Woman's Club sent us a check, a like amount and the Eastern Star sent a check for ten dollars.

As a result of these activities and donations we were able to send to the Anti Tuberculosis Association a check for $200.24. In acknowledging this receipt, Mr. Worle, campaign manager for the state said, "Remember that this is your Association and that it stands ready to be of assistance to you wherever possible, and we should like very much to take a hand in fighting local conditions."

This is the work that we want done now,—a start has been made, $200.24 went from Grand Rapids last year to the Association whose purpose is to arouse, inspire and foster individual and collective resistance to the disease. Why not take advantage of the offers made us, why not get what belongs to us, that will help us to improve health conditions here. I have asked Miss Gadeny the field secretary of this movement, to send a speaker here for the June Civics meeting. This we hope will be the beginning of a Health movement started by the sale of the red cross seals.

In proposing the toast "Our Good Old State" the toastmistress spoke of the work of the year, which had consisted of a thorough study of Wisconsin, its history, geography and progress along all lines; and called upon Mrs. J. J. Looze who, as always, was fully equal to the occasion.

Prof. M. H. Jackson in responding to the toast "Our Good Times Together" said he was always ready for a good time anywhere but especially for one connected with the Beacon Lights Club and called attention to the fact that while most of the social times were due to the efforts of the ladies, the gentlemen had not been entirely lacking in civility.

As a fitting close to the remarks of the evening Mr. W. B. Raymond was officially introduced to the company as the new president, and responded with a few appropriate words.

Drowned While Fishing.

Three men were drowned at Hazelhurst on Saturday, while out fishing on Lake Catherine. Their names were Wm. Janz, Frank Rosey and John Williams. Four men were out in a boat, when it commenced to leak badly, and, becoming excited, they jumped into the water and three of them drowned, the one who saved himself being Tony Rokes.

Wm. Janz was the son of Carl Janz who lives on the west side in this city and was a man about thirty years of age and leaves a wife and two children. The remains were brought to this city on Monday and the funeral will be held at 1:30 o'clock from the home.

The other two men, were also well known here, having been here on numerous occasions.

Fred Ott has purchased two lots on Ninth street, of Louis Ule and commenced the erection of a home.

ELKS MINSTREL A GRAND SUCCESS

The production of the Elks Minstrel show at Daly's Theatre last night was certainly a success both as an amusement as well as from a financial standpoint, and the boys are to be congratulated for the smoothness with which they carried the affair off.

There was something doing all the time, and when it came to high class stinging and side-splitting jokes they had Lew Dockstader's bunch of ham-festers lashed to the mast and the book on forecords yelling for help.

The first part was the regular minstrel style, with six and seven, and about thirty in the chorus. There were a nice lot of songs, interspersed with numerous jokes about local celebrities, all of which were thoroughly appreciated and liberally applauded.

The second part consisted of a German school scene wherein Prof. Brockhausen officiated as schoolmaster while several of the "boys" took the part of children. There was some music and songs as well as an "art recital" all of which made quite an amusing sketch.

Lack of space forbids the mention of such especially good features, but as the boys reproduce the entertainment tonight, those who were not able to get into the opera house last night can see it tonight.

There will be several changes in the show tonight. The gags will be almost entirely changed and some of the songs. Instead of singing "Your Gun to Get Something You Don't Expect" Mr. A. P. Mulroy will sing "Constantly." Mr. Mulroy and Mr. Harrington will also have a solo in the second part. In fact everything seems to point to a better show tonight and it would be worth the money to see it again.

Knights of Columbus Organize.

A lodge of the order of Knights of Columbus was organized in this city on Sunday last, the Eagles hall being used for the purpose.

There was a large crowd in attendance, there being delegates from Stevens Point, Merrill, Waunesa, Marshfield, Green Bay and other points in this vicinity.

Ninety-three members were taken into the lodge, sixty-five of whom are from this city, and the others from towns in this vicinity.

Woodmen Take Notice.

Mr. Horace Huron the M. W. of A. musical Pan Maker, is sure to be here tomorrow evening, April 27th, will be at the M. W. of A. Hall. If you would like an evening of laughter then you cannot afford to miss this meeting. Any member of the M. W. of A. here will be pleased to hand you a free ticket. All that you have to do is to ask some member for it. Mr. Huron is a whole show in himself, he will show you more faces than will make you laugh, that what you could see at any high priced entertainment. I ask you to hustle and get a ticket. Why? AFTER ONE YEAR'S EXPERIENCE.

The city of Eau Claire has been under the commission form of government for a year past, and the indications are that they like it over there. The following on the subject is taken from the Eau Claire Leader:

One year ago yesterday, the city of Eau Claire went under the so-called commission form of government, that is, the present administration took up the reins of government. The Leader has but one criticism to make, and that is, the men at the head of affairs have been altogether too modest in not letting everybody know the many good things that have been performed.

In every department, due to a careful supervision and the gradual adoption of business methods, Eau Claire is a better city today because of the commission form of government, and the work already accomplished is a guarantee of even better things in the future. We hope soon to be able to make a concrete resume of work done. The people, we believe, are with the commission-ers, and we know would pardon them if they "treated their horses" just a little more loudly. There are, perhaps, still the doubting ones—besides the few unalterably opposed. Let each and every taxpayer honestly ask himself if we should return to the old order of things—the twenty aldermen from the ten wards, with the political wrangle, tangle and hopeless inefficiency. The Leader thinks not.

"The Best for Eau Claire," is none too good. Learn the opinion of the city held by outsiders, as compared with this same opinion under the old regime. Get your own neighbor's opinion, and there is but one conclusion that can be arrived at and that is that we build better than we knew.

"Daniel Boone on the Trail" Coming.

—The spectacular pioneer production, "Daniel Boone on the Trail" comes to Daly's Theatre for one night, Friday, April 28th. Daniel brings with him all the requisites necessary to properly give a reproduction of his earlier days, when a man had a right to fight the savage Indians by day and the hungry wild animals by night.

The tribe of real Sioux Indians from the great west were worked into the many exciting scenes of the famous drama. A den of bears; a pack of Siberian wolves and a number of large St. Bernard dogs are also used in this thrilling romance.

Boone has proven one of the record breaking attractions of the season. It is a play that the old want to see. It has that material that strongly appeals to the younger Americans.

The last act of this excellent drama shows the surrender of Cornwallis and Washington's message to Boone. After seeing the production of Daniel Boone one can safely say it was real. The story is true, the Indians are real, the wild animals are real. The only one missing is Boone; though dead his memory still lives and at Frankfort, Ky., a monument now stands overlooking the famous Kentucky River, where Boone more than once came near giving his life.

Seats Thursday 25, 35 and 50 cents.

Introductory Band Concert.

Under the direction of the new leader Mr. Jos. Merrill, the Band will give a very fine concert next Tuesday evening at Daly's Theatre, May 2nd.

This concert is given to introduce Mr. Merrill to the lovers of music in Grand Rapids and give them an opportunity to hear him in role of soloist on both the violin and cornet. The Band is very desirous of retaining Mr. Merrill here and to do this we must get him scholars on violin in addition to his other work.

The concert will have for special feature Mr. Merrill's solos and a duet of clarinets by Messrs. Bandelin and Morse.

A very choice selection of numbers by the Band.

Dance at Rudolph.

—Nic Maroon will give a social dance at his hall in Rudolph on Monday, evening, May 1st. Maeder's famous orchestra of Appleton will furnish the music. Refreshments, including ice cream and cake will be served during the evening.

Take Notice.

—Johnson & Hill Co. will have another car of fancy oats on track this week. If you are in need of oats you can get no better either for feed or seed. Grocery Dept. Prices will be cheap.

For Sale or Exchange.

—Automobile, Model 16 Buick, new. Will accept city property or land. Address 117, Grand Rapids, Wis.

J. E. Jeannin, traveling representative of the Minneapolis Tribune, is spending a few days in the city in the interests of his paper.

George Ward returned today from Marshfield where he had been spending a week looking after the work on the new asylum. Mr. Ward reports that the place will be ready for occupancy by the first of July if everything goes right.

WILL WAIT FOR THE CITY TO MOVE.

In an interview with Joseph Cohen recently, when asked what he intended to do with the building which the city council would neither allow him to leave where it now stands, nor move back to the position where it formerly stood, he stated that it was not his intention to do anything.

He said that there were others who had violated the ordinance concerning wooden buildings within the fire limits, and that if they were compelled to tear down their buildings, he would do the same without any cost or trouble to the city.

West Side the Largest.

One of the things that has worried some of the people of Grand Rapids since the census was taken, was to know which part of the city contains the most people. According to the census figures, the west side is the larger, having a majority of 129. The population by wards is as follows:

First ward..... 649
Second ward..... 964
Third ward..... 671
Fourth ward..... 212

Fifth ward..... 3194
Sixth ward..... 1,064
Seventh ward..... 869
Eighth ward..... 677

The population of the county is given at 30,483, as against 25,860 in 1900 and 18,127 in 1890.

The population of Marshfield is given at 6,783, and Nekosha is third in the list with a population of 1,570. Pittsville is given at 450.

Transfer is Made.

The deed for that portion of the river bank owned by Sam Preston was received last week by the Advancement Association and the money has been paid over and the transfer made. It is the intention of the Association to sell the building on the property and clear it off as soon as possible.

The building will be sold to the highest bidder next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The removal of this building will clear off the entire west river bank as mapped out by the Association and will make a vast improvement in the appearance of things there.

Spohn-Mahoney.

The nuptials of Charlotte Mahoney of this city to Charles Spohn, Jr., of the town of Saratoga took place quietly at the Scandinavian Moravian paragon on Thursday morning, April 20, 1911. Rev. H. B. Johnson performed the ceremony. The bridal couple were attended by Miss Cassie Mahoney, sister of the bride and August Spohn, brother of the groom. The young couple will immediately go to farming on the land owned by the groom in the town of Saratoga. They take with them the good wishes of their numerous friends.

Building Sidetracks.

The Grand Rapids Street Railway Company will build two sidetracks on their line during the present summer. One will be at the pavilion, which will be built first, and after this is finished one will be put in at the baseball grounds. This will enable them to handle the business at these places in a much more efficient manner than they did last season.

Notice.

I have moved my south business from Second Ave. South to the Pomerville building where I formed a partnership with Joe Garaski. I invite all my friends and old customers to call on me at my new stand.

Respectfully yours,
Lorenz Sladkovsky.

Mrs. Housewife!

Do you know what it costs to run your house? Of course you want to know, but unless the merchants from whom you buy furnish you an itemized statement of your account with each purchase, you cannot know without considerable trouble on your part.

You would rather pay four bills of five dollars each, or four bills of ten dollars each, than one bill of twenty or forty dollars. If you always know what you owe, you will pay your account before it grows too large to pay with ease.

If your merchant installs The McCaskey Account Register System he can give you with less labor than he now performs, a bill and statement combined, with each purchase. This will show what you bought, the price charged for each article and the total amount you owe him. There is no long and exasperating wait for a sales slip where the McCaskey system is used. The items are written at the time the sale is made, and within a few seconds you can have in your possession the total amount of your indebtedness.

Has your dealer a McCaskey System?

Consumers League.

Delivered at the recent meeting of the Federated Clubs.

Now with your permission, I want to tell you a few of the things accomplished this year by the State Consumer's League.

After a thorough study of existing conditions by trained investigators, bills have been introduced in the legislature calling for a ten hour working day for women, for a greater number of women factory inspectors, for a more thorough inspection of meat, for the establishment in cities, towns and villages of municipal slaughter houses subject to state inspection and a bill calling for a minimum wage law.

It is a little more than a year ago since I became interested in the work of the Consumers League and when Mrs. Hill asked me to act as chairman for this year, I couldn't see that there was much to be done in Grand Rapids. As far as I could see there were no sweatshops, there was no wholesale employment of children under age, houses seemed far enough apart to give working people the privilege of light, sunshine, fresh air and sanitation. I supposed that sufficient wages were paid to workers to enable them to live comfortably. I knew that people were interested in the upholding of the pure food law, and as these, plus the extermination of tuberculosis were the things that the Consumers' League had pledged itself to work for, I thought that there was little to be done, that everything had been done, but I have changed my mind since then. I realize now the immensity of the work and that there are things to be done here.

At different times this year various complaints of unhygienic conditions have come to me. Sometimes by references to the proper authorities these things have been remedied. Some of the complaints however, are not so easily solved, for instance, I have been told, I do not say that I know positively that this is true for I have had no way to find out, but I have been told that one business man pays his beginning employees, young girls who work from eight until six—six days in the week one dollar and fifty cents. If this is true, it is a problem for the community to solve.

Last spring I went to the home of a girl who was sick, and I was ready to believe that she had typhoid fever when I passed a house not a quarter of a block from her home and saw a drain pipe from the house discharging into the street.

When I think of all the things that might and should be accomplished, I am ashamed to tell you the little that we have really done.

At the beginning of the year we planned to do two things, work for the extermination of tuberculosis and to try to create a greater interest in the problem of the working girl and woman. With the latter we have done practically nothing because the chief factor in the creating of this interest, Miss Rose Pardee the only woman factory inspector in the state has had so many things to attend to that she has not been able to come here to talk to us. If you ever have an opportunity to hear this grand good woman who is giving her time and pocket book to better the conditions of the working women in Wisconsin do go and listen to her. The little in this line that we really accomplished was to have some posters printed and distributed at Xmas time asking people to help the clerks by shopping early.

Then late in November we started the Red Cross seal crusade. We did not go into this work for the prize that might come to us, we had a larger aim in mind, but after the prizes had been awarded, a friend told me that we had lost to Nekosha by a small fraction of one per cent, I felt that we had not done badly.

You may be interested in some of the details of our crusade. In nearly all of the stores and hotels we were allowed to leave seals to be sold. The manager of the skating rink put seals on all the tickets they issued for two days, the manager of the Grand Theatre helped advertise our work by throwing pictures of the seal on his screens between acts and he used stamps on his tickets for several nights. In the Reporter printing office seals were used as premiums; the different church societies allowed us to have a table and to sell what we could. The children in the schools, parochial and public, worked nobly. In the high school, we gave a dinner and charged red cross seals instead of the customary 15 or 25 cents; a candy sale was conducted on the same plan; a number of basket ball games were played between the different classes of the faculty and red cross seals were collected at the door instead of money.

The Methodist Ladies' Missionary Society sent us a check for two dollars. The Woman's Club sent us a check, a like amount and the Eastern Star sent a check for ten dollars. As a result of these activities and donations we were able to send to the Anti Tuberculosis Association a check for $200.24. In acknowledging this receipt, Mr. Werle, campaign manager for the state said "Remember that this is your Association and that it stands ready to be of assistance to you wherever possible, and we should like very much to take a hand in fighting local conditions."

This is the work that we want done now,—a start has been made, $200.24 went from Grand Rapids last year to the Association whose purpose is to arouse, inspire and foster individual and collective resistance to the disease. Why not take advantage of the offers made us, why not get what belongs to us, that will help us to improve health conditions here?

I have asked Miss Gendey the field secretary of this movement to send a speaker here for the June Civic meeting. This we hope will be the beginning of a health movement started by the sale of the red cross seals.

Closing Banquet of Beacon Lights

Contributed

The festivities at the M. H. Jackson home on Oak Street Monday evening marked the termination of the year's work of the Beacon Lights Club. An elaborate six o'clock dinner was served to which the gentlemen were invited.

The tables were prettily decorated in green and pink. The place cards were souvenirs brought from noted places abroad and the favors were little Maybaskets filled with arbutus. Mrs. M. H. Jackson acted as toastmistress and called attention to this being the closing meeting of a most successful year's work and called upon the retiring President, Mrs. L. Reichel to respond to the toast: "Our Beacon Lights." Mrs. Reichel spoke in her usual graceful manner of the work accomplished in the five year's history of the Club.

Mrs. E. J. Clark responding to "Our Officers and New" gave a fitting tribute to the officers of the year and gave some witty advice to the newly elected ones.

As all the gentlemen were anxious for the privilege of toasting "Our Ladies" Mr. E. L. Hayward was especially honored in being called upon to respond.

Prof. C. W. Schwede as head of one of our best institutions in Grand Rapids was quite equal to the subject "Our City." He spoke of the changes that had taken place since many of the members of the Club had resided here and altho he did not give the Club all the credit he expressed the thought that the members of this Club had been among those citizens who had done their share toward the bettering of the city.

In proposing the toast "Our Good Old State" the toastmistress spoke of the work of the year which had consisted of a thorough study of Wisconsin, its history, geography and progress along all lines; and called upon Mrs. J. J. Looze who, as always, was fully equal to the occasion.

Introductory Band Concert.

Under the direction of the new leader Mr. Jos. Merrill, the Band will give a very fine concert next Tuesday evening at Day's Theater, May 2nd.

This concert is given to introduce Mr. Merrill to the lovers of music in Grand Rapids and give them an opportunity to hear him in role of soloist on both the violin and cornet.

The Band is very desirous of retaining Mr. Merrill here and to do this we must get him scholars on violin in addition to his other work.

The concert will have for special feature Mr. Merrill's solos and a duet of clarinets by Messrs. Bandelin and Morse.

A very choice selection of numbers by the Band.

A New Auto Garage.

Jas. C. Jensen of Chicago has rented the building back of the Tribune office from Harvey Gee and intends to open an automobile repair shop therein the first of May. Mr. Jensen is the son of Wm. Jensen of the town of Rock and has been working at the business for some time past. He has leased the building for one year.

Dance at Rudolph.

Nic Maroon will give a social dance at his hall in Rudolph on Monday, evening, May 1st. Maeder's famous orchestra of Appleton will furnish the music. Refreshments, including ice cream and cake will be served during the evening.

Take Notice.

Johnson & Hill Co. will have another car of fancy oats on track this week. If you are in need of oats you can get no better either for feed or seedling. Grocery Dept. Prices will be cheap.

For Sale or Exchange.

—Automobile, Model 16 Buick, new. Will accept city property or land. Address 117, Grand Rapids, Wis.

J. E. Jeannin, traveling representative of the Minneapolis Tribune, is spending a few days in the city in the interests of his paper.

George Ward returned today from Marshfield where he had been spending a week looking after the work on the new asylum. Mr. Ward reports that the place will be ready for occupancy by the first of July if everything goes right.

WILL WAIT FOR THE CITY TO MOVE.

In an interview with Joseph O'Leary recently, when asked what he intended to do with the building which the city council would neither allow him to leave where it now stands, nor move back to the position where it formerly stood, he stated that it was not his intention to do anything.

He said that there were others who had violated the ordinance concerning wooden buildings within the fire limits, and that if they were compelled to tear down their buildings, he would do the same without any cost or trouble to the city.

West Side the Largest.

One of the things that has worried some of the people of Grand Rapids since the census was taken, was to know which part of the city contains the most people. According to the census figures, the west side is the largest, having a majority of 129. The population by wards is as follows:

First ward..... 649
Second ward..... 674
Third ward..... 671
Fourth ward..... 912

..... 3196

Fifth ward..... 1,056

Sixth ward..... 839

Seventh ward..... 728

Eighth ward..... 677

..... 3925

The population of the county is given at 39,583, as against 28,865 in 1900 and 18,127 in 1900.

The population of Marshfield is given at 6,783, and Nekosha is third in the list with a population of 1,570. Pittsville is given at 450.

Transfer is Made.

The deed for that portion of the river bank owned by Saul Preston was received last week by the Advancement Association and the money has been paid over and the transfer made. It is the intention of the Association to sell the building on the property and clear it off as soon as possible.

The building will be sold to the highest bidder next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The removal of this building will clear off the entire west river bank as mapped out by the Association and will make a vast improvement in the appearance of things there.

Spohn-Mahoney.

The marriage of Charlotte Mahoney of this city to Charles Spohn, Jr., of the town of Saratoga took place quietly at the Scandinavian Norwegian parsonage on Thursday morning, April 20, 1911. Rev. J. B. Johnson performed the ceremony. The bride couple were attended by Miss Gessie Mahoney, sister of the bride and August Spohn, brother of the groom. The young couple will immediately go to farming on the land owned by the groom in the town of Saratoga. They take with them the good wishes of their numerous friends.

Building Sidetracks.

The Grand Rapids Street Railway Company will build two sidetracks on their line during the present summer. One will be at the pavilion, which will be built first, and after this is finished one will be put in at the baseball grounds. This will enable them to handle the business at these places in a much more efficient manner than they did last season.

Notice.

I have moved my saloon business from Second Ave. South to the Pomerville building where I formed a partnership with Joe Garfield. I invite all my friends and old customers to call on me at my new stand. Respectfully yours,
Lorenz Shadkowski.

This Week's Attractions at Daly's Theatre.

ELIMINATING SPACE.

Of devices for the elimination of space there is no end. There can be none, until the people stop progressing. Occasionally a project is proposed of more than usual daring. This particular prize for which the commercial world is now striving is the trade of South America, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. North America and Europe each want the bulk of it. The natural advantage which this continent possesses has so far been more than balanced by European aggressiveness. And now Europe proposes to cut in two the distance that separates her from the object of her commercial longing. It is figured that five days are long enough to transport European goods to South American consumers. To establish such a schedule involves engineering and financial difficulties which may, of course, finally prove its impossibility. If reliable parties the "Hercules-Afro-American" railway is proposed, first, to cross Spain to Gibraltar, where ferry boats will transport trains to the African coast; thence run to Bathurst, the nearest port to South America. From Bathurst to Pernambuco, Brazil, is but a three-day run for fast steamers. The cost of carrying out this project, during as it seems, would be but a mere fraction of what the United States alone is paying for the Panama canal. And a half dozen European nations would be benefited by it. It seems by no means impossible.

An unusually peculiar damage suit has just been decided in New York by which the widow of a fire chief has been awarded $25,000 for the loss of his life in a furniture establishment fire. The chief fell through an open well hole in the building into a cellar half filled with water and was drowned before he could be rescued. The open well hole was in violation of a city ordinance. This suit, with its large damages, will help to emphasize the highly important fact that such ordinances are intended to prevent just such accidents, and that disregard of them leads to criminal and civil liability when a life is lost. There are many ordinances of the kind held lightly in regard until a fatal accident shocks the authorities into enforcement.

Since it has been decided to establish municipal baths for the million at Coney Island, and other ever more ambitious plans for its improvement have been formulated. These include a continuous walk and drive along the entire five miles of its water front, and a new bulkhead line, which has been authorized by government engineers. A contract has been let for a rip-rap wall, forty feet thick at its base and twenty feet at the top, surmounted by a concrete walk. This will protect the island from those periodic invasions by the Atlantic which have frequently been quite destructive. All of which is expected to attract a higher average of patronage than the resort has hitherto enjoyed.

The barbers of Annapolis have appealed to the secretary of the navy to compel the musicians in the Academy band who have opened barber shops "on the side" to abandon competition with local tonorial artists. From the consumer's point of view there may be poor expectation of getting a velvet shave from the hand that hammers the bass drum, although this is offset by the prospect of an expert massage from the nimble-fingered flutist. Possibly the barbers, per se, may force the issue by carrying the war into Africa, form a band of their own and serenade the commandant at unwanted tours.

Alfred Giraudet, professor of operatic expression at the Paris Conservatoire, says that he knows there must be good voices somewhere in the United States, but that three-quarters of the Americans who apply for instruction in singing are terribly handicapped by never having studied piano-playing. If the gifted Frenchman's statement increases the number of young Americans who take lessons on the piano, he will incur the resentment of folks who live next door.

A certain minister of the Gospel hailing from New Zealand advocates a plan to tattoo the chins of married women to distinguish them from their unmarried sisters. If a mark were tattooed for every marriage, some of our society queens would resemble picture galleries.

A 25-cent piece was recently taken from the foot of an elephant in the New York Zoo, where it had been securely hidden till the creature's discomfort over its ill-gotten wealth became apparent. The animals must be catching graft from the humans.

Books on poultry raising are said to be among those most frequently called for in the New York Public Library. The people who expect to get rich on chicken farms are not so located in this vicinity.

The department of agriculture has invented a cheap horse food consisting of coconut and peanut meals. It would be more in keeping with the times to invent a cheap substitute for gasoline.

"The husband should cook, sew and wash dishes," says Dr. Haywood. "It is elevating." Too true! The average husband would go up in the air at the mere suggestion of such a task.

No one has ever yet written a love letter that sounded sensible when read in a courtroom.

PEACE IS IN SIGHT

MEXICANS WILL END WAR TO AVERT UNITED STATES INTERVENTION.

Government's Reply to Taft is an Apology for Battle on Border—Rebels Evacuate Agua Prieta and Federal March into Town.

Mexico City.—Peace is in sight. A proposition for an armistice, pending negotiations for a settlement of Mexico's internal troubles, was received by the department of foreign relations from Washington, presumably from Dr. Vasquez Gomez.

"The armistice is asked for to avoid 'international complications' and is evidently caused by apprehension that the United States would take a hand in the dispute.

"The government has sent a reply to the request that it will be glad to receive and consider a formal proposal for a cessation of hostilities.

"The suggestion from the Maderistas included a desire for arrangements for purporting for peace. It can be stated on the highest authority that the Mexican government will meet the Maderistas half way, that no difficulties will be encountered as to amnesty or as to the honest carrying out of the reform program, and that if the Maderistas are in the slightest degree reasonable peace is assured in a few days' time.

The minister for foreign affairs, Francisco L. de la Barra, stated that the Mexican government in its reply to the note of the American government which had occurred during the first battle of Agua Prieta had expressed its regret for the same and had offered to repeat the orders already given to its soldiers to avoid shooting in the direction of the American frontier, although it pointed out that the shots which had caused the fatalities in question were fired, according to official information corroborated by the press, by the American filibusters who form the majority of the so-called Lopez company of rebels.

Further, Mr. de la Barra expressed his conviction that these incidents will not affect the friendly relations between the two nations in the slightest, as their respective governments are animated by the most sincere sense of justice.

Agua Prieta, Mexico.—The rebel army, following almost 15 hours of incessant fighting in defense of Agua Prieta, quietly evacuated the town during the night. It moved out silently and when day broke was nowhere to be seen. The Mexican national troops entered the city at dawn, encountering no resistance.

The reason for the evacuation of the city after three full days of defense of it was not at first apparent. The most logical conclusion seemed to be that they had exhausted their ammunition.

Later developments showed the rebel army to be disrupted. Its leaders gave up the fight and the men in the ranks appear to have fled in directions of their own individual choosing.

The victorious federal force, which occupied the town, numbered about 1,200 men. Lieut. Col. Reynaldo Diaz was in supreme command. Under him were Major Luis Medina Barrios of the rurales and Commandant Francisco Chila, formerly prefect of the town of Moctezuma.

The government losses may never be known. The federalists declined the assistance of the Red Cross, stating that the army would care for its own wounded. During the fighting the federalists removed their dead and wounded to the rear. It is understood that those killed were buried on the field. None was brought into the building at Agua Prieta.

EDWARD A. MOSELEY EXPIRES

Secretary of Interstate Commerce Commission Dies of Heart Disease, Aged 65 Years.

Washington.—Edward A. Moseley, secretary of the interstate commerce commission and originator of much labor legislation, died here, after a long illness. He was sixty-five years old.

The immediate cause of death was heart trouble, superinduced by acute kidney disease.

As an intimate friend and personal adviser of presidents, cabinet officers, representatives, senators and other public officials during the last quarter of a century, Mr. Moseley accomplished notable results, especially along humanitarian and philanthropic lines.

Roommate of Lincoln is Dead. Bloomington, Ill.—Henry Brown, ninety-two years old, a roommate of Abraham Lincoln, when the latter was practicing law here, died on his farm near here. He had many letters written to him by Lincoln.

Seek to Impach Warden. Lansing, Mich.—By a vote of 77 to 10, the house of representatives adopted a resolution presented by Representative Straight calling for the impeachment of Warden James Russell of Marquette prison.

Von Witte's Health Failing. St. Petersburg.—Count von Witte's health is seriously impaired. His throat has caused him anxiety for some years and the trouble has now spread to the ears, causing severe pain.

HETTY GREEN BANKER

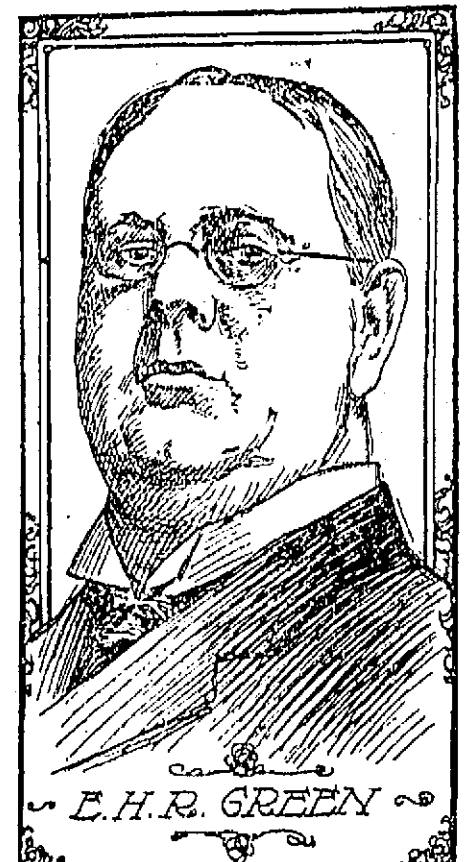

WILL ESTABLISH CHAIN OF PRIVATE INSTITUTIONS.

Places Management in Hands of Son—Young Man Says His Mother Has Been Grossly Misrepresented.

New York.—Mrs. Hetty Green and her son, Col. E. H. R. Green, have decided to consolidate her interests in a private bank with a chain of branches reaching from coast to coast.

"In New York," said Colonel Green, "our firm will be named E. H. R. Green & Co. Branches will be opened in Boston, Chicago, Dallas and San Francisco. We have decided that our interests can best be served from a private bank here in New York. Since the laws of the various states do not give us the right to hold real estate in the name of a corporation or trust company common to all, we have had to organize like other private bankers of this city whose interests extend elsewhere."

Colonel Green pictures his mother as grossly misrepresented in the past. Although she conducts her business on careful and conservative lines, he says

who has made it an invariable rule to reinvest her profits in the territory from which they were drawn, for the upbuilding of that territory.

"Her argument has been," he explains, "that every community is entitled to the benefit of its own prosperity."

"Since my mother began her business career she has never asked more than 6 per cent. for her money. The bulk of her loans have been made at considerably lower rates. Because of this attitude and her widely known liberality to her customers in panic times my mother has been able to skim the cream of the borrowers."

"Another point that adds to my pride in her business name is her intense loyalty to her country. She would not invest in a foreign enterprise if it guaranteed a certain profit of 600 per cent. in thirty days.

"Modern financiers look upon her as behind the times and some have volunteered to bring me up to date; but if I am one-half so fortunate in my opinions and judgments as she has been I shall be doing better than my financier I have met."

U. S. ARMY OFFICER SLAIN

Moro, Crazed as Result of Religious Belief, Strikes Down Cavalry Commander in Mindanao.

Manila.—Lieut. Walter H. Rodney of the Second United States Cavalry stationed in the department of Mindanao, was murdered by a Moro who ran amok.

The assassin belongs to the Mohammedan sect of Jaramatistas, who have taken an inviolable oath to shed the blood of the Christian.

The fanatic was armed with a bolo. He encountered Rodney by chance and struck him down before the officer could defend himself.

Lieutenant Rodney was a native of California and thirty-two years of age.

HILL TO QUIT BERLIN POST

Ambassador to Germany Tenders Resignation and It Is Accepted by Taft.

Washington.—One of the greatest surprises of recent years in official circles here was caused by the announcement that David Jayne Hill of Rochester, N. Y., has resigned his place as ambassador of the United States to Germany.

The resignation was accepted promptly by President Taft, but in the formal letters given out there is no intimation of the reasons for Mr. Hill's withdrawal. The cause is a mystery.

Elect B. F. Bush President. New York.—B. F. Bush, president of the Western Maryland Railway company for several years, was elected president of the Missouri Pacific Railway company at a meeting of the board of directors.

Boxer Dies After Bout. Waterbury, Conn.—William Luke of this city, who took part in a boxing exhibition here, is dead. His death was due, it is said, to injuries received in his fight with Joe Clancy, also a local man.

Violinist to Queen is Dead. Berlin.—The Lokal Anzeiger announces the death of Lady Halle (Mme. Norman Neruda), the noted violinist, from pneumonia. Lady Halle was born at Brunn, Austria, in 1840. She was appointed violinist to Queen Alexandra in 1901.

Six Hurt in Cleveland Explosion. Cleveland, O.—Six persons were injured, one probably fatally, when a 50-pound ammonia tank exploded in the basement of May's drug store on the public square.

Federal Official is Dead. Alton, Ill.—George S. Terry, assistant United States treasurer, died at Alton, Ill., of a heart attack here. He had been suffering for a week from an attack of diabetes. The body was sent to New York.

Denman Thompson, Actor, Dead. West Swazey, N. H.—Denman Thompson, the actor who made "The Old Homestead" famous, died at his country estate here. Mr. Thompson had been ill with heart disease and pneumonia since last month.

OPEN BIG CATHEDRAL

CEREMONY MOST IMPRESSIVE

Many Distinguished Clergymen and Laymen Are Present—Two Beautiful Chapels That Are Completed Also Dedicated—Mrs. Taft Present.

New York.—The Cathedral of St. John the Divine, the largest church edifice in the western hemisphere, was formally opened here in the presence of distinguished clergymen from both the United States and Europe together with prominent persons from the various walks of life.

Though the great structure on Morringdale Heights may not be fully completed for 75 years to come, the completion of the "crossing" has given between the colossal granite arches of the tower a space where 5,000 people may congregate. It is this part, the choir and the two finished chapels, that was consecrated.

The largest and most distinguished procession ever assembled in an Episcopal church in this country was the occasion of the opening service. Among those who participated in the ceremonies were 26 bishops, 400 other clergymen and the delegates to the diocesan convention. Among prominent laymen who attended the exercises were Mrs. William H. Taft, and Governor and Mrs. Dix. President Taft could not arrange to be present.

Among the bishops who took part in the ceremonies were: Warrel of Nova Scotia, Olmsted of central New York, Hillsaps of Kansas, Vincent of southern Ohio, Lyons of Newark, Burgess of Long Island, Harding of Washington, Mackay-Smith of Philadelphia, Gratton and Coadjutor Bishop Weller of Fond du Lac, Wis.; Talbot of Bethlehem, Pa.; Whitehead of Pittsburgh, Brewster of Connecticut, Kinsman of Delaware, Lawrence of Massachusetts, Knight of Cuba, Sweeney of Toronto and Morris W. Libert, head of the Moravian church in this country.

The formal opening service was at 10:30 o'clock for which special cards of admission had been distributed. The bishops and other clergy, lay trustees, convention delegates, visiting clergy of other bodies and representatives of educational and similar institutions made up the procession, which marched from Synod hall into the eastern door of the cathedral, at the eastern end of the choir.

The procession entered the choir and the hymn "Christ is Made the Sure Foundation," and other hymns were sung. The choir, which is the middle one, was given by St. Saviour's chapel, and the organ given by Mrs. Edward Kling, immediately adjoining and known as the Chapel of St. Columba. The other five chapels are not yet finished.

The cost of the cathedral to date has been between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000. Some money has been set aside for endowment, and there is no doubt it is expected that the completed structure will cost a total of $15,000,000.

Much of the structure thrown open for use is temporary. Parts consecrated are the permanent ones only. These are the choir, although that is not yet wholly complete, for much of the interior marble lining is not in. Two of the chapels have been permitted, which is the middle one, and the organ given by St. Saviour's chapel, and the organ given by Mrs. Edward Kling, immediately adjoining and known as the Chapel of St. Columba. The other five chapels are not yet finished.

Fire Chief Croker Quits. New York.—Edward F. Croker, chief of the New York city fire department, tendered his resignation to take effect on May 1. Deputy Chief John Kenyon was at once designated by Fire Commissioner Waldo to be acting chief of the department.

Russian Painter Hanged Himself. St. Petersburg.—Al. Kryzelsky, the landscape painter and member of the Russian academy, committed suicide in a fit of despondency. The artist hanged himself in his home.

Notes Train Robber Paroled. Sacramento, Cal.—Chris Evans, the train robber of Evans and Sonntag notoriety, was paroled from Folsom prison. He had been an inmate for 17 years. When the news was told Evans he collapsed.

Dynamite Injures Section Men. Villa Grove, Ill.—Dynamite placed under the boarding cars of Italian section men, employed in the Frisco yards wrecked the cars and injured several men. Labor trouble is supposed to have been the cause.

Steals for the Ministry. Middletown, Del.—Horse stealing to get money to study for the ministry is the newest thing in Delaware crime. Ralph D. Anderson of Lincoln City was arrested after offering to sell a valuable horse and wagon for $65.

French Canal Workers Riot. Marseilles.—Workmen engaged in digging a Rhone canal, who were on strike a few days ago, clashed with the police. During the melee one policeman and seven workmen were wounded.

MEASURE TO LOWER EXPRESS CHARGES

EXPECT TO SAVE $1,000 A DAY

Passage of Bill Will Affect Every Patron of Companies in the State—Penalty Involves Fine of $100 to $1,000.

Madison.—The lowering of express rates within Wisconsin 25 per cent., with an expected saving thereby of $1,000 a day to Wisconsin patrons, is provided in a bill introduced by Assemblyman W. E. Hurlbut of Winnebago county.

Nearly all monopolies have in some form or other been dealt with by the legislature or railroad commission in the past, but the express companies so far have escaped such action although remedial legislation is pending with the railroad commission. The bill seeks immediate relief from alleged excessive charges, calling for the enforcement of the reduced rates on August 1 next.

Based on the earnings of the companies in Wisconsin business in the past year, Assemblyman Hurlbut figures a saving to the people by his bill of over $1,000 a day, or a quarter of a million dollars a year. Every patron of the express companies in the state will be affected by the passage of this bill. The penalty involves a fine of from $100 to $1,000 for each offense.

After several weeks of investigation, the election committee of the assembly is about ready to reintroduce its substitute for the various corrupt practices bills offered early in the session, and the measure probably will go on the calendar for some day next week.

The bill as finally drafted represents not only the combined efforts of the members of the elections committee, but the suggestions of all of the leading members of the house and senate, several state officers and the recommendations of students of the subject all over the United States.

"I feel that this bill is the result of the most thorough investigation that has ever been given any subject in the same amount of time by a legislative committee," said Chairman Thomas A. Reynolds. "We found the report of the senatorial investigating committee most valuable in getting at actual conditions as they have obtained in the past, and our own experiences as well as those of other members and state officers served us well in our work. We have taken what we deemed proper from both the Clark and Kay bills introduced in the assembly, and many of the provisions of both these measures will be found intact in this substitute."

A joint resolution emanating from the senate judiciary committee, for final adjournment of the legislature on May 5, has served its evident purpose—to awaken the members to the necessity of moving faster. More than half of the bills introduced remain in committee, and this would not occasion any excitement if all were unimportant. The fact that many of the minor measures usually saved for killing toward the close of a session have come out, and usually to their death, has become painfully evident.

The senate has now done little work for two weeks, one of which was virtually a vacation with not more than three members here at any one time. This the senate could afford to do as long as the assembly insists upon occupying the hours in debate and upon reconsidering a large proportion of its action on bills, and reversing itself in half these cases, besides continually referring measures that the house is unwilling to pass on until committees have had another crack at them. However, in the last few days the assembly has shown disposition to quit its profligate and devote itself to more serious business, and affairs will move with more dispatch in the coming week.

The most important measure coming up this week is the workmen's compensation bill, which will be reported out for passage together with one of the four amendments offered in the assembly. This amendment is designed to preserve the law from entire destruction in the courts in case the clause abolishing the fellow servant and assumption of risk doctrine in cases of employees of more than four persons is declared unconstitutional. This discrimination in favor of employers of less than four persons, which was inserted to placate farmer opposition to the bill is believed to be the only feature that might be dangerous in the event of a court contest, although opinions of lawyers differ widely on this point.

The most important measure coming up this week is the workmen's compensation bill, which will be reported out for passage together with one of the four amendments offered in the assembly. This amendment is designed to preserve the law from entire destruction in the courts in case the clause abolishing the fellow servant and assumption of risk doctrine in cases of employees of more than four persons is declared unconstitutional. This discrimination in favor of employers of less than four persons, which was inserted to placate farmer opposition to the bill is believed to be the only feature that might be dangerous in the event of a court contest, although opinions of lawyers differ widely on this point.

CORN SYRUP BILL

LOST IN ASSEMBLY

MEASURE TO AUTHORIZE SALE WITHOUT "GLUCOSE" LABEL BRINGS HOT DEBATE.

CHARGE PRESS SUBSIDIZED

Opponents Declare Bill Was Backed by Standard Oil and That "Highest Priced Lobby Ever at Madison" Was Maintained.

Madison.—Following a long debate in which it was charged that the press of the state had been subsidized, that the Standard Oil company was behind the bill and that the "highest paid lobby ever behind a bill" had been present at Madison, the assembly killed the bill authorizing the sale of corn syrup without the label of "glucose."

When an attempt was made to have action deferred so that a public hearing could be held, a cry of "vote" was heard from all parts of the house. The assembly suspended the rules and a call of the house was ordered. This was raised 77 to 18 after a motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill was killed had been voted down.

Assemblyman Perry, who introduced the bill, declared when the bill was brought up, the sole question was whether or not the product was injurious. Whether the Standard Oil company was or was not behind the bill was immaterial, he declared, as the members should consider the measure only from the standpoint of public health.

Assemblymen Gettle, Long, Harper and Schwabach spoke against the bill. Gettle charged that the state press had been subsidized by a New York concern, while Long declared that foods should not be permitted to masquerade under a false label.

Both Assemblymen Gettle and Long charged that the highest priced lobby ever before the legislature appeared for this bill, while Schwabach rounded out the opposition by the assertion that every honest merchant was against the measure.

"MARY ANN" BILL IS PASSED

Administration Measure Providing for Second Choice, Primaries Goes Through the Assembly.

Madison.—The "Mary Ann" bill, providing for first and second choice in the primary, was passed by an assembly by a vote of 48 to 37. Assemblyman Long was the only democrat to support the measure. The bill practically wipes out the so-called 20 per cent law and substitutes a new one, but that provision did not meet with the approval of the democrats. Assemblyman Biehler offered an amendment to reduce the 10 per cent to 3 per cent, but the amendment was voted down, 44 to 41.

The bill as passed is in conformity with an administration platform pledge.

SCHOOL AT SPARTA RAPPED

Report of Probe Committee Recommends Change in Management at That Institution.

Madison.—Gov. McGovern has sent into both houses of the legislature the report of the legislative committee appointed to visit the charitable and penal institutions of the state. The report states the committee found the institutions in a satisfactory state with few exceptions. The only institution which came in for sharp criticism was the state school at Sparta. Relative to this institution the report says:

"We do not feel that the institution is satisfactory and we doubt greatly if it is possible to bring it up to a proper standard with the present management."

S'ream Not Worth Improvement. Washington, D. C.—After an examination of the Waupaca river from its mouth to Weyauwega, Wis., Gen. Bixby, chief of engineers, has reported to congress that the stream is not worthy of the improvements called for in the rivers and harbors act of June 25, 1910.

Motorman Held Not Guilty. Sheboygan.—George Thieme was found not guilty of manslaughter by a jury that was out fifteen hours. The charge against Thieme was brought when his car ran into the open draw in this city, killing three women.

Economy for Fond du Lac. Fond du Lac.—Mayor Frank J. Wolff has informed the common council that the policy of the first year of his administration would be one of retrenchment in view of the city's financial condition.

Plan a Concrete Road. Menasha.—Appleton and Menasha business men are considering the construction of concrete road between the two cities. Work may start within a month.

Celebration Ends Fatal. Merrill.—Following a row in a saloon south of here, in which Otto Grunnewald was killed, Herman Weber, a farmer, was arrested and charged with the crime. Grunnewald was celebrating his twenty-third birthday at a dance.

Pioneer Stamp Maker Dead. Milwaukee.—Andrew Schwaab, a pioneer in the manufacture of rubber stamps in America, died at his home here after a long illness.

Collar Button May Cause Death. Racine.—Dr. Gustave Bjornman is in a critical condition from gangrene in his right foot, which developed from a bruise caused by his stepping on a collar button. Three operations have failed to check the disease.

Will Build New "Frat" House. Madison.—The Chi Omega sorority of the state university has purchased a plot of land costing $7,000 and will erect a three-story concrete fraternity house thereon.

GRAND RAPIDS TRIBUNE

GRAND RAPIDS, WIS.
ELIMINATING SPACE.

Of course for the elimination of space there is no end. There can be none, until the people stop progressing. Occasionally a project is proposed of more than usual. The particular one for which the committee is now striving is the trade of South America, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. North America and Europe each want the bulk of it. The natural advantage which the continent possesses has so far been more than balanced by European aggressiveness. And now Europe proposes to cut in two the time distance that separates her from the object of her commercial longing. It is figured that five days are long enough to transport European goods to South American consumers. To establish such a schedule involves engineering and financial difficulties which may, of course, finally prove its impossibility. By reliable parties the "Inter-American railway" has been proposed, first, to cross Spain to Gibraltar, where ferry boats will transport traffic to the African coast; thence run to Bathurst, the nearest point to South America. From Bathurst to Pernambuco, Brazil, is but a three-day run for fast steamers. The cost of carrying out this project, during as it seems, would be but a mere fraction of what the United States alone is paying for the Panama canal. And a half dozen European nations would be benefited by it. It seems by no means impossible.

An unusually peculiar damage suit has just been decided in New York by which the widow of a fire chief has been awarded $22,000 for the loss of his life in a furniture establishment fire. The chief fell through an open well hole in the building into a cellar full of water and was drowned before he could be rescued. The open well hole was in violation of a city ordinance. This suit, with its large damages, will help to emphasize the highly important fact that such ordinances are intended to prevent just such accidents, and that disregard of them leads to criminal and civil liability when a life is lost. There are many ordinances of the kind held lightly in regard until a fatal accident shocks the authorities into enforcement.

Since it has been decided to establish municipal baths for the million at Coney Island, other and ever more ambitious plans for its improvement have been formulated. These include a continuous walk and drive along the entire five miles of the city front, and a new bulkhead line, which has been authorized by government engineers. A contract has been let for a rip-rap walk, forty feet thick at its base and twenty feet at the top, surmounted by a concrete wall. This will protect the island from those periodic invasions by the Atlantic which have frequently been quite destructive. All of which is expected to attract a higher average of patronage than the resort has hitherto enjoyed.

The members of Annapolis have appealed to the secretary of the navy to compel the musicians in the Academy band who have opened burlesque "on the side" to abandon competition with local consular artists. From the consular point of view there may be poor expectation of getting a velvet shawl from the hand that hammers the bass drum, although this is offset by the prospect of an expert massage from the nimble-fingered fiddler. Possibly the banders, per se, may force the issue by carrying the war into Africa, form a band of their own and serenade the commandant at unwanted tours.

Alfred Graudel, professor of operative expression at the Paris Conservatoire, says that he knows there must be good voices somewhere in the United States, but that three-quarters of the Americans who apply for instruction in singing are terribly handicapped by never having studied piano-playing. If the gifted Frenchman's statement furthers the number of young Americans who take lessons on the piano, he will incur the resentment of folks who live next door.

A certain minister of the Gospel hailing from New Zealand advocated a plan to tattoo the chests of married women to distinguish them from their unmarried sisters. If a mark were tattooed for every marriage, some of our society women would resemble picture galleries.

A 25-cent piece was recently taken from the foot of an elephant in the New York Zoo, where it had been secreted hidden till the creature's wealth became apparent. The animals must be catching graft from the humans.

Books on poultry raising are said to be among those most frequently called for in the New York Public Library. The people who expect to get rich on chicken farms are not all located in this vicinity.

The department of Agriculture has invented a cheap horse food consisting of coconut and peanut meals. It would be more in keeping with the times to invent a cheap substitute for gasoline.

"The husband should cook, sow and wash dishes," says Dr. Haywood. "It is elevating." Too true! The average husband would go up in the air at the mere suggestion of such a task.

No one has ever yet written a love letter that sounded sensible when read in a courtroom.

PEACE IS IN SIGHT

MEXICANS WILL END WAR TO AVERT UNITED STATES INTERVENTION.

Government's Reply to Taft is an Apology for Battle on Border—Rebels Evacuate Agua Prieta and Federalists March into Town.

Mexico City, June 15.—Peace is in sight. A proposition for an armistice, pending negotiations for a settlement of Mexico's internal troubles, was received by the department of foreign relations from Washington, presumably from Dr. Viesques Gomez.

The armistice is asked for to avoid "international complications" and is evidently caused by apprehension that the United States would take a hand in the civil war.

The government has sent a reply to the request that it will be glad to receive and consider a formal proposal for a cessation of hostilities.

The suggestion from the Mexicans included a desire for arrangements for permanent peace.

It can be stated on the highest authority that the Mexicans fully half way, that no difficulties will be encountered as to amnesty or as to the honest carrying out of the reform program, and that the Mexicans which had occurred during the first battle of Agua Prieta had expressed its regret for the same and had offered to repeat the battle.

In its reply the Mexican government declared its surprise at the proposal which had been made.

Further, Mr. Diaz has expressed his conviction that these incidents will not result in any further war between the two nations in the slightest, as their respective governments are animated by the most sincere sense of justice.

Agua Prieta, Mexico.—The rebel army, following almost 18 hours of incessant shelling, evacuated the town during the night. It moved out silently and when day broke was nowhere to be seen. The Mexican national troops entered the city at dawn, encountering no resistance.

The reason for the evacuation of the city after their all day defense of it was not at first apparent. The most logical conclusion seemed to be that they had exhausted their ammunition.

Later developments showed the rebel army as the elements as the leaders gave up the fight and the men in the ranks appear to have fled in directions of their own individual choosing.

The victorious federal forces, which occupied the town, numbered about 1,200 men. Lieut. Col. Reynaldo Diaz was in supreme command. Under him were Major Luis Medina Barron of the rurales and Commandant Francisco Chila, formerly prefect of the state of Mexico.

The government losses may never be known. The rebels declined the assistance of the Red Cross, stating that the army would care for its own wounded. During the fighting the federals removed their dead and wounded to the rear. It is understood that those killed were buried on the field. None was brought into the bull ring at Agua Prieta.

EDWARD A. MOSELEY EXPIRES

Secretary of Interstate Commerce Commission Dies of Heart Disease, Aged 55 Years.

Washington.—Edward A. Moseley, secretary of the Interstate Commerce Commission and originator of much labor legislation, died here, after a long illness. He was sixty-five years old.

The immediate cause of death was heart trouble, superinduced by acute kidney disease.

As an intimate friend and personal adviser of presidents, cabinet officers, representatives, senators and other public officials during the last quarter of a century Mr. Moseley accomplished notable results, especially along humanitarian and philanthropic lines.

Roommate of Lincoln is Dead.

Bloomington, Ill.—Henry Brown, ninety-two years old, a roommate of Abraham Lincoln, when the latter was passing law here, died on his farm near here. He had many letters written to him by Lincoln.

Seek to Impenish Warden.

Lansing, Mich.—By a vote of 77 to 19, the house of representatives adopted a resolution to impeach Representative Straight calling for the impeachment of Warden James Russell of Marquette prison.

Two Killed in Auto Mishap.

Cleveland, O.—W. B. Gorton, secretary and general manager of the Standard Oil Company, and his chauffeur, Morris Lee, were instantly killed when a Liko Shore train struck Gorton's automobile at West Seventy-sixth street.

Bryan Refuses to Meet Bailey.

Port Worth, Tex.—William Jennings Bryan refused to meet Bailey in any shape, with Senator Bailey on the tariff. Bailey supporters had strongly urged the debate.

Are Indicted for Lynching.

Hop Springs, Ark.—Ben Murray and John Rutherford, former deputy sheriffs, charged with abetting in the lynching of Oscar Chitwood at the county prison December 26 last, were indicted, charged with murder.

Von Wittels Health Failing.

St. Petersburg.—Count von Wittels' health is seriously impaired. His throat has caused him anxiety for some years and the trouble has now spread to the ears, causing severe head pains.

HETTY GREEN BANKER

WILL ESTABLISH CHAIN OF PRIVATE INSTITUTIONS.

Places Management in Hands of Son—Young Man Says His Mother Has Been Grossly Misrepresented.

New York.—Mrs. Hetty Green and her son, Col. E. H. B. Green, have decided to consolidate her interests in a private bank with a chain of branches reaching from coast to coast.

"In New York," said Colonel Green, "our firm will be named E. H. B. Green & Co. Branches will be opened in Boston, Chicago, Dallas and San Francisco. We have decided that our interests can best be served from a private bank here in New York. Hence the laws of the various states do not give us the right to hold real estate in the name of a corporation or trust company common to all, we have had to organize like other private bankers of this city whose interests extend everywhere."

Colonel Green pictures his mother as grossly misrepresented in the past. Although she conducted her business on careful and conservative lines, he says.

E. H. B. GREEN

who has made it an invariable rule to reinvest her profits in the territory from which they were drawn, for the upbuilding of that territory.

"Her argument has been," he explains, "that every community is entitled to the benefit of its own property."

"Since my mother began her business career she has never asked more than 6 per cent for her money. The bulk of her loans have been made at considerably lower rates. Because of this attitude and her policy of lending liberally to her customers in remote times my mother has been able to skin the cream of the borrowers."

"Another point that adds to my pride in her business name is her intense loyalty to her country. She would not invest in a foreign enterprise if it guaranteed a certain profit of 500 per cent in thirty days."

"Modern financiers look upon her as behind the times and some have volunteered to bring me up to date; but I am one-half so fortunate in my opinions and judgments as she has been and I shall be doing better than any financier I have met."

U. S. ARMY OFFICER SLAIN

Moro, Crazed as Result of Religious Belief, Strikes Down Cavalry Commander in Mindanao.

Manila.—Lieut. Walter H. Rodney of the Second United States Cavalry stationed in the department of Mindanao, was murdered by a Moro who ran amok.

The assassin belongs to the Mohammedan sect of Jaramatados, who have taken an inviolable oath to shed the blood of the Christian.

The homicide was armed with a bolo and encountered Rodney by chance and struck him down before the officer could defend himself.

Lieutenant Rodney was a native of California and thirty-two years of age.

HILL TO QUIT BERLIN POST

Ambassador to Germany Tenders Resignation and it is Accepted by Taft.

Washington.—One of the greatest surprises of recent years in official circles here was caused by the announcement that David Jayne Hill of Rochester, N. Y., has resigned his place as ambassador of the United States to Germany.

The resignation was accepted promptly by President Taft, but in the formal letters given out there is no intimation of the reasons for Mr. Hill's withdrawal. The cause is a mystery.

Elect B. F. Bush President.

New York.—B. F. Bush, president of the Western Maryland Railway company for several years, was elected president of the Missouri Pacific Railway company at a meeting of the board of directors.

Boxer Dies After Bout.

Waterbury, Conn.—William Luke of this city, who took part in a boxing exhibition here, is dead. His death was due, it is said, to injuries received in his fight with Joe Clancy, also a local man.

Violinist to Queen is Dead.

Berlin.—The Lokal Anzeiger announces the death of Lady Halle (Mrs. Norman Neruda), the noted violinist, from pneumonia. Lady Halle was born at Braun, Austria, in 1840. She was appointed violinist to Queen Alexandra in 1901.

Six Hurt in Cleveland Explosion.

Cleveland, O.—Six persons were injured, one probably fatally, when a dynamite bomb exploded in the basement of May's drug store on the public square.

Federal Official is Dead.

CEREMONY MOST IMPRESSIVE

Many Distinguished Clergymen and Laymen Are Present—Two Beautiful Chapels That Are Completed Also Dedicated—Mrs. Taft Present.

New York.—The Cathedral of St. John the Divine, the largest church edifice in the western hemisphere, was formally opened here in the presence of distinguished clergymen from both the United States and Europe together with prominent persons from the various walks of life.

Through the great structure on Morningland Heights may not be fully completed for 75 years to come, the completion of the "crossing" has given between the colossal granite arches of the tower a space where 6,000 people may congregate. It is this part, the choir and the two finished chapels, that was consecrated.

The largest and most distinguished procession ever assembled in an Episcopal church in this country was seen at the opening service. Among those who participated in the ceremonies were Archbishop of Canterbury, the president-general, there began what is expected to be one of the stormiest meetings in the history of the order. Questions of "politics" have resulted in the formation of the society against the ideas, radically different from those of its opponents. Naturally, interest centers chiefly in the election of officers, with Mrs. Scott, the presiding officer, in the strategic point of the conflict.

Mrs. William Cummings Story of New York, defeated candidate for president-general at the last congress, will "carry the fight" to Mrs. Scott and her adherents. She has raised the cry of "oligarchy," and declares that Mrs. Scott is and has been attempting to "rule the society against its constitution."

As part of the campaign of Mrs. Story's friends in her behalf, 100,000 letters have been sent to the members in the various states petitioning their support in the movement to "dethrone the ruler and her clique."

BOYLES ALLOWED TO VISIT

Man and Wife, Convicted of Whittaker Kidnaping, Meet for First Time Since Incarceration.

Pittsburg, Pa.—"Jimmy" Boyle and his wife, Helen, met for the first time since their incarceration in the Western Pennsylvania penitentiary for kidnapping Willie Whittaker of Sharon, Pa., was sentenced to life imprisonment and his wife to 25 years' imprisonment. The couple were permitted to pass half an hour together and hereafter they will be permitted a similar visit once every three months. The woman says she still loves her husband and her desire is to be free so she can work for his freedom. A local attorney is preparing legal action looking to her release.

ROOSEVELT ENDS LONG TOUR

Returns Home After Seven Weeks' Trip Through West—Says He Feels "Bully."

New York.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt arrived home from his seven weeks' tour of the west. As he stepped off a train from Chicago he came into contact with a crowd of outgoing visitors, many of whom greeted him with cheers.

Nearly 200 persons followed the colonel to the carriage door and many grasped his hand just as he jumped into an automobile to be whisked away to Oyster Bay.

Colonel Roosevelt's face was tanned by the western sun, and it said he felt "bully."

Address is Shot Down.

New York.—Vina Ryan, an actress, while leaving the stage door of the Hippodrome was shot down and seriously wounded by an unidentified man who had been lurking near the theater. Her assailant was arrested.

Versailles, France.—Captain Carron of the French army aviation corps fell with his aeroplane from a height of twenty-five feet and was crushed to death.

Deputy Sheriff Dies in Accident.

Springfield, Ill.—Charles Groves of Carlinville, deputy sheriff of Macoupin county, was shot and killed in the house of a neighbor while on duty. He was shot while on duty.

Senate Confirms Fisher.

Washington.—The senate confirmed the appointment of Walter L. Fisher of Chicago as secretary of the Interior. The confirmation was made without opposition.

Nobel Institute's Head in U. S.

New York.—Dr. Svente Arrhenius, president of the famous Nobel Institute of Stockholm, Sweden, is in New York for address at Columbia University. He will be the guest of Dr. Jacques Loeb of the Rockefeller Institute.

Prohibit Whipping in Prisons.

Lansing, Mich.—By a vote of 73 to 8 the house of representatives passed the bill prohibiting corporal punishment in the prisons of the state. The bill now goes to the senate.

D. A. R. FIGHT CLOSE

Campaign for President General Topic at Congress.

Contest Between Mrs. Scott of Illinois and Mrs. Story of New York Promises to Be Lively.

Washington.—Washington is swarming with Daughters of the American Revolution. And they are busier than the proverbial bees. The twenty-fourth annual congress opened here with Daughters from every section of the Union in attendance. Every hotel in the city is practically owned by the fair visitors and hundreds of private homes have been hospitably thrown open for the invaders.

The delegates will be formally received by the president and Mrs. Taft at the White House. The delegates, with other members of the organization and of the Sons of the American Revolution, were given a reception by President-General Mrs. Scott.

When the congress was called to order in Continental Hall, presided over by Mrs. Matthew T. Scott of Illinois, the president-general, there began what is expected to be one of the stormiest meetings in the history of the order. Questions of "politics" have resulted in the formation of the society against the ideas, radically different from those of its opponents. Naturally, interest centers chiefly in the election of officers, with Mrs. Scott, the presiding officer, in the strategic point of the conflict.

EXPECT TO SAVE $1,000 A DAY

Passage of Bill Will Affect Every Patron of Companies in the State—Penalty Involves Fine of $100 to $1,000.

Madison.—The lowering of express rates within Wisconsin 25 per cent, with an expected saving thereby of $1,000 a day to Wisconsin patrons, is provided in a bill introduced by Assemblyman W. E. Hurlbut of Winnebago county.

Nearly all monopolies have in some form or other been dealt with by the legislature or railroad commission in the past, but the express companies so far have escaped such action. Legislation is pending with the railroad commission. The bill seeks immediate relief from alleged excessive charges, calling for the enforcement of the reduced rates on August 1 next.

Incidentally, it develops that there is nothing on the part of the express companies in Wisconsin to make the bill necessary. The bill is introduced by Assemblyman Hurlbut, who is a saving to the people by his bill of over $1,000 a day, or a quarter million dollars a year. Every patron of the express companies in the state will be benefited by the passage of this bill. The penalty involved is a fine of from $100 to $1,000 for each offense.

After several weeks of investigation, the election committee of the assembly is about ready to reintroduce its substitute for the various corrupt practices bills offered early in the session, and the measure probably will go to the calendar for some day next week.

The bill as finally drafted represents not only the combined efforts of the members of the election committee, but the suggestions of all of the leading members of the house of representatives, and state officers and the recommendations of the subject all over the United States.

"I feel that this bill is the result of the most thorough investigation that has ever been given any subject in the same amount of time by a legislative committee," said Chairman Thomas A. Roycroft. "It is the result of the most thorough investigation that has ever been given any subject in the same amount of time by a legislative committee."

A joint resolution emanating from the senate, for final judgment by the legislature on May 5, has served its evident purpose—to awaken the members to the necessity of moving faster. More than half of the bills introduced remain in committee, and this group would not be an exception if all were unimportant. The fact that many of the minor measures usually saved for killing toward the close of a session have come out, and usually to their death, has become painfully evident. The senate has now done little of the work of two weeks, one of which was virtually a waste of time, more than three members here at any one time. This the senate could afford to do as long as the assembly insists upon occupying the hours in debate and upon reconsidering a large portion of the bills on bills, and reverting finally to the same measure, sides continually referring measures to the house unwilling to pass on until committees have had another crack at them. However, in the last few days the assembly has shown a disposition to quit perfunctory and devoted itself to more serious business, and affairs will move with more dispatch in the coming week.

The most important measure coming up this week is the workmen's compensation bill, which will be reported out for passage together with one of the four offered in the assembly. This amendment is designed to preserve the law from utter destruction in the courts in case the clause abolishing the fellow servant and assumption of risk doctrines in cases of employers of more than four persons is declared unconstitutional. This discrimination in favor of employers of less than four persons, which was inserted to placate farmer opposition to the bill is believed to be the only feature that might be dangerous in the event of a vote itself to more serious business, and affairs will move with more dispatch in the coming week.

The following nominations for postmasters in Wisconsin were sent to the senate: Charles Brown, Monticello; Henry H. White, Lake Geneva; Edward Morriarty, Delavan. A civil service examination will be held May 13 for postmasters as follows: Port Richmond, at Superior; for Stockbridge, at Breard for Logan; at Findlay for Sprague. Harry W. Koss has been appointed carrier at Bloomington, vice Ralph W. Hedeman.

The usual receptions by the Women's Relief corps and other auxiliary organizations will be held on the night of June 8. The camp fire will be held the next night.

CORN SYRUP BILL LOST IN ASSEMBLY

MEASURE TO AUTHORIZE SALE WITHOUT "GLUCOSE" LABEL BRINGS HOT DEBATE.

Opponents Declare Bill Was Backed by Standard Oil and That "Highly Priced Lobby Ever at Madison" Was Maintained.

Madison.—Following a long debate in which it was charged that the press of the state had been subsidized, the Standard Oil company was behind the bill and that the "highest paid lobby ever behind a bill" had been present at Madison, the assembly killed the bill authorizing the sale of corn syrup without the label of "glucose."

When an attempt was made to have action deferred so that a public hearing could be held, a vote of 77 to 19 was secured. The assembly suspended the rules and a call of the house was ordered. This was voted 77 to 19 after a motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill was killed had been voted down.

Assemblyman Perry, who introduced the bill, declared when the bill was brought up, the sole question was whether or not the product was injurious. Whether the Standard Oil company was or was not behind the bill was immaterial, he declared, as the members should consider the measure only from the

ELIMINATING SPACE.

Of devices for the elimination of space there is no end. There can be none, until the people progress. Occasionally a project is proposed of more than usual daring. The particular prize for which the commercial world is now striving is the trade of South America, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. North America and Europe each want the bulk of it. The natural advantage which this continent possesses has so far been more than balanced by European aggressiveness. And now Europe proposes to cut in two the time distance that separates her from the object of her commercial longing. It is figured that five days are long enough to transport European goods to South American consumers. To establish such a schedule involves engineering and financial difficulties which may, of course, finally prove its impossibility. By reliable parties the "thru-Afro-American railway" is proposed, first, to cross Spain to Gibraltar, where ferry boats will transport trains to the African coast; thence run to Bathurst, the nearest point to South America. From Bathurst to Pernambuco, Brazil, is but a three-day run for fast steamers. The cost of carrying out this project, during as it seems, would be but a mere fraction of what the United States alone in paying for the Panama canal. And a half dozen European nations would be benefited by it. It seems by no means impossible.

An unusually peculiar damage suit has just been decided in New York by which the widow of a fire chief has been awarded $25,000 for the loss of his life in a furniture establishment fire. The chief fell through an open wall hole in the building into a cellar half filled with water and was drowned before he could be rescued. The open wall hole was in violation of a city ordinance. This suit, with its large damages, will help to emphasize the highly important fact that such ordinances are intended to prevent just such accidents, and that disregard of them leads to criminal and civil liability when a life is lost. There are many ordinances of the kind held lightly in regard until a fatal accident shocks the authorities into enforcement.

Since it has been decided to establish a national battle for the million at Coney Island, other and ever more ambitious plans for its improvement have been formulated. These include a continuous walk and drive along the entire five miles of its water front, and a new bulkhead line, which has been authorized by government engineers. A contract has been let for a rip-rap walk, forty feet thick at its base and twenty feet at the top, surrounded by a concrete walk. This will protect the island from those periodic invasions by the Atlantic which have frequently been quite destructive. All of which is expected to attract a higher average of patronage than the resort has hitherto enjoyed.

The barbers of Annapolis have appended to the secretary of the navy to compel the musicians in the Academy band who have opened barber shops "on the side" to abandon competition with local tonsorial artists. From the consumer's point of view there may be poor expectation of getting a velvet shave from the hand that hammers the bass drum, although this is offset by the prospect of an expert massage from the nimble-fingered flutist. Possibly the barbers, per se, may force the issue by carrying the war into Africa, from a band of their own and serene the commandant at unwonted tours.

Alfred Graudet, professor of operative expression at the Paris Conservatoire, says that he knows there must be good voices somewhere in the United States, but that three-quarters of the Americans who apply for instruction in singing are terribly handicapped by never having studied piano-playing. If the gifted Frenchman's statement increases the number of young Americans who take lessons on the piano, he will incur the resentment of folks who live next door.

A certain minister of the Gospel hailing from New Zealand advocates a plan to tattoo the chins of married women to distinguish them from their unmarried sisters. If a mark were tattooed for every marriage, some of our society couples would resemble picture galleries.

A 25-cent piece was recently taken from the foot of an elephant in the New York Zoo, where it had been securely hidden till the creature's discomfort over its ill-gotten wealth became apparent. The animals must be catching graft from the humans.

The department of agriculture has invented a cheap horse food consisting of coconut and peanut meals. It would be more in keeping with the times to invent a cheap substitute for gasoline.

"The husband should cook, sew and wash dishes," says Dr. Haywood. "It is degrading." Too true! The average husband would go up in the air at the mere suggestion of such a task.

No one has ever yet written a love letter that sounded sensible when read in a courtroom.

Now a church is equipped with the wireless system. Politics will probably be the last to fall in line.

PEACE IS IN SIGHT

MEXICANS WILL END WAR TO AVERT UNITED STATES INTERVENTION.

Government's Reply to Taft Is an Apology for Battle on Border—Rebels Evacuate Agua Prieta and Federal March Into Town.

Mexico City.—Peace is in sight. A proposition for an armistice, pending negotiations for a settlement of Mexico's internal troubles, was received by the department of foreign relations from Washington, presumably from Dr. Vasquez Gomez.

The armistice is asked for to avoid "international complications" and is evidently caused by apprehensions that the United States would take a hand in the tussle.

The government has sent a reply to the request that it will be glad to receive and consider a formal proposal for a cessation of hostilities.

The suggestion from the Madristas included a desire for arrangements for permanent peace.

It can be stated on the highest authority that the Mexican government will meet the Madristas fully but will, that no difficulties will be encountered as to amnesty or as to the honest carrying out of the reform program, and that if the Madristas are in the slightest degree reasonable peace is assured in a few days' time.

The minister for foreign affairs, Francisco L. de la Barra, stated that the Mexican government in its reply to the note of the American government with reference to the fall of Aguila Prieta had expressed its regret for the same and had offered to report the orders already given to its soldiers to avoid shooting in the direction of the American frontier, although it pointed out that the shots which had caused the fatalities in question were fired according to official information corroborated by the press, by the American filibusters who form the majority of the so-called Lopez company of rebels.

In its reply the Mexican government declared its surprise at the procedure of certain international officials, a procedure exposed to the practical application of international law and contrary to the friendship which exists between the two nations.

Further, Mr. De la Barra expressed his conviction that these incidents will not affect the friendly relations between the two nations in the slightest, as their respective governments are animated by the most sincere sense of justice.

Agua Prieta, Mexico.—The rebel army, following almost 15 hours of incessant fighting in defense of Agua Prieta, quietly evacuated the town during the night. It moved out silently and without a shot being fired. The rebels were seen by the Mexican national troops entered the city at dawn, encountering no resistance.

The reason for the evacuation of the city after their all day defense of it was not at first apparent. It was most logical conclusion seemed to be that they had exhausted their ammunition.

Later developments showed the rebel army to be disrupted. Its leaders gave up the fight and the men in the ranks appear to have fled in directions of their own individual choosing.

The victorious federal force, which occupied the town, numbered about 1,200 men. Lieut. Col. Reynaldo Diaz was in supreme command. Under him were Major Luis Medina Barron of the rurales and Commandant Francisco Chila, formerly prefect of the town of Guadalupe.

The government losses may never be known. The federals declined the assistance of the Red Cross, stating that the army would care for its own wounded. During the fighting the federals removed their dead and wounded to the city. It is understood that none was killed or buried on the field. None was brought into the bull ring at Agua Prieta.

EDWARD A. MOSELEY EXPIRES

Secretary of Interstate Commerce Commission Dies of Heart Disease, Aged 65 Years.

Washington.—Edward A. Moseley, secretary of the interstate commerce commission and originator of much labor legislation, died here, after a long illness. He was sixty-five years old.

The immediate cause of death was heart trouble, superinduced by acute kidney disease.

As an intimate friend and personal adviser of presidents, cabinet officers, public officials during the last quarter of a century, Mr. Moseley accomplished notable results, especially along humanitarian and philanthropic lines.

HETTY GREEN BANKER

WILL ESTABLISH CHAIN OF PRIVATE INSTITUTIONS.

Places Management in Hands of Son—Young Man Says His Mother Has Been Grossly Misrepresented.

New York.—Mrs. Hetty Green and her son, Col. E. H. R. Green, have decided to consolidate her interests in a private bank with a chain of branches reaching from coast to coast.

In New York, said Colonel Green, "our firm will be named E. H. R. Green & Co. Branches will be opened in Boston, Chicago, Dallas and San Francisco. We have decided that our interests can best be served from a private bank here in New York. Since the laws of the various states do not give us the right to hold real estate in the name of a corporation or trust to organize like other private bankers of this city whose interests extend elsewhere."

Colonel Green pictures his mother as grossly misrepresented in the past. As though she conducts her business on careful and conservative lines, he says.

E. H. R. GREEN

she has made it an inviolable rule to reinvest her profits in the territory from which they were drawn, for the rebuilding of that territory.

"Her argument has been," he explains, "that every community is entitled to the benefit of its own prosperity."

"Since my mother began her business career she has never asked more than 6 per cent. for her money. The bulk of her loans have been made at considerably lower rates. Because of this attitude and other byways she has been known as the 'mother of the borrowers.'"

"Another point that adds to my pride in her business name is her intense loyalty to her country. She would not invest in a foreign enterprise if it guaranteed a certain profit of 600 per cent. in thirty days."

"Modern financiers look upon her as behind the times and some have volunteered to bring me up to date; but I am one-half so fortunate in my opinions and judgments as she has been. I shall be doing better than any financier I have met."

U. S. ARMY OFFICER SLAIN

Moro, Crazed as Result of Religious Belief, Strikes Down Cavalry Commander in Mindanao.

Manila.—Lieut. Walter H. Rodney of the Second United States cavalry stationed in the department of Mindanao, was murdered by a Moro who ran amuck.

The assassin belongs to the Mohammedan sect of Juraid Jayne. He has taken an inviolable oath to shed the blood of the Christian.

The fanatic was armed with a bolo. He encountered Rodney by chance and struck him down before the officer could defend himself.

Lieutenant Rodney was a native of California and thirty-two years of age.

HILL TO QUIT BERLIN POST

Ambassador to Germany Tenders Resignation and It Is Accepted by Taft.

Washington.—One of the greatest surprises of recent years in official circles here was caused by the announcement that David Jayne Hill of Rochester, N. Y., has resigned his post as ambassador of the United States to Germany.

The resignation was accepted promptly by President Taft, but in the formal letters given out there is no intimation of the reasons for Mr. Hill's withdrawal. The cause is a mystery.

OPEN BIG CATHEDRAL

CHOIR OF ST. JOHN THE DIVINE IN NEW YORK IS CONSECRATED. ED—COST $15,000,000.

CEREMONY MOST IMPRESSIVE

Many Distinguished Clergymen and Laymen Are Present—Two Beautiful Chapels That Are Completed Also Dedicated—Mrs. Taft Present.

New York.—The Cathedral of St. John the Divine, the largest church edifice in the western hemisphere, was formally opened here in the presence of distinguished clergymen from both the United States and Europe together with prominent personages from the various walks of life.

Though the great structure on Morningside Heights was fully completed for 75 years to come, the completion of the "crossing" has given between the colossal granite arches of the tower a space where 5,000 people may congregate. It is this part, the choir and the two finished chapels, that was consecrated.

The largest and most distinguished procession ever assembled in the Episcopal church in this country was seen at the opening service. Among those who participated in the ceremonies were 26 bishops, 400 other clergymen and the delegates to the diocese convention. Among prominent laymen who attended the exercises were William H. Taft, and Governor and Mrs. Dix. President Taft could not arrange to be present.

Among the bishops who took part in the ceremonies were: Warrell of Nova Scotia, Olmsted of central New York, Millsap of Kansas, Vincent of southern Ohio, Wright of Newark, Burgess of Long Island, Harding of Washington, Mackay-Smith of Philadelphia, Grafton and Condliffe Bishop of Bethlehem, Pa.; Whitehead of Pittsburgh, Brewster of Connecticut, Kinsman of Delaware, Lawrence of Massachusetts, Knight of Cuba, Swenson of Toronto and Morris W. Libbert, head of the Moravian church in this country.

The formal opening service was at 10:30 o'clock, for which special cards of admission had been distributed. The bishops and other clergy, lay trustees of churches and representatives of educational and similar institutions made up the procession, which marched from Synod hall into the south door of the Cathedral, at the eastern end of the choir.

The procession entered the choir, which was the middle one, and is known as St. Saviour's chapel, and the one given by Mrs. Edward King, immediately adjoining and known as the Chapel of St. Columba. The other five chapels are not yet finished.

The cost of the cathedral to date has been between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000. Some money has been set aside for endowment, and there is no doubt it is expected that the completed structure will cost a total of $15,000,000.

Much of the structure throws open for use is temporary. Parts consecrated are the permanent ones only. These are the choir, although that is not yet wholly complete, for much of the interior marble lining is not in.

Two of the chapels, both permanent, were erected by August Belmont, which is the middle one, and is known as St. Saviour's chapel, and the one given by Mrs. Edward King, immediately adjoining and known as the Chapel of St. Columba. The other five chapels are not yet finished.

The cost of the cathedral to date has been between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000. Some money has been set aside for endowment, and there is no doubt it is expected that the completed structure will cost a total of $15,000,000.

D. A. R. FIGHT CLOSE

CAMPAIGN FOR PRESIDENT GENERAL TOPIC AT CONGRESS.

Contest Between Mrs. Scott of Illinois and Mrs. Story of New York Promises to Be Lively.

Washington.—Washington is swarming with Daughters of the American Revolution. And they are busier than the proverbial bees. The twenty-fourth annual congress, opened here with Daughters from nearly every section of the Union in attendance. Every hotel in the city is practically owned by the fair visitors and hundreds of private homes have been hospitably thrown open for the invaders.

The delegates will be formally received by the president and Mrs. Taft at the White House. The delegates, with other members of the organization and of the Sons of the American Revolution, were given a reception by President-General Mrs. Scott.

When the congress was called to order in Continental Memorial hall by Mrs. Matthew T. Scott of Illinois, the president-general, there began what is expected to be one of the stormiest meetings in the history of the order. Questions of "politics" have resulted in the formation of factions each with its own ideas, radically different from those of its opponents. Naturally, interest centers chiefly in the election of officers, with Mrs. Scott, the presiding officer, in the strategic point of the conflict.

Mrs. William Cummings Story of New York, defeated candidate for president, carried the fight to Mrs. Scott and her adherents. She has raised the cry of "oligarchy," and declares that Mrs. Scott is and has been attempting, through the medium of the governing board, to "rule the society by a constitutional." As part of the campaign, Mrs. Story's friends in her behalf, 100,000 letters have been sent to the members in the various states petitioning their support in the movement to "dethrone the ruler and her clique."

BOYLES ALLOWED TO VISIT

Man and Wife, Convicted of White Kidnaping, Meet for First Time Since Incarceration.

Pittsburg, Pa.—"Jimmy" Boyle and his wife, Helen, met for the first time since their incarceration in the western Pennsylvania penitentiary for kidnaping Willie Whitla of Sharon. Boyle was sentenced to life imprisonment and his wife to 25 years' imprisonment. The couple were permitted to pass half an hour together and hereafter they will be permitted a similar visit once every three months. The woman says she still loves her husband and her own desire is to be free so she can work for his freedom. A local attorney is preparing legal action looking to her release.

Returns Home After Seven Weeks' Trip Through West—Says He Feels "Bully."

New York.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt arrived home from his seven weeks' tour of the west. As he stepped off a train from Chicago he came into contact with a crowd of outgoing visitors, many of whom greeted him with cheers.

Nearly 200 persons followed the colonel to the carriage door and many grasped his hand just as he jumped into an automobile to be whisked away to Oyster Bay.

Colonel Roosevelt's face was tanned by the western sun, and is said to feel "bully."

EXPECT TO SAVE $1,000 A DAY

Passage of Bill Will Affect Every Patron of Companies in the State—Penalty Involves Fine of $100 to $1,000.

Madison.—The lowering of express rates within Wisconsin 25 per cent., with an expected saving thereby of $1,000 a day to Wisconsin patrons, is assured by a bill introduced by Assemblyman W. E. Hurlbut of Winnebago county.

Nearly all monopolies have in some form or other been dealt with by the legislature or railroad commission in the past, but the express companies so far have escaped such action although remedial legislation is pending with the railroad commission. The bill seeks immediate relief from alleged excessive charges, calling for the enforcement of the reduced rates on August 1 next.

Based on the earnings of the companies in Wisconsin business in the past year, Assemblyman Hurlbut figures a saving to the people by his measure of over $1,000 a day, or a quarterly million dollars a year. Every patron of the express companies in the state will be affected by the passage of this bill. The penalty involves a fine of from $100 to $1,000 for each offense.

After several weeks of investigation, the election committee of the assembly is about ready to reintroduce its substitute for the various corrupt practices bills offered early in the session, and the measure probably will go on the calendar for some day next week.

The bill as finally drafted represents not only the combined efforts of the members of the elections committee, but the suggestions of all of the leading members of the house and senate, several state officers and the recommendations of students of the subject all over the United States.

"I feel that this bill is the result of the most thorough investigation that has ever been given any subject in the same amount of time by a legislative committee," said Chairman Thomas A. Roycroft. "We found the report of the senatorial investigating committee most valuable in getting at actual conditions as the law exists."

More than half of the bills introduced remain in committee, and this would not occasion any excitement if all were unimportant. The fact that many of the minor measures usually saved for killing toward the close of a session have come out, and usually to their death, has become painfully evident. The senate has now done little work for two weeks, one of which was a session devoted to the passage of three measures here at any one time. This the senate could afford to do as long as the assembly insists upon occupying the hours in debate and upon reconsidering a large proportion of its action on bills, and reversing itself half a dozen times.

A joint resolution emanating from the senate judiciary committee, for final adjournment of the legislature on May 6, has served its evident purpose—to awaken the members to the necessity of moving faster. More than half of the bills introduced remain in committee, and this would not occasion any excitement if all were unimportant. The fact that many of the minor measures usually saved for killing toward the close of a session have come out, and usually to their death, has become painfully evident. The senate has now done little work for two weeks, one of which was a session devoted to the passage of three measures here at any one time. According to these experts, President Vail used the Wisconsin successful statute as a model for his unusual declaration, and this is of especial importance to Indiana. The declaration is a copy of the Wisconsin laws. The success of the operation of the Wisconsin laws has given the public every chance to place before the state's commerce court its most important grievances, as well as those of greater magnitude. The rate commission, according to the rate commissioners, has approved such regulation as Wisconsin enforces, as being just to the corporation also.

Call Badger Law Model for Nation

That President Theodore N. Vail of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, in his annual report, just issued, urging strict government control of the public service corporations, was actuated by the success of the Wisconsin public utility and rate commission laws, is the declaration of the members of the Wisconsin commission.

According to these experts, President Vail used the Wisconsin successful statute as a model for his unusual declaration, and this is of especial importance to Indiana. Food Show Interests State

That the state dairy and food department will co-operate with the promoters of the Milwaukee pure food show is almost assured.

Considerable interest is being shown in Madison because of the educational features of the show essential to the merchants who, in the majority of cases, are the first to suffer in the prosecution of violators and who, in many instances, are ignorant of the law.

J. G. Winkler, commissioner of Minnesota, who has charge of the enforcement of the pure food law in that state, has issued a bulletin of instruction to the merchants in his jurisdiction in order to acquaint them with the law's provisions.

New Badger Postmasters

The following nominations for postmasters in Wisconsin were sent to the senate: Charles Brown, Monticello; Henry H. White, Lake Geneva; Edward Morrissey, Delafield; and service examiners as follows: For Rockmont, at Superior; for Stockbridge, at Chilton; at Breed for Logan; at Findley for Sprague. Harry W. Koss has been appointed carrier at Bloomington, vice Ralph W. Hedeman.

which has passed the senate, will be reported on the coming week unless the assembly committee on elections changes its mind about holding a hearing. Several Madison women are said to be desirous of obtaining another hearing, in order to oppose the bill. It is believed that at least fifty votes will be mustered in the house in favor of submitting the matter to the people, and the suffrage advocates will have won a notable victory.

The talk of attempting to force through a resolution for an investigation of the university, particularly the administration of its finances, is still rampant among members of the assembly, and it is said that the resolution will be drawn, ready to be sprung at the psychological moment. So far those favoring the proposition have waited for one of the bills affecting the university to come up on the floor, in order to make the proposed "sensation" more appropos, but the matter also has been held off by pressure on the part of supposed ones who believe such action would really harm the state institution. It is understood that Governor McGovern does not look with favor on the proposition.

KEEP THE STREAMS CLEAN AND PURE!

Streams are beautiful and should not be made otherwise by throwing rubbish into them or upon their banks.

Pure Water is necessary to all human and animal life.

Rivers and brooks are the natural purveyors of water, respect them. Throw nothing into them. Prevent all foul waters from reaching them.

Running waters are life givers. Make them not life takers by allowing foreign matter to render them poisonous to man, beast, bird and fish.

Plumbers leave no refuse in or near the springs, brooks, rivers, ponds, or lakes which have contributed to your day's pleasure. The baskets which brought all are large enough to carry away the fragments.

Fishermen do not put their cleanings back into the water.

Housewives empty no dish-water or other slops where it can find its way into a stream.

Farmers do not let your waste or barn-yard drainage seep away to the nearby stream.

Campers bury or burn all rubbish. Select carefully and judiciously the spot on which to build a fire. Watch constantly the fire while burning. Extinguish every spark before leaving the site of the fire. Do not contaminate the streams by washing food clothes in them. Carry the water for this purpose in a pail or tub to a place at some little distance from the shore.

Manufacturers poison not the stream with chemicals, refuse, or dross of any kind.

Offices and towns send your Sewerage Commissioners to Oroydon, England, (ten miles from London), to study the oldest and most successful sewage filtration plant and sewage farm. If this is impossible, at least write for information. Pollute not the streams with your sewage.

Let the purity of streams be jealously and anxiously guarded from their sources to their mouths by young and old that they may be the blessings which God intended.

Win Silver Cup Again.

For the second time the Wisconsin Buttermakers' Association, conducted under the auspices of the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin, has carried off the silver trophy offered by the Creamery Journal of Waterloo, Ia., to the association having the highest average score of butter exhibited at its annual convention. The most noticeable feature of this second victory was the uniformity in the excellence of the product from year to year. Last year 143 Wisconsin entries scored an average of 92.90, while this year 176 entries averaged 93.01.

Wisconsin has been carrying on a very persistent campaign of education among her creamerymen through the medium of the dairy school at the state college of agriculture. The value of the monthly educational scorings at Madison is shown by the improvement in the quality and uniformity of the butter produced in the state.

PITTSVILLE.

(From the Record.)

Previous to their departure for Canada, the Royal Neighbors effected a surprise on Mrs. H. Elover at the home of Roy Pinney in this city. The evening was enjoyably spent.

J. S. Irwin, north of the city, has sold his farm to J. Zimmerman, of Madison. He has bought in Adams county a 160 acre farm and his son Fred Irwin has bought a place near him, an eighty.

Mrs. Aliza Curtis, who has been visiting at the Palmer residence here, left last week for Stanley to visit a sister, from whence she goes to her home in Montana.

Dr. F. J. Drehr, grand lecturer of the F. & A. M. lodge of the state, was in the city Wednesday night of last week and gave the boys instructions in some of the work of the order.

Dr. Hagen went up to Marshfield Friday of last week and brought back his new auto, the Cole, which he bought at the show at Milwaukee last winter. It is a beauty.

C. E. Hewitt moved his family and household goods to Grand Rapids the fore part of the week. He says the new firm, the "Grand Rapids Real Estate Co.," of which he is a member, is doing a rattling good business. They have the Irwin farm and a farm near Sorensen Corners for rent to the right party.

A pair of colts belonging to Wm. Schiller took fright Sunday and did considerable damage to a nice new werry. The family had driven up to the Lutheran church to attend the Easter services when at the top of the big bell the colts made a dash, upsetting the rig and hurtling slightly one of the boys. Most of the family were out when the start was made.

The postoffice was moved the fore part of the week into the new quarters which had been made ready for it previously. The change is much for the better, making a cozier, neater place all round for the government business.

Miss Capitola Kistler of Grand Rapids is spending a week or two in the city, a guest of her young lady friends.

ALTDORF

Geo. Dawes and family spent Sunday at Robert Leu's.

Mary Hoser has returned home from an extended trip thru the east having been in Pennsylvania, Tennessee and other states.

O. J. Lou was at Marshfield last Wednesday in attendance at the Central Wisconsin Holstein-Friesian association where he delivered an address. Mr. Lou was again re-elected president of this association for another year.

NEKOOSA

(From the Times)

J. M. Skinner, Grand Chief Templar of the Independent Order of Good Templars, was in Nekoosa twice in the last week, his business being to organize a lodge of Good Templars.

He first called a meeting for Tuesday evening, April 11, at the Congregational church, but so few were present that the attempt at organizing was abandoned. Mr. Skinner came here again about the middle of the week and selected Friday evening, at the same place, for another meeting. At this time a number of workers from Grand Rapids came down to assist in the organization, but again the attendance was not large enough to enable the plans to be carried to completion.

H. E. Herrick was called to Plainfield Wednesday to attend the funeral of his cousin, Mrs. Zelinda Thorston. Mrs. Thorston died in South Dakota and the remains brought back for burial. Mr. Herrick met the funeral party at Junction City, from which place they went to Plainfield, where the remains were laid to rest.

A marriage license was issued last week to Paul Kolonen and Miss Francis R. Bolmer.

Wm. Kuter has purchased a new disc harrow from J. D. Smith of Grand Rapids.

Mr. Andrew Winger has been on the sick list but is on the gain at this writing.

Chas. Fuller has completed his barn at Nekoosa.

George Johnson is employed by the St. Paul railway.

Oliver Dudley is staying on his farm in Rudolph. He expects to stay there this summer and improve his appearance somewhat by fall.

We understand that Frank Kuter expects to move on the Beatty farm in South Rudolph formerly the old Corner place. Mr. Beatty has rented the Spafford farm where he expects to move soon.

Mrs. Geo. Elliott was shopping in your city Monday afternoon.

John Weyers of Grand Rapids visited her parents here on Friday.

Geo. Warren of Wausau visited his cousin, Mrs. N. G. Ratelle between trains Friday evening.

Mary Kujawa returned home Friday noon from Stevens Point where she accompanied her grandmother, Mrs. Spaulka, home Wednesday morning.

A. J. Kujawa is making extensive changes in his store. The old counter on the dry goods side has been taken out and a new glass case has been placed which greatly adds to the making of a convenient store as soon as the work of rearranging around has been completed.

Mrs. Olat Orehagan and children have returned to their home in Crystal Falls, Mich., after a week's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sharkey.

W. J. Clark visited relatives in Fond du Lac a few days the past week.

Mrs. Ted Benson spent Sunday with her parents.

The stock of dry goods and groceries in the J. W. Hams store were not sold at auction Wednesday, the 19th inst., as at first advertised. They have given Mr. Hams a chance to redeem it if he can make proper arrangements. His many friends have helped him in a very generous way and we are glad that Mr. and Mrs. Hams will not have to move away.

Mrs. A. J. Kujawa returned home Tuesday noon of last week from Stevens Point where she spent two and a half weeks. She is feeling very much better.

Nick Marceau of Biron brought a lot of fence posts for Nick Ratelle on Monday of last week. Arseno Ratelle had got a load on the previous Saturday of John Possley.

We would like to know how many eggs John Bushmaker in Sigel used for that one setting that he got 22 chickens. Was it 13 eggs or 25 eggs?

N. J. Richards of your city visited his sister, Mrs. Geo. Elliott, between the 6 and 9 o'clock trains, Tuesday evening.

Miss Minnie Baker did not get here until Thursday evening but will spend some time in Rudolph.

The Easter dance in Marceau's hall Wednesday evening, April 19th was well attended. Music was furnished by the Elito orchestra of Stevens Point.

The property controlled by the company includes a hotel and several cottages and is ideally situated for summer resort purposes. Mr. Fay, many friends in this city will wish him success in his new location.

Moving Day Warning.

The possible dangers of moving into a house, the former tenants of which are unknown, and a cheap and efficient means of disinfection, are contained in a bulletin issued by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association.

A bulletin is issued annually by the association upon the known danger of the undetected house and the habit of the American people to move on May 1.

Investigations conducted in various cities of the state have shown that many cases of tuberculosis are due to families moving into an undetected house, the former occupant of which was a consumptive. It is an attempt to prevent this that the warning is issued, and a method of disinfection is given.

The formaldehyde disinfection is employed by the New York City health department. In preparing the house, all outside cracks in windows, doors, walls or floor should be closed with cotton or strips of cloth. It also should be remembered that, after the gas has been generated, it is necessary to leave the house as soon as possible. It is possible after the disinfection to rush in and open the doors and windows. It is recommended that the disinfection should last over night, or from six to ten hours.

Formaldehyde is a gas put on the market in the form of a solution in water. The gas is regenerated by pouring the solution on crystals of potassium permanganate.

For this purpose, a metal pail is placed in the center of each room on newspapers or a piece of asbestos. In the pail, after it has been warmed, is placed one-half pound of potassium permanganate crystals for each 1,000 cubic feet of air space to be disinfected. Not more than one pound of crystals should be placed in one pail.

Formaldehyde is then poured over the crystals in the proportion of one pint to one-half pound of crystals. The reaction takes place immediately, and the gas will be driven off in great clouds.

So soon as the chemicals have been put together, one should go to the exit. If, after the room has been aired after disinfection, the odor of formaldehyde persists, it can be neutralized by hanging sheets or towels in the rooms and sprinkling them with ammonia water.

The cost of materials for disinfecting is slight. A drug store charges 20 cents per quart for the formaldehyde solution and 25 cents per pound for the potassium permanganate crystals. Thus, the total cost for a house of 10,000 cubic feet would be only $2.75.

Council Proceedings.

Council Chamber April 18th 1911.

Council met in last session, President Ellis presiding.

Present Aldermen, Andrew, Bamberg, Abell, Billmyre, Getzloff, Giblin, Pribnow, Dixon, Nash, Mosher, Payne and Jeffrey.

Absent Aldermen Davis.

On motion the reading of the minutes of last meeting was dispensed with.

Mr. Chas. E. Hoshorn, clerk of the Council in behalf of the city band, stating that the band boys had been very fortunate in getting the services of Mr. W. Merrill as leader of the band to succeed Mr. E. Hoshorn, providing the city would pay Mr. Merrill $75.00 per month.

On motion by unanimous vote the clerk calling the roll Mr. J. W. Merrill was engaged for one year at a salary of $75.00 per month.

Mr. D. M. Huntington appeared before the council and stated that the fire engine needed a new boiler and that he had secured one. On motion the president appointed D. M. Huntington, with Aldermen Gilmer and Getzloff a committee to find what the cost of a new boiler would be and report at the next meeting of the council.

Mr. Jos. Cohen appeared before the council asking that permission be granted him to have a solid brick building erected on Lot 15 Block 30 Neeve's addition to the City of Grand Rapids.

Mr. Cohen stated that he was filling the proper plans and specifications as per the fire limits ordinance with the clerk the permit would be granted.

Mr. Cohen asked permission of the council to let the building be erected on the lot where he had placed it. Moved and seconded that Mr. Cohen's building be allowed to set where placed.

Motion lost.

Moved and seconded that Mr. Cohen be granted permission to move the building back where it formerly set.

Motion lost.

The committee to whom was referred the matter of purchasing dog harnesses for the fire department reported that they were unable to come to an agreement as one department favored the harness and the other did not.

On motion the report was laid on the table.

The MAN in LOWER TEN

By MARY ROBERT RINEHART
AUTHOR OF THE CIRCULAR STAIRCASE

SYNOPSIS.
Lawrence Blakeley, lawyer, goes to Pittsburgh with the forged notes in the Bronson case to get the deposition of John Gilmore, millionaire. A lady requests Blakeley to buy her a fountain pen. He gives her a fountain pen and a note to her. He finds a drunken man in a lower ten and returns to his home. He finds a note in his pocket and reads it. He finds a note in his pocket and reads it. He finds a note in his pocket and reads it.

"Gentlemen," he said, his face ghastly, "it is of no use for me to attempt to deny it. The dagger and necklace belong to my sister, Alice Curtis!"

CHAPTER XXXI.
And Only One Arm.
Hotchkiss was the first to break the tension.
"Mr. Sullivan," he asked suddenly, "was your sister left-handed?"
"Yes."
Hotchkiss put away his notebook and looked around with an air of triumphant vindication. It gave us a chance to smile and look relieved. After all, Mrs. Curtis was dead. It was the happiest solution of the unhappy affair. McKnight brought Sullivan some whisky and he braced up a little.
"I learned through the papers that my wife was in a Baltimore hospital and yesterday I ventured there to see her. I felt she would help me to keep straight, that now, with her father and my sister both dead, we might be happy together."
"I understand now what puzzled me then. It seemed that my sister went into the next car and tried to make my wife promise not to interfere. But Mrs. Sullivan was firm, of course. She said her father had papers, certificates and so on, that would stop the marriage at once."
"She said, also, that her father was

"The whole probably he accused of the crime. So, although when the week occurred I supposed everyone connected with the affair had been killed, there was a chance that you had survived. I've not been of much account, but I didn't want a man to swing because I left him in my place. Besides, I began to have a theory of my own."

"As we entered the car a tall, dark woman passed us, with a glass of water in her hand, and I vaguely remembered her. She was amazingly like Blanche Conway, capable of anything."

"Then why did you command that 'Osgood'?" I asked curiously.
"When I got to the Carter house, and got to bed—I had sprained my ankle in the jump—I went through the alligator bag I had taken from lower nine. When I found your name, I sent the first message. Then, soon after, I came across the notes. It seemed too good to be true. I was away for four the message had gone."

"At first I was going to send them to Bronson; then I began to see what the possession of the notes meant to me. It meant power over Bronson, money, influence, everything. He was a devil, that man."

"Well, he's at home now," said McKnight, and we were glad to laugh and relieve the tension.
Alison put her hand over her eyes, as if to shut out the sight of the man she had so nearly married, and I nervously touched one of the soft little curls that nestled at the back of her neck.
"When I was able to walk," went on the silent voice, "I came at once to Washington. I tried to sell the notes to Bronson, but he was almost at the end of his rope. Not even my threat to send them back to you, Mr. Blakeley, could make him meet my figure. He didn't have the money."

"McKnight was triumphant."
"I think you gentlemen will see reason in my theory now," he said. "Mrs. Conway wanted the notes to force a legal marriage, I suppose?"
"Yes."
The detective with the small package carefully rolled out the rubber band, and unwrapped it. I held my breath as he took out, first, the Russian leather wallet.
"These things," Mr. Blakeley, we found in the satchel bag Mr. Sullivan says he left you. This wallet, Mr. Sullivan—is this the one you found on the floor of the car?"
Sullivan opened it, and glancing at the name inside, "Simon Harrington," nodded affirmatively.
"And this," went on the detective—"this is a piece of gold chain."
"It seems to be," said Sullivan, recoiling at the blood-stained end.
"This, I believe, is the dagger." He held it up, and Alison gave a faint cry of astonishment and dismay. Sullivan's face grew ghastly, and he sat down weakly on the nearest chair.
The detective looked at him slyly, then at Alison's agitated face.
"Where have you seen this dagger before, young lady?" he asked, kindly enough.
"Oh, don't ask me!" she gasped, breathlessly, her eyes turned on Sullivan. "It's—it's too terrible!"
"Tell him," I advised, leaning over to her. "It will be found out later, anyhow."

"Ask him," she said, nodding toward Sullivan.
The detective unwrapped the small box Alison had brought, disclosing the trampled necklace and broken chain. With clumsy fingers he spread it on the table and fitted into place the bit of chain. There could be no doubt that it belonged there.
"Where did you find that chain?" Sullivan asked, hoarsely, looking for the first time at Alison.
"On the floor, near the murdered man's berth."

"Now, Mr. Sullivan," said the detective, civilly, "believe me, you can tell us the truth about these exhibits, who really did murder Simon Harrington?"
Sullivan looked again at the dagger, a sharp little bit of steel with a Florentine handle. Then he picked up the lock and pressed a hidden spring under one of the canons. Instantly, a neatly engraved, was the name and a date.

Sat in Victoria's Presence

But Two Men, Calling on Official Business, Have Been Known to Do So.
Few men were ever allowed to sit in the presence of Queen Victoria. In fact, it is said that probably not more than two ever enjoyed that privilege when they called formally or on official business, and these two were Gladstone and Sir James Alexander Grant, M. D., of Ottawa. During one of his journeys to England he was called to the royal palace to see the queen, who was not in very good health.
The visitor was ushered into the presence of her majesty, who was seated.

I dressed in savage haste. Finally and so was particular about my tie that Mrs. Klopston gave up in despair. "I wish, until your arm is better, that you would buy the kind that looks on," she protested almost tearfully. "I'm sure they look very nice, Mr. Lawrence. My late husband always—"

"That's a lover's knot you've tied this time," I snarled, and, jerking open the bow knot she had so painfully executed, looked out of the window for Johnson—until I recalled that he no longer belonged in my perspective. I consoled by driving frantically to the club and getting George to do it.

I was late, of course. The drawing room and library at the Dallas country home was very empty. I could hear billiard balls rolling somewhere and I turned the other way. I found Allison at last on the balcony, sitting cross-legged as she had that night on the bench—her chin in her hands, her eyes fixed unseeingly on the trees and lights of the square across. She was even whistling a little, softly. But this time the plaintiveness was gone. It was a tender little tune. She did not move, as I stood beside her, looking down. And now, when the moment had come, all the thousand and one things I had been waiting to say forebore me, precipitately beat a retreat and left me unsupported. The flower sprays and arabesque designs used for the colored work were all very beautiful, and although many all-white waists are seen they are far less attractive to the popular taste than these two-toned effects. One of the most successful is the white marquisette waist, to have a bit of colored lawn, linen or chiffon matching the needlework. The solid color edges sleeves, forms part of the stock, and may appear in some manner in the yoke. Some white marquisette bodices are decked, indeed, with deep sailor collars.

"Don't do that," I said unsteadily. "You—you know what I want to do when you whistle!"
She glanced up at me and she did not stop. She did not stop. She went on whistling softly, a bit tremulously. And straightway I forgot the street, the chance of passing by, the voices in the house behind me. "The world doesn't hold anyone out you," I said, reverently. "It is our world, sweetheart. I love you."
And I kissed her.
A boy was whistling on the pavement below. I let her go reluctantly and sat back where I could see her. "I haven't done this the way I in-

"Understand Now What Puzzled Me Then."

In our car, and that there would be the mischief to pay in the morning. It was probably when my sister tried to get the papers that she awakened and she had to do what she did."

It was over. Save for a technicality or two, I was a free man. Alison rose quietly and prepared to go; the men stood to let her pass, save Sullivan, who sat in his chair, his face buried in his hands.
McKnight saw her, with Mrs. Dallas, to their carriage and came back again. The gathering in the office was breaking up; Johnson had slipped away as unobtrusively as he came. Sullivan, looking worn and old, was standing by the window, staring at the broken necklace in his hand. When he saw me watching him, he put it back on the desk and picked up his hat.
"If I cannot do anything more—" he hesitated.
"I think you have done about enough," I replied, grimly, and he went out.

I believe that Richey and Hotchkiss led me somewhere to dinner and that, for fear I would be lonely without him, they sent for Johnson. And I recall a spirited discussion in which Hotchkiss told the detective that he could manage certain cases, but that he lacked induction. Richey and I were mainly silent. My thoughts would slip ahead to that hour, later in the evening, when I should see Alison again.

"Tell him," I advised, leaning over to her. "It will be found out later, anyhow."

"Ask him," she said, nodding toward Sullivan.

The detective unwrapped the small box Alison had brought, disclosing the trampled necklace and broken chain. With clumsy fingers he spread it on the table and fitted into place the bit of chain. There could be no doubt that it belonged there.

WOMAN'S INTERESTS

SMART SPRING BLOUSE

MADE OF WHITE MATERIAL WITH TINTED NEEDLEWORK.
Veiled Bodices Still Liked by Many Women—Return of Tailored Shortwaists in Wash Goods Is Welcomed.

The smart spring blouse is a garment of great charm and, like woman, it has many moods. The prevailing one of the moment—for there is always one which more dominant than others—is for color on white, tinted needlework on fine lawns, linens and marquisette accomplishing this. The flower sprays and arabesque designs used for the colored work are all very beautiful, and although many all-white waists are seen they are far less attractive to the popular taste than these two-toned effects. One of the most successful is the white marquisette waist, to have a bit of colored lawn, linen or chiffon matching the needlework. BRASSIERE OF A NEW MODEL

Takes the Place of a Corset Cover and Is Comfortable and Easily Adjusted.

Many stout women object to wearing the brassiere because of its warmth. A new model that gives the same support takes the place of a corset cover, and is comfortable and easily adjusted.
The lower part is of heavy muslin, cut in two parts, the front heavily boned and made firm with bias stripings, the backs cut to overlap and form a V at the neck. Tapes on the end go through an eyelet at side and tie in front.
The brassiere comes just to the waist line, and is held down firmly by a tab and nickel hook that slides over one of the corset hooks.
The top of front is cut in a straight line reaching from under the arms at the side seam, and above it is a trimmed yoke of sheerer material, made of alternate strips of insertion and handwork. Lace and beading finishes the edges.
One advantage is the reinforcement under the arms with a shield-shaped piece of the material. Stout women who rub their underarms into holes find this welcome.

Outing Shirtwaists.
Shirtwaists for the field, as a rule, are made of soft material, either flannel or unadorned linen; and the attached collar is a soft, rolled affair. The latter is preferably of tweed, in some neutral mixture, or of serge, cheviot, basket cloth, or homespun in navy blue, white, or a conservative tan or gray. Elastic mixtures and smooth-finished whipcords are also used by special tailors—Harper's Bazar.

Silence Cloth.
Those of us who still cling to tablecloths rather than polished wood have often wondered at the expensiveness of the canton-flannel silence cloth. Every other hot dish placed on the table, even if it is only a brother to the varnished table, and to leave white fuzzy rings on the wood.
Try instead making a silence cloth of cheesecloth or some other washable material, with several layers of soft paper between the two folds. Overcast the edges and knot with thread here and there, as in a quilt.

For the Simple Frock.
On many of the simple morning frocks the collar and cuffs are the sole trimming. There are all sorts of arrangements of these collars, some of which are more on the order of a fichu instead of a plain collar.
These fichu-like collars are generally made of net or lawn and are arranged in folds around the neck opening of the frock, the ends fastening at the belt under a buckle or rosette.

SOME TIPS FOR TEA TABLE

American Girl Gets Ideas From Do-It-Yourself Informal Affair They Attended in England.
"I've just had a letter from my cousin in Florence, who is in England," said Virginia Carter the other day to the group of girls gathered about the tea table in a drawing room. "and she wrote me about a homey informal afternoon tea that she had been to at the vicarage. It was awfully jolly, she said, though she was a little in awe at first of the canon himself, who is a very dignified man and rather on his guard against American frivolities. It was served, she said, in the drawing room."
"The tea service was at one end of the long table, where the canon's sister, a dear, motherly lady, sat. Near her in a deep chair, drawn not quite to the table, was Mr. Ashford himself, the others grouping themselves quite informally about him. In the center of the table was a case of lovely lace from the vicar's house."

side were the bread board, a heavy loaf, a bread knife and a bread fork like a fish fork, with which the slices of bread when cut were handed about, as no maid waited. There was a plate of hot buttered scones and one to match of small cakes. A jar of plum jam stood between. On the other end were two high plates with parts of loaf cakes. There was lots of happy talk in which the canon and his sister led, and the whole affair was such a pretty home picture to remember.
"I was so delighted with the scones," wrote Florence, "that I asked the eldest daughter to get the cook to give me the recipe, which she did. I took it over to you girls as my contribution to the general fund of tea table tips."

EMMA PADDOCK TELFORD.
Wanderers Return.
"Yes, I had ten children. They all grew up and married off. 'I suppose it is lonesome now at home,' you think. I'm one of the North Carolina trap net men who say that that hen is an unprofitable one because she lays only enough eggs to pay for her keep."

NOTES FROM MEADOWBROOK FARM

By William Pitt

Keep your fowls hungry.

Fork is too high not to feed right.

Concrete is an excellent material for silo building.

Examine the eggs with the egg-tester before setting them.

Whatever breed is chosen, a pure-bred ram should be used.

In raising onions for commercial purposes a large bulb is desirable.

In caring for pigeons one should go about quietly and never frighten them.

One of the easiest ways of making money on the farm is by rearing sheep.

In planting a young orchard see that the trees are properly pruned before set.

Hot mashes on cold days are on the feeding program of many successful poultry raisers.

This is a good time to figure up accounts for the year and see what the chicken business has done for us.

Sheep farming is a profitable branch to follow where land can be had for about fifteen to twenty-five dollars per acre.

Do not dispose of too many early pullets for fattening purposes—they are your principal assets for another season.

A hen is a good thing, but too much of a good thing is a bad thing. Two hundred hens are enough for the average farm.

The sow should be given warm milkfeed soon, made fresh for each meal, whole oats and a little sound corn twice a day.

Cows approaching calving should be placed in roomy box stalls, given a good dry bed of leaves or straw and not interfered with.

If the breeders are in poor condition you will get many eggs that do not hatch well or that produce puny or weakling chicks.

The right time to castrate pigs is a week or so before they are weaned, if healthy; if delicate, wait a week or so until they are stronger.

Raw potatoes are greatly relished by chicks and may be fed freely. Cut them in good-sized chunks and let the chicks have them to pick at.

It is very well to sow a piece of rye early in the fall for the ewes that have lambs to pasture off in the spring before grass is ready for them.

The squab of the best breed is ready for market when about four weeks old. At this age it is in prime condition. It does not gain much afterward.

Forage or salad crops for poultry greens should preferably be grown with stable manure. This applies to clover, cabbage, lettuce, salad turnips, mangels, etc.

Infertile eggs from the incubators set out on the fifth to seventh days can often be sold to bakers if sold for just what they are. They are good for cooking purposes.

This is the time to give the boy a few acres to farm with a team, and seeds, and see what he will make of it. It will make him feel like a man and bind him to the farm.

It will not be long now till the first haying. Get all of the haying machinery and tools ready for the work, so that there will be no delay when the hay is ready to harvest.

Many farmers say there is no money in raising ducks and geese, but F. S. Jacoby, assistant in poultry husbandry at the Kansas State Agricultural College, says this is a mistake.

Mr. C. O. Garrett, of Iowa, says: "Lime-sulphur is the best stock-dip I have ever used. It is very much superior to many dips now on the market, being more effective and more durable, and it is absolutely not injurious."

Breeding birds which begin the work of egg production near the time the eggs are required for incubation will ordinarily give stronger germs and better chicks than can be obtained from hens which have been laying for months.

found it rather palatable. The porpoise, being a mammal, has firm red flesh, and there is only a faint suggestion of fishy taste. Porpoises are caught in nets off the North Carolina coast, and are then slaughtered like other animals.

There is very good reason why dairymen endeavor to mix their own feeds rather than pay somebody else for doing it, and this relieve themselves from the liability of being imposed upon by unscrupulous men who use cat hulla, corn cobs, straw and weed seeds in their mixtures and palm them off as molasses feeds.

Too much corn is often fed to the sow, because it is more available than other feeds. This leads to an injury both to the sow and the pigs.

By introducing trap nests in the flock the poultryman will learn many things which are surprising to him or her. One of the best hens and the trap nest will soon show that that hen is an unprofitable one because she lays only enough eggs to pay for her keep.

Sheep increase the value of a farm.
Ducks and geese are easier to raise than chickens.
Breeding young ewes leads to a weakening of the flock.
The lack of protein is a direct cause of mature pullets not laying.
Dairying is one of the profitable lines in which a farmer can engage.
Assorting market eggs according to size and color is a good business move.

Sheep will eat many kinds of wild grasses. They thrive in dry, mild climates.

If protein is supplied freely there will be abundance of eggs from the same flock.

Use a good live paint on the roosts in the morning and repeat every two or three weeks.

Make up your mind to grow at least a part of the poultry food on the home farm this season.

If the hens do not lay well it may be solely because they are not intelligently managed or fed.

A bull tied in the stall will get lazy and useless, besides making extra work in his care and feed.

A few ears of corn laid in the oven and allowed to parch gives a good occasional variety to the feed.

No matter what kind of floor there is in the poultry house, the main thing is not to let it get damp.

In the production of eggs, as in that of milk, proper feeding is essential to attaining the best results.

A flimsy fence will not restrain a bull—and will cause no end of annoyance especially in a busy season.

Oats will do better on sod land than barley, but neither of them do as well on a tough sod as after corn or potatoes.

Don't sell eggs for hatching until you have tried out eggs from the same pens at home and know they hatch well.

Select out only good, trustworthy hens that can be relied upon as being good sitters. They should be well feathered.

Mishapen eggs will sometimes hatch good chicks, but it is better to choose well-formed eggs with clean, smooth shells.

Handle eggs carefully and avoid rough handling. A bad shaking up of eggs during handling or shipment has spoiled many a hatch.

If you must feed soft food provide a small trough in which to feed it. It becomes a starter of disease when thrown on the ground.

A good way to treat a chick food is to place a small quantity on a dish before some husky chicks and note what they leave of it.

Strongly fertile eggs from good, healthy stock will often hatch well, and produce good chicks under apparently unfavorable conditions.

The mixture of poultry manure with such materials as land plaster and kaffir or acid phosphate is almost imperative for satisfactory preservation.

The young chicks which are to make our winter income should be hatched from the middle of March to the middle of May, depending on the breed.

Other things being equal, the breeds belonging to the Mediterranean class of fowls, namely the Leghorns, Minorcas and Hamburgs, are the greatest egg producers.

Hon nests should be cleaned and whitewashed after each hatch before starting another and the old nesting material should be burned. Flight time now and all the time.

It is all right enough to rear turkeys with the chicken hen if the fool hen wouldn't warn them so early. Then the hens are always more troublesome than with turkey hens.

Undoubtedly one of the most remunerative branches of the poultry business for the average poultryman is the production of eggs, combined with the sale of market broilers as a side line.

Land plowed last fall may be sown to oats without again plowing. If sown broadcast sow two bushels to the acre over the plowed ground and harrow them in both ways, then roll to level the land.

When the sow is given a warm, rich slop, or other milk producing feeds just after her pigs are born, a strong milk flow is forced. The new born pigs get too much and have diarrhoea, which often kills them.

Dr. W. T. Tuck, who is in charge of the New York office of the bureau of animal industry of the department of agriculture, spoke of the uses of porpoise meat. "Porpoise meat," he said, "is not at all bad. I have tasted it, and it is only through the legumes, and through which farmers are not familiar with, which farmers are not familiar with, and which we will not discuss now, that the soil has been filled with the nitrogen, which is of the utmost importance in any system of agriculture."

WISCONSIN BREVITIES

Fond du Lac. That Mrs. Sarah Trevelyan, one of the most prominent residents of the town of Byron, was the victim of pneumatic poisoning, caused by eating lettuce with salad dressing while dining on the train going into Milwaukee, was learned when relatives arrived from that city with her remains.

Just before reaching Minneapolis, Mr. and Mrs. Dutcher and Mrs. Trevelyan had dinner in the dining car. Lettuce with salad dressing was served to them. Both Mrs. Trevelyan and Mrs. Dutcher partook of the dish. Both Mrs. Trevelyan and Mrs. Dutcher felt ill. Mrs. Trevelyan felt worse than did Mrs. Dutcher, the latter suffering only a slight attack, lasting about two days. Mrs. Trevelyan, however, suffered intensely and upon reaching Minneapolis her condition was at once ascertained as pneumonia, following death following.

Waukegan. A wage scale has been agreed upon by Anderson Brothers & Johnson of Granite Heights and their former employees and the men have returned to work.

Bancor. The need of man for growth in this district has resulted in the formation of a company composed of most of the villagers to purchase a large farm south of the Milwaukee tracks where which has been platted for an addition to the village.

Superior. Lowell Rockwell and Chester Adams, Superior high school basketball players, about the end of the year were crossing the lake was tipped by a whirlpool. The overturned canoe, together with the paddles and the hat of one of the boys, was found on the shore of the lake, but the bodies have not yet been recovered.

Sheboygan. Testimony at the trial of George Thorne, instructor of the river February 3, carrying three women to their death, Paul Elwood of Milwaukee, the only surviving passenger, declared that the car before the plunge was going 20 miles an hour, and when it leaped into the river was going at least five miles an hour.

Green Bay. The meeting of the carpenters' and painters' committee in an effort to settle the strike which has been on here for several weeks, was unsuccessful. P. J. Wynn, arrested at Hartsford by the deputy sheriff, pleaded guilty before Judge Hanchett of leaving a check on a Seymour bank for $25 without funds in the institution.

Waukegan. Harry Carney, who was arraigned before Judge Arnin in municipal court on a charge of highway robbery, was bound over to the next regular term of court. He pleaded guilty to a charge of grand larceny and was sentenced to serve a term of one year in the state penitentiary at Waupun. Carney is the man who, together with Harry Berger, held up J. J. Moore, operator at the 800 depot, on the night of December 28, 1908.

Burlington. Five yokemen, believed to be tramps, blew the safe at the Milwaukee depot at Lyons and secured about three dollars. They used so great a charge of explosive that the building also was damaged.

Edgerton. Found in a mail sack in Philadelphia after a year after it had been stolen, William McIntosh, a well-known local collector of fowls, changed his conviction. He was a city clerk, but just received a draft for $100 from the postmaster at Philadelphia. He was robbed while stopping at a Philadelphia hotel.

Waupun. Lars Hanson, a prisoner in the state penitentiary here, forced open the door of his cell, climbed through a ventilation opening at the prison and, after reaching the ground made his escape unnoticed by the prison guards. The cell door was pried open with a piece of iron bed which was in the prisoner's cell. After reaching the roof, Hanson let himself down into the prison yard, entered the kitchen shop, where he changed his convict garb for that of a workman and climbed over the wall by means of Remarkable Coincidence in Sum of Money That Rastus Had in His Pocket.

Rastus was on trial, charged with stealing seven dollars and eighty-five cents. He pleaded not guilty, and, as he was unable to hire an attorney, the judge appointed Lawyer Clearman as counsel. Clearman put up a strong plea in defense, and Rastus was acquitted.

Counsel and client met a few minutes later outside the court room. "Now, Rastus," said Clearman, "you know the court allows the counsel very little for defending this kind of case. I worked hard for you and got you clear. I'm entitled to much more pay than I'm getting for my valuable services, and you should dig up a good-sized fee. Have you got any money?"

"Yes, boss," replied Rastus. "I done got seven dollars and eighty-five cents."

THE ALARMING PREVALENCE OF ECZEMA

Find Victims Among Every Race, Age and Condition.

Of all the diseases of the skin and scalp which torture and disfigure mankind, three-fourths are eczema, and it is the only thing other millions have left when they die. Neglected in infancy and childhood, irritating conditions affecting the skin, ignorance of its real nature, improper remedies and many other causes that might be mentioned have created an eczema which, with varying severity, has afflicted countless numbers during their entire lives. Eczema is a skin disease. It is not regarded as hereditary, nor contagious, and is impartially distributed among the rich and poor, the high and low. The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, causing loss of sleep, is usually the most distressing symptom and is caused by the bursting of little vesicles filled with an acid fluid, which burns as with fire the diseased skin. New vesicles form, fill and burst, scales form upon scales, and crusts upon crusts until disfigurement is added to torture.

One of the most successful treatments for eczema, whether applied to the youngest infant or the oldest person, is hot baths with Cuticura Soap and gentle anointings of Cuticura ointment. For more than a generation, these pure, sweet and gentle emollients have proved the most efficient agents in the speedy and permanent relief of all forms of eczema, rashes, itches and irritations of the skin and scalp. Although Cuticura soap and ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, in order that those who have suffered long and hopelessly and who have lost faith in everything may make trial of them without charge, a liberal sample of each will be mailed free to any address, together with a 32-page pamphlet, giving a description and treatment of the various forms of eczema, as well as other affections of the skin, scalp, hair and hands—send to "Cuticura," Dept. W, Boston.

ORCHIDS are not only the most beautiful of flowers, but they are among the rarest of all the products of nature. To find and bring back to civilization the choicest of these petaloid trophies, "orchid hunters" are all the while braving in tropical jungles dangers and hardships as great as confront any present day soldier, of fortune. Similarly there is about the whole family of orchids an atmosphere of mystery such as no longer obtains in the case of any other of nature's standard trinkets—not even in the case of the diamond.

No wonder, then, that as these facts have become more generally known and as the peculiar history and characteristics of the orchids have become common knowledge there have swept in upon us a great wave of sentiment in behalf of the orchid—an almost universal feeling longing to possess and wear these strange flowers with their peculiar thins, soft velvety petals that look so artificial that mere imitations of the orchid pass muster than of any other flower, and their subtle fascination. There is no question, too, that the secret of the fascination of these wonderful flowers is not by any means explained by the mere fact that they are so expensive, which has so often been advanced in explanation of why so many people are eager for these flowers.

No more than half a century ago the whole orchid family was virtually undiscovered. Only a few varieties were known, and they were by no means in general cultivation. Now there is a rich and varied world of orchids for the globe for these fashionable flowers. The utmost parts of the earth are being ransacked for new varieties, under the spur of the enormous prices which collectors will pay for rare "finds" and expensive greenhouses have been installed to permit the cultivation of the more delicate members of the orchid family under the same conditions as to light and temperature which obtain in its ancestral home in the tropics.

The orchids in their native haunts are found growing in all sorts of situations, and naturally when they are transplanted they are hard plants to grow. Moreover, there are no rules for the cultivation of orchids. In other branches of the floral kingdom all the members of a given floral family may be expected to yield to the same general method of cultivation, varied only in minor detail to permit adaptation to the needs of each member of the family. Not so with the eccentric orchids, however. Every plant is seemingly a law unto itself, and likely to require methods of cultivation distinct from those of any other member of the family. The leading firms engaged in the orchid trade retain at large salaries men of wide experience whose sole occupation is to trail the orchid in the almost inaccessible haunts where there is ever the magnet of possible unheard of varieties to beckon one forward.

Sometimes an orchid hunter will search for a year or more, facing the almost intolerable conditions of an unexplored land in order to capture in the end some heretofore unknown variety. During his quest, he is long or short, he must brave foul disease at almost every step; must be ever alert against the hostility of the tribes which inhabit the region he invades; and must risk all sorts of personal mishaps in grasping his prize, even after the quest has been successful, since most of the rare orchids of the tropics flourish only at the tops of the tallest trees. The hunter must either climb the trees, or more likely he will cut them down, but he dare not trust any hands save his own to undertake the task of gathering these fragile flowers.

An energetic orchid hunter will forward great numbers of plants, some rare and others not so rare, to the orchid consuming centers of Europe and America every year, but it is no easy matter to get the orchids to the coast where they have been found and wired into boxes by skillful packers, and on shipboard, even though the temperature of special cabins is regulated to sustain these floral natives of the tropics, there are other perils to be passed, and many plants perish during the ocean voyage. Indeed, it is claimed that on every large consignment of orchids from Brazil or Madagascar or other distant lands, thousands of dollars are lost through the loss of plants and in consequence pass from their voyagers and in consequence pass from their voyagers and in consequence pass from their voyagers.

The roots which come safely to market are usually put up at auction, and since there are no flowers on the plants, and no means of positively identifying them—no even the orchid hunter having seen them in bloom—it is not infrequently happens that what are sold for orchids of a common variety, and consequently bring low price, turn out to be rare and of great value. In this way one unidentified orchid plant that brought half a dollar at an auction sale in London was, when it bloomed, after a lapse of two years, discovered to be such a novelty that the very firm that had disposed of it at auction bought it back for $2,500. This price is by no means a record for a rare orchid, as notable specimens have been sold for sums as high as $5,750. Nor is it necessary that an orchid should be what the layman would regard as distinctly different from all others in order to command a fancy price. If it merely has markings distinct from those on the orchids of the same class which have come to light previously, it will be eagerly sought by collectors who take account of all such minor differences normally cannot exist in good spirits without it. The greatest injury that can come to a woman is the feeling that she awakens no romantic inspiration in her husband. If every husband would tell his wife once a day that he loved her, as well as show it, the world would be much happier. It is not alone necessary to love your wife; you must show it by a thousand things that seem meaningless trifles to the men, but are the larger part of life to a woman.

Origin of the Piano. The pianoforte was directly evolved from the clavichord and the harpsichord. In 1711 Scipione Maffei gave a detailed account of the first four instruments, which were constructed by Bartholomew Christofori. It was named by him the pianoforte and was first exhibited in 1709. Maffei, in 1711, exhibited harpsichords, with hammer action; in 1716, and Schroter, in Germany, claimed to have invented the pianoforte between 1717 and 1720.

Marius was at first generally credited with the invention. Planos of that period were shaped much like the modern grand variety. The first square piano was constructed by Frederick, an organ manufacturer of Saxony, in 1768. The first genuine upright piano was invented in England and the United States by John Isaac Hawkins, an Englishman, in 1850.

No doubt the demonstrations in Metz convinced the Germans that their suspicions were well founded.

Sometimes an orchid hunter will search for a year or more, facing the almost intolerable conditions of an unexplored land in order to capture in the end some heretofore unknown variety. During his quest, he is long or short, he must brave foul disease at almost every step; must be ever alert against the hostility of the tribes which inhabit the region he invades; and must risk all sorts of personal mishaps in grasping his prize, even after the quest has been successful, since most of the rare orchids of the tropics flourish only at the tops of the tallest trees. The hunter must either climb the trees, or more likely he will cut them down, but he dare not trust any hands save his own to undertake the task of gathering these fragile flowers.

An energetic orchid hunter will forward great numbers of plants, some rare and others not so rare, to the orchid consuming centers of Europe and America every year, but it is no easy matter to get the orchids to the coast where they have been found and wired into boxes by skillful packers, and on shipboard, even though the temperature of special cabins is regulated to sustain these floral natives of the tropics, there are other perils to be passed, and many plants perish during the ocean voyage. Indeed, it is claimed that on every large consignment of orchids from Brazil or Madagascar or other distant lands, thousands of dollars are lost through the loss of plants and in consequence pass from their voyagers and in consequence pass from their voyagers.

The roots which come safely to market are usually put up at auction, and since there are no flowers on the plants, and no means of positively identifying them—no even the orchid hunter having seen them in bloom—it is not infrequently happens that what are sold for orchids of a common variety, and consequently bring low price, turn out to be rare and of great value. In this way one unidentified orchid plant that brought half a dollar at an auction sale in London was, when it bloomed, after a lapse of two years, discovered to be such a novelty that the very firm that had disposed of it at auction bought it back for $2,500. This price is by no means a record for a rare orchid, as notable specimens have been sold for sums as high as $5,750. Nor is it necessary that an orchid should be what the layman would regard as distinctly different from all others in order to command a fancy price. If it merely has markings distinct from those on the orchids of the same class which have come to light previously, it will be eagerly sought by collectors who take account of all such minor differences

Origin of the Piano. The pianoforte was directly evolved from the clavichord and the harpsichord. In 1711 Scipione Maffei gave a detailed account of the first four instruments, which were constructed by Bartholomew Christofori. It was named by him the pianoforte and was first exhibited in 1709. Maffei, in 1711, exhibited harpsichords, with hammer action; in 1716, and Schroter, in Germany, claimed to have invented the pianoforte between 1717 and 1720.

Marius was at first generally credited with the invention. Planos of that period were shaped much like the modern grand variety. The first square piano was constructed by Frederick, an organ manufacturer of Saxony, in 1768. The first genuine upright piano was invented in England and the United States by John Isaac Hawkins, an Englishman, in 1850.

No doubt the demonstrations in Metz convinced the Germans that their suspicions were well founded.

ORCHIDS are not only the most beautiful of flowers, but they are among the rarest of all the products of nature. To find and bring back to civilization the choicest of these petaloid trophies, "orchid hunters" are all the while braving in tropical jungles dangers and hardships as great as confront any present day soldier, of fortune. Similarly there is about the whole family of orchids an atmosphere of mystery such as no longer obtains in the case of any other of nature's standard trinkets—not even in the case of the diamond.

No wonder, then, that as these facts have become more generally known and as the peculiar history and characteristics of the orchids have become common knowledge there have swept in upon us a great wave of sentiment in behalf of the orchid—an almost universal feeling longing to possess and wear these strange flowers with their peculiar thins, soft velvety petals that look so artificial that mere imitations of the orchid pass muster than of any other flower, and their subtle fascination. There is no question, too, that the secret of the fascination of these wonderful flowers is not by any means explained by the mere fact that they are so expensive, which has so often been advanced in explanation of why so many people are eager for these flowers.

No more than half a century ago the whole orchid family was virtually undiscovered. Only a few varieties were known, and they were by no means in general cultivation. Now there is a rich and varied world of orchids for the globe for these fashionable flowers. The utmost parts of the earth are being ransacked for new varieties, under the spur of the enormous prices which collectors will pay for rare "finds" and expensive greenhouses have been installed to permit the cultivation of the more delicate members of the orchid family under the same conditions as to light and temperature which obtain in its ancestral home in the tropics.

The orchids in their native haunts are found growing in all sorts of situations, and naturally when they are transplanted they are hard plants to grow. Moreover, there are no rules for the cultivation of orchids. In other branches of the floral kingdom all the members of a given floral family may be expected to yield to the same general method of cultivation, varied only in minor detail to permit adaptation to the needs of each member of the family. Not so with the eccentric orchids, however. Every plant is seemingly a law unto itself, and likely to require methods of cultivation distinct from those of any other member of the family. The leading firms engaged in the orchid trade retain at large salaries men of wide experience whose sole occupation is to trail the orchid in the almost inaccessible haunts where there is ever the magnet of possible unheard of varieties to beckon one forward.

IN OBEDIENCE TO ORDERS

French Boy Caused Merriment by Taking the Order of the Court Too Literally.

A droll incident is reported as having taken place in one of the provincial appeal courts in France. A boy, about 14, was summoned to give evidence, and his appearance was such as to move the whole court to laughter. He wore a long redingote, peculiar to the Basque country, and immense boots. His trousers, collar and hat were unquestionably those of a man. The court was amused, and the president asked the boy how he dared to treat the court in such a manner. The boy seemed as surprised as the president, and taking out the citation from his pocket, read the formula inviting him, "Comparez dans les affaires de son pere." (To appear in his father's suit.) (To appear in his father's suit.)

Crippled by Tuberculosis.

According to a recent report by Dr. Conrad Wieselski of Berlin, there are 75,000 cripples in the German empire out of a population of 65,000,000. Over 50,000 of the cripples are in need of proper treatment. Doctor Wieselski states that in 15 per cent. of the cripples examined, their deformity was due to tuberculosis of the bones and joints, and that there were 10,000 such children in great need of medical treatment. He advocates the establishment of seaside sanatoria for this latter class of cripples.

Deaths From Wild Beasts in India.

Wild beasts and snakes were the cause of 21,994 deaths in India in 1908. Tigers killed 900 people, leopards 302, wolves 269, other wild animals 686, and snakes 16,744. While 17,920 wild animals and 70,494 snakes were destroyed.

KEEP THE STREAMS CLEAN AND PURE!

Streams are beautiful and should not be made otherwise by throwing rubbish into them or upon their banks.

Pure Water is necessary to all human and animal life.

Rivers and brooks are the natural purveyors of water, respect them. Throw nothing into them. Prevent all foul waters from reaching them.

Running waters are life givers. Make them not life takers by allowing foreign matter to render them poisonous to man, beast, bird and fish.

Pleasures leave no refuse in or near the springs, brooks, rivers, ponds, or lakes which have contributed to your day's pleasure. The banks which brought all are large enough to carry away the fragments.

Flotation is not just fish cleaning back into the water.

Household refuse, no dish-water or other slops when it can find its way into a stream.

Farmers do not let your vault or barn-yard drainage seep away to the nearby stream.

Chambers bury or burn all rubbish. Select carefully and judiciously the spot on which to build a fire. Watch constantly the fire while burning. Extinguish every spark before leaving the site of the fire. Do not countenance the stream by washing soiled clothes in them. Carry the water for this purpose in pail or tub to a place at some little distance from the shore.

Manufacturers poison not the stream with chemicals, refuse, or debris of any kind.

Cities and towns send your Sewerage Commissioners to Craydon, England, (ten miles from London), to study the oldest and most successful sewage filtration plant and sewage farm. If this is impossible, at least write for information. Pollute not the stream with your sewage.

Let the purity of streams be jealously and sorely guarded from their sources to their mouths by the young and old that they may be the blessings which God intended.

Win Silver Cup Again.

For the second time the Wisconsin Patternmakers' Association, organized under the auspices of the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin, has carried off the silver trophy offered by the Creamery Journal of Waterloo, for the association having the highest average score of butter exhibited at its annual convention. The most noticeable feature of this second victory was the uniformity in the excellence of the product from year to year. Last year 148 Wisconsin entries scored an average of 92.90, while this year 176 entries averaged 93.31.

Wisconsin has been carrying on a very persistent campaign of education among her creamerymen through the medium of the dairy school at the state college of agriculture. The value of the monthly educational workings at Madison is shown by the improvement in the quality and uniformity of the butter produced in the state.

Square Deal for Rural Carriers.

Rural mail carriers will not be required to wear uniforms hereafter under the terms of a bill introduced by Representative Hamilton of Missouri, and they will have the right to communicate to members of congress any complaint or petitions they desire to make, a privilege all introduced provides $300 a year extra to each rural carrier to reimburse him for the expense of horse and wagon.

PITTSVILLE.

Previous to their departure for Canada, the Royal Neighbors effected a surprise on Mrs. H. Stover at the home of Roy Pinney in this city. The evening was enjoyably spent.

J. S. Irwin, north of the city, has sold his farm to J. Zimmerman, of Madison. He has bought in Adams county a 160 acre farm and his son Fred Irwin has bought a place near him, an eighty.

Mrs. Alzina Curtiss, who has been visiting at the Palmer residence here, left last week for Stanley to visit a sister, from whence she went to her home in Montana.

Jacob Drohr, grand lecturer of the P. & A. M. lodge of the state, was in the city Wednesday night of last week and gave the boys instructions in some of the work of the order.

Dr. Hougou went up to Marshfield Friday of last week and brought back his new auto, the Cole, which he bought at the show at Milwaukee last winter. It is a beauty.

C. E. Hewitt moved his family and household goods to Grand Rapids the first part of the week. He says the new firm, the "Grand Rapids Real Estate Co.," of which he is a member, is doing a rattling good business.

They have the Irwin farm and a farm near Seneca Corners for rent to the right party.

A pair of colts belonging to Wm. Sculler took flight Sunday and did considerable damage to a nice new sary. The family had driven up to the Lutheran church to attend the Easter services when at the top of the big bell the colts made a dash, upsetting the rik and hurting slightly one of the boys.

Most of the family were out when the start was made. The postoffice was moved the fore part of the week into the new quarters which had been made ready for it previously. The change is much for the better, making a cozier, more place all round for the government business.

Miss Capitola Kiebler of Grand Rapids is spending a week or two in the city, a guest of her young lady friends.

ALTDORF

Geo. Dawes and family spent Sunday at Robert Leu's.

Mary Hauser has returned home from an extended trip thru the east having been in Pennsylvania, Tennessee and other states.

C. J. Leu was at Marshfield last Wednesday in attendance at the Central Wisconsin Holstein-Friesian association where he delivered an address. Mr. Leu was again re-elected president of this association for another year.

At the A. S. of E. meeting recently held at Vesper the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: A. P. Benn, Pres.; Wm. Elliott, Vice Pres.; O. J. Leu, secretary and Treasurer.

A. Huet has purchased a horse of the Equitable Creamery company so that he again has two teams to work his large farm of 305 acres.

Prof. G. J. Baker of the Minnesota Agricultural College spent Sunday here looking over his farm just west of here.

Our teacher A. H. Gould was sick several days the latter part of last week so that there was no school the last three days.

The Wipit cheese factory will start up next Monday for the summer run.

One Day This Moon.

—My day at Grand Rapids this moon will be May the 3rd at which time I will be glad to wait on all who suffer, and are unable to find relief elsewhere. I have no specialties, I treat all ailments, as all ailments come under moon's influence. I use no medicine, no knife. Moon's power is greater than all these.

Remember the date May 3rd, at the Witter House. Phillip Yaokel.

NEKOOSA

J. M. Skinner, Grand Chief Templar of the Independent Order of Good Templars, was in Nekoosa twice in the last week, his business being to organize a lodge of Good Templars. He first called a meeting for Tuesday evening, April 11, at the Congregational church, but so few were present that the attempt at organizing was abandoned. Mr. Skinner came here again about the middle of the week and selected Friday evening, at the same place, for another meeting. At this time a number of workers from Grand Rapids came down to assist in the organization, but again the attendance was not large enough to enable the plans to be carried to completion.

H. E. Herrick was called to Plainfield Wednesday to attend the funeral of his cousin, Mrs. Zelinda T. Harrison. Her husband died in South Dakota and the remains brought back for burial. Mr. Herrick met the funeral party at Junction City, from which place they went to Plainfield, where the remains were laid to rest.

A marriage license was issued last week to Paul Kolmen and Miss Francis R. Reimer.

Wm. Kater has purchased a new disc harrow from J. D. Smith of Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Andrew Winger has been on the sick list but is on the gain at this writing.

Chas. Fuller has completed his barn shingling.

George Johnson is employed by the St. Paul railway.

Oliver Dudley is staying on his farm in Rudolph. He expects to stay there this summer and improve its appearance somewhat by fall.

We understand that Frank Kater expects to move on the Beaty farm in South Rudolph formerly the old Corner place. Mr. Beaty has rented the Spafford farm where he expects to move soon.

Mrs. Geo. Elliott was shopping in your city Monday afternoon.

is reflected in person who couple a careful, wholesome diet with the moderate use of an invigorating, healthful food beverage like

GRAND RAPIDS BEER

The ruddy good nature manifest in those who indulge in an occasional glass of beer, like Grand Rapids Beer, is proverbial. They are good natured because they have gained strength, health and vigor from its use. In striking contrast are the pessimistic coffee or tea drinkers and the optimistic beer drinker.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Mrs. C. A. Bortman and children returned today from a two week visit with relatives in Madison.

Mrs. Mary Paul of the town of Grant was among the business callers at the Tribune office on Tuesday.

Ex Sheriff Michael Griffin of Marshfield was in the city on Sunday to attend the K. of C. initiation and installation.

A marriage license has been issued at Stevens Point to K. J. Maroon of Randolph and Margaret O. Russell of Stevens Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Livernash of Haddonfield and daughter, Mrs. Scott of Star Lake were in the city shopping on Tuesday.

Pat Dolan resigned his position in the freight house at the St. Paul depot on Sunday. Rob Lenley has taken the position vacated by Mr. Dolan.

The Ernest Remond house and two lots on Eleventh Avenue near the Polish church was sold this week to Frank Olsky, the sale being made by O. E. Boles.

Prof. J. W. Morrill left on Monday for Loxanport, Ind., where he will attend the wedding of one of his daughters. He expects to return the latter part of the week.

A. B. Carlson, agent for the Soo Ry., at Trevor, is spending a month's vacation in the city visiting with his mother. Mr. Carlson left on Monday for a few days visit with relatives in Ladocrow.

Paul Ochoa of Stanley, N. D., is visiting his friends about the city for a few days. Paul came to Wisconsin with the body of a friend, who died in Dakota, the remains being interred at Racine. The Ochoa's recently sold their drug store at Stanley and are looking for a new location.

Ed. Harding of New London spent a couple of days in the city this week visiting with friends and relatives.

Messrs. Chas. Kellogg, Dr. O. T. Houken, F. J. Wood, E. E. Ames, R. L. Nash and George Harpington were in Marshfield on Tuesday to attend the funeral of Dr. H. A. Lathrop.

L. M. Nash received a team of five Percheron horses on Monday from Wild Rose which were purchased for him by Mr. Bean. The team will be taken to Mr. Nash's farm near Junction City.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Lyons of Marshfield spent Sunday in the city visiting with friends. Mr. Lyons' eyes have been bothering considerably of late so that at times he is not able to take his run regularly as engineer on the Soo line.

Theo. Gardner, who has been employed as taxman at the St. Paul crossing for several years, has taken the position as round house foreman for the St. Paul Co. here. Mr. Williams of Tomah has taken Mr. Gardner's position as flagman.

W. H. Barnes is preparing to move into the empty store building in the Wood County National Bank building formerly occupied by J. T. Schumacher. The front is being altered and a partition put into the back end. This is the location occupied by Mr. Barnes some years ago.

Missionary Meeting.

The Ladies Foreign Missionary Society of the Congregational church will hold their monthly meeting on Tuesday afternoon, May 2, at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Daly.

A report of the state convention at Lake Mills will be given at this meeting and a large attendance is desired.

With the Good Templars.

The quarterly spring election of the Grand Rapids Lodge of Good Templars Monday night resulted as follows:

Chief Templar, Geo. T. Nixon; Vice Templar, Miss Ruth Benson; reelected; Past Chief Templar, Hugo Lind; Secretary, Miss Lella Jero; Financial secretary, Mrs. J. W. Lemley, reelected; Treasurer, Mrs. A. D. Hill, reelected. The above officers will be installed next Monday night by the lodge deputy, Roland R. Baldwin, representing the Grand Lodge of Wisconsin.

Although the balloting continued for nearly two hours, and hundreds of votes were collected and counted by the tellers, the Misses Beatrice Dunavan, Lella Jero and Lella Steen, the best of harmony prevailed and both the successful and defeated candidates were given ovations.

A vote of thanks was tendered the pastor and Board of Trustees of the Grand Rapids M. E. church for the use of their church on April 9 for a Public Temperance meeting held under the auspices of the lodge.

An elaborate musical and literary program which had been prepared for the evening by Miss Olive Feavel, was on account of the lateness of the hour, postponed until the next meeting.

P. L. Utley and a Mr. King of Escanaba were in the city on Friday and Saturday looking after some business matters. Mr. Utley at one time had charge of our electric plant here but for some time past has been located at Escanaba where he is interested in an electrical power plant.

The west side Ladies Aid Society of the Congregational church will hold a provision sale on Saturday, April 29, at Otto's Pharmacy, commencing at 11 o'clock.

VESPER

George Harpington, of Grand Rapids, the leading agent for the Ford Automobile Company, sold a car to G. E. Martin, President of the State Bank of Vesper. Mr. Martin is well satisfied with his purchase and says the Ford is the only machine. They made the trip from Milwaukee to Grand Rapids in ten hours, though the roads were in very bad condition, they passed thru about thirty-five miles of heavy sand, the entire trip was made without the least trouble, using about 8 1/2 gallons of gasoline. Anyone wishing to purchase a new car would do well to call on Mr. Harpington as he is a master of all machines.

Vesper is beginning to be noted for its prosperity. It is getting so it can support two barber shops. Another shop will be opened in the new Searls hotel just as soon as Mr. Searls can get the rooms ready.

There were six real estate deals made in Vesper last week. Olin Ratzel, the superintendent of the Vesper Safety Cylinders and Mellenbros Iron Co., purchased the John Hayes property of Mr. Goldsworthy. Geo. Martin the president of the Vesper Bank purchased Ed. Plunzger's house and lot, No. 66 Cameron Ave.

Frank Jagodzinski purchased two lots in Fairview Addition. Harry Cole sold his ice cream parlor, 111 Virginia Street, to a party of Grand Rapids. Walter Truettel sold his house and lot, 87 Elm Street to Frank Morris. Geo. Bliesner, Vesper's painter and decorator, purchased a lot in Fairview Addition.

Henry Staven has excavated and began laying the stone wall for a cellar on his lot in Fairview Addition. The church fair held in the hall last Friday evening by the Ladies Aid Society of the Lutheran church was a grand success. It was the largest and best church fair ever held in Vesper.

KELLNER

Miss Clara Hoske is visiting at the home of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Loeffelstein in your city.

There will be total eclipse of the sun Friday, April 29, visible as a partial eclipse throughout the greater part of the United States and down
to Panama, over the middle Pacific ocean, and eastern Australia. The path of the totality lies wholly in the ocean, passing over some groups
of islands. Grand Rapids will be close to the northern limit of visibility of the partial eclipse, and a little entering of the disk moon may be detected about three quarters of an hour before sunset.
O. J. Fay who has charge of the Soo depot in this city has recently received property at Ellsford near Sturgeon Bay and expects to leave for that city about the first of May to take charge of the hotel there. The affair is a stock company being owned by Mr. Fay, H. B. Sherwood and M. T. Halnes of Sturgeon Bay. The property controlled by the company comprises a hotel and several cottages and is ideally situated for summer resort purposes. Mr. Fay's many friends in this city will wish him success in his new location.

parted for Madison on Monday night after spending several days in the city.
Will Powell of Stevens Point, manager for the Wisconsin Telephone Company, was in the city Wednesday on business.
Mike Slattery of Wausau was in the city on Sunday to take in the Knights of Columbus doing and visit with relatives.
Frank Abel had the misfortune to break his left arm on Saturday while engaged in handling pulp wood at the Port Edwards mill.
Paul Schwartz departed on Monday for Rochester, Minn., where he has been employed at his trade as brick layer for some time.
Mr. and Mrs. L. Warren returned to their home at Ogen on Friday after a two weeks visit in the city visiting at the George Cole home.
L. M. Mathis has purchased the Moulter property on the corner of Haker and Eighth streets. The property is one of the nice residences in that section of the city.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fandrich of Glasgow, Mont., arrived in the city last week for a visit at the Umas Fandrich home. Mr. Fandrich is employed as a fireman on the Great Northern Ry.
E. O. Ketchum and a gang of workmen commenced the work of moving the Rosier house on Monday from its present location to the Ackman lot.
The building is now owned and occupied by Charles Natwick.
Mrs. E. B. Brundage entertained a party of ladies at her home on Friday afternoon, bridge whilst being the form of amusement. Refreshments were served during the afternoon and a very pleasant time resulted.

Rooske returned on Monday evening from Milwaukee, Watertown, Chicago and other points where they had visited since the previous Friday.
They report a very pleasant trip.
John White of Marshfield was a business visitor in the city on Monday, and while here he favored the Tribune office with a pleasant call.
Mr. White expects to get out the first issue of his new paper on the fifth of May.
Louis Goudreau has rented a part of the blacksmith shop now occupied by Ed. McCarthy, and intends to start up there as soon as his tools arrive. Mr. Goudreau will do a general repair business as heretofore, while Mr. McCarthy will attend to the horse shoeing.
Rev. Wm. Gieseler of the town of Hazel, Wis. Henry Maack of this city and Rev. Geo. Fierke of Nekoma arrived in the city on Monday to visit his friends here for a few days. Mr.

Dewey had charge of the Johnson &
Hill drug department in this city before going west, and since going out there has become interested in a drug concern. Mr. Dewey reports things pretty quiet in the west at present, but they are looking for a revival of things in the near future.
Dr. H. A. Lathrop of Marshfield died on Sunday afternoon after an illness that had extended over a year or more, the immediate cause of death being heart failure. Mr. Lat-throp suffered a stroke of paralysis about a year ago, since which time he has been more or less ailing, and he had returned but a short time ago from a trip thru the south where he had gone with the hope of benefiting his health. The funeral was held on Tuesday.
There will be total eclipse of the sun Friday, April 29, visible as a partial eclipse throughout the greater part of the United States and down
to Panama, over the middle Pacific ocean, and eastern Australia. The path of the totality lies wholly in
the ocean, passing over some groups
of islands. Grand Rapids will be
close to the northern limit of visibility of the partial eclipse, and a

George Slosson, the popular representative of the Cable Piano Co., of Chicago, transacted business in the city several days the past week.
Dave Woodruff, secretary of the Vesper Wood Mfg. Co., was a business visitor in the city on Saturday.
This office acknowledges a pleasant call.
Huntington & Leasing sold another Ford car at Vesper last week, and George Huntington left for Milwaukee on Saturday evening to drive the machine up.
John Kollman, an employee of the Consolidated mill, had his right arm badly wrenched and broken while at work Saturday forenoon.
Charles Jones of the Vesper State Bank at Vesper, was a business visitor in the city last Saturday. He reports things moving along with their customary rapidity at Vesper.
The inhabitants of Junction City are going to hold an election on May 4th to decide whether or not they will incorporate into a village. It is expected that the matter will be carried with very little opposition.
Gottschalk & Anderson have executed a limited for the latest modern and will start in a crew of men to-laying the foundation for the new store building which they expect to complete by July first.
The sale of Spice showed to be a pretty good one at Daly's Theater on Sunday evening, and those present seemed to appreciate the production.
Some of the principal characters were the same that appeared when the production was put on here before.
The band will give a concert at Daly's Theater on Tuesday evening,
May 2 for the purpose of introducing their new director to the public.
Prof. Merrill will play a violin solo, as well as a cornet solo. Tickets will be 25 cents each.
H. H. Hoover, cashier at the Soo depot, returned on Thursday from South Dakota where he filed on a homestead seven miles south of Timber Lake. Mr. Hoover's homestead joins the homestead taken up by Rev. A. Lincoln Patsun several weeks ago.
Peter Redmond, formerly of the town of Rudolph, was a pleasant caller at the Tribune office on Saturday. Mr. Redmond recently sold his farm at Rudolph and moved to Danbury, where he is now making his home.
Mr. Redmond left for his home the same evening.
The Goddess of Liberty, produced at Daly's Theater on Thursday evening, was one of the best musical shows ever produced in this city.
The crowd in attendance, however,
was not so large as had been hoped for and Manager Daly reports that it failed to break even.
Stevens Point held an enthusiastic baseball meeting one night last week and organized an Association. They expect to have a good team the coming season. Pete Schriener, who formerly played here, will manage their team. They expect to from out a high priced battery from the Denver league team.
The band gave a concert and skating party at the rink on Friday evening which was largely attended. Prof.
Merrill played a cornet solo during the concert which was highly appreciated by those present. The band will give a concert at Daly's Theater on Tuesday, May 2d.
O. C. Belanger has sent to Oregon for two chimpanzee bear cubs, which he proposes to raise and train to skate and perform. Mr. Belanger was the one who taught Alice Teddy most of her tricks and he is under the impression that with his past experience to aid him he could take another bear and do even better.
A doctor in Paris has discovered a new effort of life. He took an old broken down horse and gave him a couple of injections of radium into the jugular vein, and the animal has since been gaining flesh and is apparently a young horse again. Maybe the doctor's discovery might be good for the treatment of tramps who feel too weary to work, and it would be well for our police department to look into the matter.
Rev. and Mrs. H. Maack were responsible on Wednesday afternoon for number of their friends, the occasion being their 30th wedding anniversary.
Among those in attendance were: Rev.
Geo. Fierke and wife of Nekoma, Rev. Wm. Gieseler and wife of Sigel, Rev. A. Krause and wife of Kellner, Rev. Wm. Nommensen and wife of Grand Rapids, Rev. R. Poite of Sherry and Rev. V. Gausch of Pittsville. The afternoon was spent in happy company.

Moving Day Warning.
The possible dangers of moving into a house, the former tenants of which are unknown, and a cheap and efficient means of disinfection are contained in a bulletin issued by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association.
A bulletin is issued annually by the association upon the known dangers of the undisinfected house and the habit of the American people to move on May 1.
Investigation conducted in various cities of the state have shown that many cases of tuberculosis are due to families moving into an undisinfected house, the former occupant of which was a consumptive. It is in an attempt to prevent this that the warning is issued and a method of disinfection is given.
The formaldehyde disinfection is employed by the New York City health department. In preparing the house, all outside cracks in windows,
doors, walls or floor should be closed with cotton or strips of cloth. It also should be remembered that, after the gas has been generated, it is necessary to leave the house as soon as possible. It is possible after the disinfection, to rush in and open the doors and windows. It is recommended that the disinfection should last over night, or from six to ten hours.
Formaldehyde is a gas put on the market in the form of a solution in water. The gas is regenerated by pouring the solution on crystals of potassium permanganate.
For this purpose, a metal pail is placed in the center of each room on newspapers or a piece of asbestos. In the pail, after it has been warmed, is placed one-half pound of potassium permanganate crystals for each 1,000 cubic feet of air space to be disinfected. Not more than one pound of crystals should be placed in one pail.
Formaldehyde is then poured over the crystals in the proportion of one pint to one-half pound of crystals.
The reaction takes place immediately, and the gas will be driven off in great clouds.
So soon as the chemicals have been put together, one should get to the exit. If, after the room has been aired after disinfection, the odor of formaldehyde persists, it can be neutralized by hanging sheets or towels in the rooms and sprinkling them with ammonia water.
The cost of materials for disinfecting is slight. A drug store charges 20 cents per quart for the formaldehyde solution and 35 cents per pound for the potassium permanganate crystals. Thus, the total cost for a house of 10,000 cubic feet would be only $3.75.
Miles of Carpet.
A solid train of sixty cars, containing 15,000 rolls of carpet, leaves
Chicago via the Chicago & North Western Ry. 3 A. M. today for Omaha. The train is enroute from New York to San Francisco.
The special train is over a half a mile in length.
There are five hundred miles of carpet in the shipment; this represents carpet enough to lay a width the entire length of the line of the Chicago & North Western Ry. from Chicago to Omaha.
It is the product of the Alexander
Smith & Sons Carpet Works, Yorkers, N. Y. To make these carpets required the labor of 7,800 workers for eight days, an equivalent of one day's work for 92,400 operators, and it is well piled up in rolls one top of another over an area of 400 square feet. It would overlap the Sligo Building tower, New York City.
The weight of the carpet is 1,000, 000 lbs. and it is valued at almost $1,000,000.
Such a shipment over a decade ago would have been beyond the imagination of the most optimistic weaver, and is the tangible evidence of the remarkable growth of the carpet weaving industry in America. It goes to supply the ever increasing demand on the Pacific Coast.
A Rattling Good Show.
—Damon's Colored Musical Company, who will appear at the opera house on the evening of Sunday, April 30, and will present the same high class program that has won for them such flattering praise from managers, newspapers and the general public during the past several seasons.
The company is large and a meritorious one, and includes Prof. A. M.
Damon, the world's greatest colored violinist, Miss Damon, prima donna, besides a cast thoroughly proficient in every way. The company is well equipped with good singers, dancers and comedians, and the public can depend upon a pleasing performance on the evening of this engagement. One notable feature of the organization is the bevy of bright, smiling, sweet singing, artistic dancing colored girls from the land of Israel, graduate every one of the highest high workstanding, and from the houses of refinement and loving family surroundings. In fact, a "clean, moral and refined company" is the verdict rendered wherever Damon's Musical Company appears. The opportunity to be present should not be missed. The prices for this engagement have been reduced to 10, 20 and 30 cents and tickets are on sale in advance at the usual place.

Council Proceedings.
Council Chamber April 18th 1911.
Council met in last session, President
Ellis presiding.
Present: Aldermen, Andrew, Bamberg, Gretzloff, Gilmoister, Pribnow, Dixon,
Nash, Mosher, Payne and Jeffrey. Absent: Alderman Davis.
On motion the reading of the minutes of the last meeting was dispensed with.
Mr. Chas. Brey appeared before the Council in an advisory capacity and stated that the hand boys had been very fortunate in getting the services of Mr.
J. W. Merrill as leader of the hand to be used in the sidewalk work. The city would pay Mr. Merrill $75.00 per month.
On motion by unanimous vote the clerk calling the roll Mr. J. W. Merrill was engaged for one year at a salary of $75.00 per month.
Mr. D. M. Huntington appeared before the Council and stated that the fire engine needed a new boiler and that he did not consider ours safe. On motion the president appointed D. M. Huntington and Alderman Gilmoister and Brey a committee to find what the cost of a new boiler would be and report at the next meeting of the Council.
Mr. J. C. Cohen appeared before the Council asking that permission be granted him to have a solid brick building erected on Lot 15 Block 30, Newe's Addition to the City of Grand Rapids.
Mr. Cohen was informed that by filling the proper plans and specifications as per the fire limits ordinance with the plans and specifications would be granted.
Mr. Cohen asked permission of the Council to let the building be moved somewhere he had placed it. Moved and seconded that Mr. Cohen's building be allowed to stand where placed.
Motion lost.
The committee to whom was referred the petition for changing drop harnesses for the fire departments reported that they were unable to come to an agreement as one department favored the change and the other did not.
On motion the report was laid on the table. The sewer committee to whom was referred the petition of Chas. Fanschick to change the sewer from the main body to lay, construct and maintain four catch basins at the intersection of Twelfth and Saginaw streets reported concurring with the prayer of the petitioners be granted and that the necessary catch basins be put in on Twelfth street at the same time.
On motion the report was adopted and work ordered done by unanimous vote the clerk calling the roll.
The committee to whom was referred the petition of Grand Rapids Improvement Association in relation to the city appropriating $200.00, to obtain the services of a landscape gardener to lay out and plant trees and shrubs and report favorably recommending that the appropriation be granted.
On motion the recommendation was adopted and the clerk calling the roll.
Ayes, Andrew, Dixon,
Nash, Payne and Jeffrey. Nayes, Bamberg, Abel, Billmyre, Gretzloff, Gilmoister, Lukowski, Pribnow and Mosher.
The committee that was appointed to visit Menasha made the following report:
Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, Apr. 3, 1911.
The Hon. Mayor and Council,
City of Grand Rapids, Wis.: Gentlemen: Your committee appointed to inspect the Menasha pumping works, in which the Diesel engine is used, would report that they had been on March 22nd and were shown through the plant by the city clerk, Mr. Little, and the engineer in charge, Mr. J. H. Phillips, in detail the workings of the Diesel engine.
The committee found that all the statements heretofore reported in regard to the efficiency of the Diesel engine and of maintenance were fully corroborated, in fact the operating expense is less than that reported, in that the engine given $10.00 per hour for fuel and oil, while at present they are paying $27.00 per gallon.
The committee were fortunate in meeting the Western Sales Manager
Mr. J. H. Phillips of the Diesel Engine Co. who happened at Menasha that day,
and in company with him we visited the shops at Oshkosh where one of the best
H. P. engines were on the test bench.
This plant at Oshkosh puts out a complete engine every ten days. The other shops of the Diesel Engine Co., are located at Providence, Rhode Island.
Your committee is very favorably impressed with the Diesel Engine, but we do not wish to bid competition in the selection of a power, and we therefore recommend that proposals be received for the installation of a power for our pumping plant, such proposals to be received by the Mayor and Council guarantee as to efficiency, operating and maintenance cost.
R. L. NASH,
J. H. PHILLIPS,
JOHN BAMBERG,
FRED PPIEFER,
FRED DUNCAN.
Committee.
On motion the report was adopted.
The sewer committee reported on the petition of J. B. Pirmann and others praying for honorable body to lay and construct a sewer on Fremont street and 7th Ave. South reported recommending that the sewer should not be built until it can be connected with the main sewer. On motion the report was adopted.
City Attorney Calkins to whom was referred the bill of W. G. Henke for over charges on sewer charges, recommending that the bill be disallowed for the reason that Mr. Henke paid the same tax per front foot sewer as other people in the city.
On motion the report was adopted.
City Attorney Calkins to whom was referred the bill of F. J. Wood for excess taxes reported recommending that the bill be allowed.
On motion the report was adopted and the clerk instructed to charge the bill.
City Attorney Calkins to whom was referred the claim of Louis Schepard for excess sewer tax reported recommending that the claim be disallowed.
The following report was presented:
RESOLUTION.
Whereas, Mar. 4, 1909, the Common Council of this City granted to the Grand Rapids Street Railroad Company a franchise to build and operate a street railroad, and in consideration of said franchise, as in said franchise; and Whereas, Section 15 thereof in part is as follows:
"Provided that that part of the franchise for the construction of the line of street railroad in said City on the streets and corners of the city of Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, shall be subject to the construction of said line of street railroad on the Wisconsin River within two years from the date of the passage and publication of the ordinance, and no exercise within said period of time the franchise for completing the street railroad on streets east of the Wisconsin River, and no extension of said line of street railroad shall expire and be of no effect."
Whereas, said railroad has not been and cannot be constructed within the time limited on the east side of said river, and said franchise, as herein before said and suitable for the carriage of the cars of said railroad, has not been

The property controlled by the company comprises a hotel and several cottages and is ideally situated for summer resort purposes. Mr. Fay's many friends in this city will wish him success in his new location.

Moving Day Warning.

The possible dangers of moving into a home, the former tenants of which are unknown, and a cheap and efficient means of disinfection are contained in a bulletin issued by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association.

A bulletin is issued annually by the association upon the known danger of the undisinfected house and the habit of the American people to move on May 1.

Investigations conducted in various cities of the state have shown that many cases of tuberculosis are due to families moving into an undisinfected house, the former occupant of which was a consumptive. It is in an attempt to prevent this that the warning is issued, and a method of disinfection is given.

The formaldehyde disinfection is employed by the New York City health department. In preparing the house, all outside cracks in windows, doors, walls or floor should be closed with cotton or strips of cloth. It is also should be remembered that, after the gas has been generated, it is necessary to leave the house as soon as possible. It is possible after the disinfection, to rush in and open the doors and windows. It is recommended that the disinfection should last over night, or from six to ten hours.

Formaldehyde is a gas put on the market in the form of a solution in water. The gas is regenerated by pouring the solution on crystals of potassium permanganate.

For this purpose, a metal pail is placed in the center of each room on newspapers or a piece of asbestos. The pail, after it has been warmed, is placed one-half pound of potassium permanganate crystals for each 1,000 cubic feet of air space to be disinfected. Not more than one pound of crystals should be placed in one pail.

Formaldehyde is then poured over the crystals in the proportion of one pint to one-half pound of crystals. The reaction takes place immediately, and the gas will be driven off in great clouds.

So soon as the chemicals have been put together, one should go to the exit. If, after the room has been aired after disinfection, the odor of formaldehyde persists, it can be neutralized by hanging sheets or towels in the rooms and sprinkling them with ammonia water.

The cost of materials for disinfecting is slight. A drug store charges 20 cents per quart for the formaldehyde solution and 35 cents per pound for the potassium permanganate crystals. Thus, the total cost for a house of 10,000 cubic feet would be only $2.75.

Council Proceedings.

Council Chamber April 18th 1911.

Council met in last session, President Ellis presiding.

Members present: Aldermen, Andrew, Bamberg, Abel, Billmyre, Gilmeister, Lukasek, Pribbanow, Dixon, Nash, Mosher, Payne and Jeffrey. Absent Alderman Davis.

On motion the reading of the minutes of the last meeting was dispensed with.

Mr. Chas. Brier appeared before the Council in behalf of the city land stating that the land he had been very fortunate in getting the services of Mr. J. W. Merrill as leader of the band to succeed Mr. F. L. Bliss provided the city would pay Mr. Merrill $75.00 per month.

On motion by unanimous vote the clerk calling the roll Mr. J. W. Merrill was engaged for one year at a salary of $75.00 per month.

Mr. D. M. Huntington appeared before the council and stated that the fire engine needed a new boiler and that he did not consider one safe. On motion the president appointed D. M. Huntington a committee to find what the cost of a new boiler would be and report at the next meeting of the council.

Mr. Jos. Cohen appeared before the council asking that permission be granted him to have a solid brick building erected on Lot 15 Block 30 Neeve's addition to the City of Grand Rapids.

Mr. Cohen stated that he had been filling the proper plans and specifications as per the fire limits ordinance with the clerk the permit would be granted.

Mr. Cohen asked that the committee of the council let the building he had moved set where he had placed it. Moved and seconded that Mr. Cohen's building be allowed to set where placed.

Motion lost.

Moved and seconded that Mr. Cohen be granted permission to move the building back where it formerly set. Motion lost.

The committee to whom was referred the matter of purchasing drop harnesses for the fire departments reported that they were unable to come to an agreement as one department favored the harness and the other did not.

On motion the report was laid on the table.

The sewer committee to whom was referred the petition of Chas. Fanderich and others praying for a sewer main to be constructed and maintained four catch basins at the intersection of Twelfth and Saratoga streets reported recommending that the prayer of the petitioners be granted and that the necessary catch basins be put in on Twelfth street at the same time.

On motion the report was adopted and work ordered.

The committee to whom was referred the petition of the Grand Rapids Improvement Association in relation to the city appropriating money to construct a large park garden to lay out a park, river banks and parks reported favorably recommending that the appropriation be granted.

On motion the resolution was adopted by the following vote the clerk calling the roll. Ayes, Andrew, Dixon, Nash, Bamberg and Jeffrey. Nays, Gilmeister, Lukasek, Pribbanow and Mosher.

The committee that was appointed to visit Menasha made the following report:

Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, Apr. 3, 1911.

The Hon. the Mayor and Council, City of Grand Rapids, Wis.

Gentlemen: Your committee was pleased to inspect the Menasha pumping works, in which the Diesel engine is used, would report that they visited Menasha on March 22nd and were shown through the plant by the city clerk, Mr. Little, and the engineer of the station who explained in detail the working of the Diesel engine.

The committee heretofore reported in regard to the efficiency, operating expense and cost of maintenance were fully corroborated, in fact the operating expense was less than that reported in that the figures given were based on four cent oil, whereas at present they are paying .0275c per gallon.

The committee were fortunate in meeting the Western Sales Manager, Mr. Pague, of the Diesel Engine Co. who happened at Menasha that day, and in company with him were shown the plant where one of their 225 H. P. engines were on the test block. This plant at Cudahy puts out a complete engine every ten days. The other shops of the Diesel Engine Co. are located at Providence, Rhode Island.

Your committee is very favorably impressed with the Diesel Engine, but we do not wish to bar competition in the selection of a power, and would therefore recommend that proposals be received for the installation of a power for our pumping plant, such proposals to be accompanied by the necessary guarantee as to efficiency, operating and maintenance cost.

R. L. NASH,
E. I. PHILLIPS,
JOHN BAMBERG,
FRED PEIFFER,
FRED DUNCAN,
Committee.

On motion the report was adopted.

The sewer committee reported on the petition of J. P. Henke for a sewer to be constructed on Fremont street and 7th Ave. South reported recommending that the sewer be constructed and that it be connected with the 17th Ave. sewer. On motion the report was adopted.

City Attorney Calkins to whom was referred the bill on sewer tax reported recommending that the bill be disallowed for the reason that Mr. Henke paid the same tax per front foot sewer as other people in the city.

On motion the report was adopted.

City Attorney Calkins to whom was referred the bill of F. J. Wood for excessive taxes reported recommending that the bill be allowed.

On motion the report was adopted and the clerk instructed to charge the same back to the sewer district.

City Attorney Calkins to whom was referred the claim of J. Schoder for excessive sewer tax reported recommending that the claim be disallowed.

On motion the report was adopted.

The following resolution was presented.

RESOLUTION.

Whereas, Mar. 4, 1909, the Common Council of this City granted to the Grand Rapids Street Rail Road Company a franchise published May 12, 1909, for the construction and operation of its railroad, as in said franchise; and

"Provided, that that part of the franchise for the construction of the line of street-railroad in said City on the streets east of the Wisconsin River shall be exercised by the said street-railroad east of said line of street railroad east of the Wisconsin River within two years from the date of the passage and publication of this ordinance, and if not exercised within said period of time, the franchise for completing the street railroad on streets east of the Wisconsin River in said City shall expire and be of no effect."

Whereas, said railroad has not been and cannot be constructed within the time limited on the east side of said river in said city because a new bridge, safe and suitable for the carriage of the cars of said railroad has not been constructed across said river as was hoped and expected would be at the time of granting said franchise; therefore be it Resolved, that the time for constructing said railroad on the east side of said river under the authority of said franchise, be and hereby is extended for a period of one year from and after such time as said bridge shall have been constructed; not, however, in all to exceed five years from October, 15, 1911.

Grand Rapids Street R. R. Co.
By L. M. NASH, V. P.
G. M. HILL, Sec.

Adopted by the following vote the clerk calling the roll.

Ayes, Andrew, Bamberg, Billmyre, Gilmeister, Pribbanow, Dixon, Nash, Mosher, Payne and Jeffrey.

Naves, Abel and Lukasek.

There was presented a petition signed by Ed. Johnson and others praying for your honorable body to cause to have laid and constructed a standard sidewalk in said city as follows: beginning at the south west corner of lot No. 10, in subdivision of fractional lot No. 7, Section 5-22-6 east and running thence northerly along the east side of First street north a sufficient distance to connect with the corner stone of the lot and laid and constructed along the Alfred Canning lots in the First Ward of said city.

On motion the above petition was referred to the sewer committee.

There was presented a petition of Earle Pease and sixty-two others praying your honorable body to take such further steps either by condemnation or otherwise as may be necessary to widen Oak street a distance of one block between Third and Second street in said city, and on motion was referred to the street committee.

There was presented a petition of E. P. Arpin, Geo. E. Hoskinson Estate and E. J. Wood praying your honorable body to vacate that part of Milwaukee Avenue in Sargentsville and the City of Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, said street being now known as Third street lying between blocks No. 10 and 11 in said plat, and on motion referred to the Street Committee.

The waterworks committee reported on the petition of Herman F. Lock and others praying your honorable body to construct and maintain a water main on Tenth street south between Oak and Chestnut streets reported recommending that the prayer of the petitioners be granted and that the necessary work be ordered done by unanimous vote the clerk calling the roll.

Remarkable Coincidence In Sum of Money That Rastus Had In His Pocket.

Rastus was on trial, charged with stealing seven dollars and fifty cents. He pleaded not guilty, and as he was about to be acquitted, the judge appointed Lawyer Clearum as counsel. Clearum put up a strong plea in defense, and Rastus was acquitted.

Counsel and client met a few minutes later outside the court room. "Now, Rastus," said Clearum, "you know the court allows the counsel very little for defending this kind of case. I worked hard for you and got you clear. I'm entitled to much more pay than I'm getting for my valuable services, and you should dig up a good-sized fee. Have you got any money?"

"Yes, boss," replied Rastus, "I done got seven dollars and eighty-five cents."

THE ALARMING PREVALENCE OF ECZEMA

Finds Victims Among Every Race, Age and Condition.

Of all the diseases of the skin and scalp which torture and disfigure mankind, three-fourths are eczematous. Millions are born with eczema, and it is the only thing other millions have left when they die. Neglect in infancy and childhood, irritating conditions affecting the skin, ignorance of its real nature, improper remedies and many other causes that might be mentioned have created an eczema which, with varying severity, haunts the countless numbers during their entire lives. Eczema is a skin disease. It is not regarded as hereditary, nor contagious, and is impartially distributed among the rich and poor, the high and low. The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, causing loss of sleep, is usually the most distressing symptom and is caused by the bursting of the vesicles filled with an acid fluid, which burns as with fire the denuded skin. Now vesicles form, fill and burst, scales form upon scales, and crusts upon crusts until disfigurement is added to torture.

One of the most successful treatments for eczema, whether applied to the youngest infant or the oldest person, is not based with Cuticura Soap and gentle anointings of Cuticura Ointment. For more than a generation, these pure, sweet and gentle emollients have proved the most efficient agents in the speedy and permanent relief of all forms of eczemas, rashes, itches and irritations of the skin and scalp. Although Cuticura soap and ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, in order that those who have suffered long and hopelessly and who have lost faith in everything may make trial of them without charge, a liberal sample of each will be mailed free to any or all who send a 22-page pamphlet, giving a description and treatment of the various forms of eczema, as well as other affections of the skin, scalp, hair and hands—send to "Cuticura," Dept. W, Boston.

Raising the Rarest of Flowers—Orchids

ORCHIDS—THE RAREST AND MOST DELICATE OF FLOWERS

ORCHIDS are not only the most beautiful of flowers, but they are among the rarest of all the products of nature. To find and bring back to civilization the choicest of these petalod trophies, "orchid hunters" are all the while braving in tropical jungles dangers and hardships as great as a soldier of fortune. Similarly there is about the whole family of orchids an atmosphere of mystery such as no longer obtains in the case of any other of nature's standard trinkets—not even in the case of the diamond.

No wonder, then, that as these facts have become more generally known and as the peculiar history and characteristics of the orchids have become common knowledge there have sprung in upon us a great wave of sentiment in behalf of the orchid—an almost universal feminine longing to possess and wear these strange flowers with their regular, but not vulgar petals that look so artificial that mere imitations of the orchid pass muster than of any other flower, and their subtle fascination. There is no question, too, that the secret of the fascination of these wonderful flowers is not by any means explained by the mere fact that they are so expensive, which has so often been advanced in explanation of why so many people are eager for these flowers.

No more than half a century ago the whole orchid family was virtually undiscovered. Only a few varieties were known, and they were by no means in general cultivation. Now there is a mad quest in all quarters of the globe for these fashionable flowers. The utmost parts of the earth are being ransacked for new varieties, until the poor of the enormous prices which collectors will pay for rare "finds" and expensive greenhouses have been installed to permit the cultivation of the more delicate members of the orchid family under the same conditions as to light and temperature which obtain in its ancestral home in the tropics.

The orchids in their native haunts are found growing in all sorts of strange ways, and naturally when they are transplanted they are hard plants to grow. Moreover, there are no rules for the cultivation of orchids. In other branches of the floral kingdom all the members of a given floral family may be expected to yield to the same general method of cultivation, varied only in minor detail to permit adaptation to the needs of each member of the family. Not so with the orchid orchids, however. Every plant is seemingly a law unto itself, and likely to require methods of cultivation distinct in themselves, and perhaps the exact opposite of those which obtain in the case of other members of this fascinating family.

The rarest of the orchids, and, of course, the ones most sought and the ones which command the highest prices, do not grow after the fashion of the general community of self-respecting plants which bury their roots in the soil. Instead these orchids are, in effect, parasites, fastening themselves to tree trunks or tree limbs. It is these species which have native homes deep in the jungles of the tropics and the hotter and damper the atmosphere of these unhealthy tropical forests—for instance, those of Brazil—the more the orchids seem to thrive. Now when the descendants of such tropical captives are to be

Use Flattery for Health

What Women Need Is Not so Much Medicine But a Lot of White Lies.

And now comes a very learned man, a psychologist, a physiologist and a philosopher, who seems to have investigated the whole subject to his own satisfaction, and finds that the world is cursed with truth, or, rather, with a lack of lies. Human beings, particularly those of the feminine gender, suffer physical torments, it appears, by sufficient flattery. What women need is not so much quinine and ipecac as a lot of white lies. When you go home to the wife of your bosom you are not to tell her that she looks bad and ought to have a doctor at once. By no means. You must tell her that she looks younger than she has for years, and that she never was as dear to you, and that you are hardly able to pull through your daily tasks because you are so distracted by thoughts of her.

The remedy at least is cheap. It costs nothing but effort, but, alas! more effort than some men are willing to put forth. It is not because man is too truthful, but because he is too honest. He hasn't the willing mind. It is too common for men to presume that simply because they are married they need not bestow courtesy or sentiment upon their wives. Some men reserve their stories of flattery for other men's wives, which makes particularly interesting reading in the divorce courts.

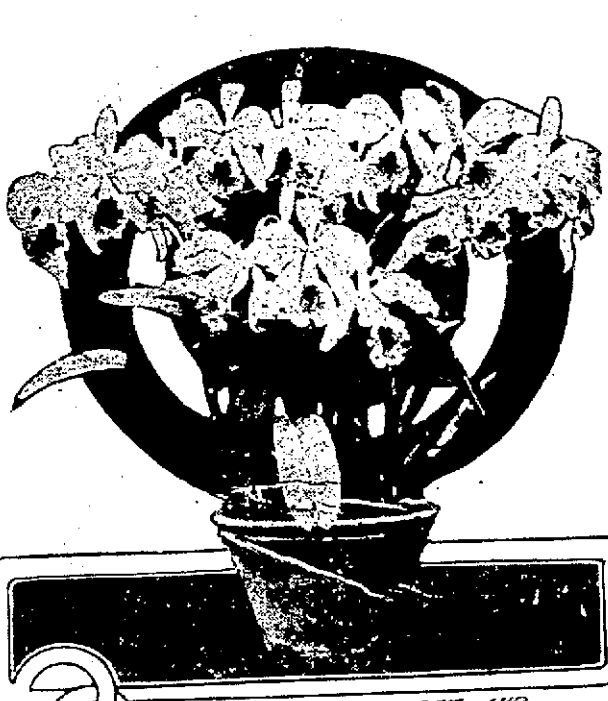

People Without Country

Inhabitants of the Blue Alaskan Mountains Have Without One for 40 Years.

The blue Alaskan mountains have of late days held a large measure of discontent in their shadow, says the Boston Transcript. For 40 years the inhabitants of the conquered province have been a population of men without a country. Detached from France, they held no staidhood with the other components of the German empire. They have stood the ordeal fairly well until within a year, when the desire for autonomy and equal rights with the other German states took the point of a direct appeal. A year or more ago systematic agitation for a constitution was begun, and a few weeks

Antiquity of Beer and Ale

Beverage Was In Common Use In Germany In The Time of Tacitus. Beer is a liquor made from any farinaceous grain, but generally from barley, which is malted and ground, and its fermentable substance extracted by hot water. This extract or infusion is evaporated by boiling in caldrons and hops or some other plant of agreeable bitterness added. The liquor just as do the collectors of coins or postage stamps. The raising of orchids from seed is a very slow operation, and one requiring an infinite amount of patience. Orchid growers who are in the business either for profit or pleasure, prefer, as a rule, to simply buy the bulbs—brown and withered and unimpressive—and by watching life until in time the plant blooms. One ticklish task in connection with the raising of orchids is the keeping up of the successive periods of rest and activity natural to each species of this floral family. As an orchid plant is passing into what is known as the dormant state it requires a gradual starving until it is revived from this and returned to active growth there must be a continual increase in the amount of moisture supplied to the plant arising from its dormancy.

Orchids newly arrived from foreign parts must have an exceptional amount of attention after their long sea voyage. First, all the old leaves are removed and then the plants are allowed to repose for a time in a cool building where they have shade. After two or three days of preparation the new arrivals are put in pots and "nursed" until they give evidence of active growth. After this it is largely a question of regulating temperature and moisture.

These flowers, some of which are said to have the ability to kill with their fragrance, are really distant cousins of the lady's slipper. There are, all told, more than 5,000 varieties of orchids, but the ones which have been most prized are the strangely beautiful forms which have come from blistering deserts, fever swamps, the tops of mountains or other localities where it seems as though Dame Nature had done her best to perdition away from prying human eyes. There are some who have not learned to love them, but a fanciful orchid, and such persons will not be surprised to hear that one of the choicest of orchids was first found clinging to a tombstone in New Guinea.

Orchid growers would, most of them, be in no end of difficulty in classifying and identifying their specimens, were it not for the Orchid Handbook, which is issued every year just as the almanac of the horticulturist. This is a book of the domestic varieties of orchids with information as to their respective lines of descent from the original wild kinds. There have been many efforts to make a respectable collection of orchids, but the most enthusiastic of all orchid collectors, however, has been Joseph Chamberlain, and the name of the English statesman will live forever in the domain of the orchid as a devotee who devoted his leisure and thousands of dollars of his wealth to the indulgence of his hobby for the gentlest and frailest of flowers.

Origin of the Piano.

The pianoforte was directly evolved from the clavichord and the harpsichord. In 1711 Scipione Maffei gave a detailed account of the first four instruments, which were constructed by Bartolomeo Cristofori. It was named by him the pianoforte and was first exhibited in 1709. Martini, in France, exhibited harpsichords, with hammer action, in 1718, and Schroter, in Germany, claimed to have invented the pianoforte between 1717 and 1720.

Martini was at first generally credited with the invention. Pianos of that period were shaped much like the modern grand variety. The first square piano was constructed by Frederick, an organ manufacturer of Saxony, in 1768. The first genuine upright piano was invented in England and the United States by John Isaac Hawkins, an Englishman, in 1880.

IN OBEDIENCE TO ORDERS

French Boy Caused Merriment by Taking the Order of the Court Too Literally.

A droll incident is reported as having taken place in one of the provincial appeal courts in France. A boy, about 14, was summoned to give evidence, and his appearance was such as to move the whole court to laughter. He wore a long redingote, peculiar to the Basque country, and immense boots. His trousers, collar and hat were unquestionably those of a man. The court was convulsed, and the president asked the boy how he dared to treat the court in such a manner. The boy seemed as surprised as the president, and taking the citation from his pocket, read the formula inviting him, "Comparetre dans les affaires de son pere." (To appear in his father's suit.)

Crippled by Tuberculosis.

According to a recent report by Dr. Conrad Bismark of Berlin, there are 75,000 cripples in the German empire out of a population of 65,000,000. Over 50,000 of the cripples are in need of treatment. Doctor Bismark states that in 15 per cent. of the cripples examined, their deformity was due to tuberculosis of the bone and joints, and that there were 10,000 such children in great need of medical treatment. He advocates the establishment of seaside sanatoria for this latter class of cripples.

HIS INVOCATION A SUCCESS!

Actor Finally Got the Gas Man Warranted and Attending to His

"Years ago," says Guy Bates Post, the actor, "I appeared in an amateur performance of a play that had a distinctly religious flavor. The leading character played by a student for the role had had a deep and sonorous voice. At one of the scenes the lights were supposed to be turned down and a ragged storm simulated. The accompanying lines were:

"'Oh, Lord, deliver us from the power of darkness!'"

"The leading man spoke the lines but darkness didn't follow. I spoke them again, and still the stage was disastrously light. Finally he roared out, 'Oh, Lord, deliver us from the power of darkness!' and then he said, 'I forgot to turn them down to turn down the lights!'"

"The gas lights went down and the audience roared." Pittsburgh Courier-City-Telegraph.

COFFEE CONGESTION
Cause a Variety of Ails.

A happy old lady in Wisconsin says:
"During the time I was a coffee drinker, I was subject to sick headaches, sometimes lasting 2 or 3 days at a time, and I was unable to do any thing for me during them."
To this affliction was added, some years ago, a trouble with my heart that was very painful, accompanied by a smothering sensation and faintness.
"Dr. Peppere's, also, came to make life harder to bear. I took all sorts of patient medicines but none of them helped me for any length of time.
"The doctors frequently told me that coffee was not good for me; but without coffee I felt as if I had a breakfast. I finally decided about a year ago to abandon the use of coffee entirely. As I had read a great deal about Postum, I concluded to try that for a breakfast beverage.

"I liked the taste of it and was particularly pleased to notice that it did not come up as coffee used to. It had spells with my heart grew less and less frequent, and finally ceased altogether, and I have not had an attack of sick headache for more than a year. My digestion is good, too, and I am thankful that I am once more a healthy woman. I know my wonderful restoration to health came from getting coffee out of my system and replacing it with Postum.

NON-TIPPING HOTEL

Makes Success, and Another Will Be Erected.

Public Likes Idea and New Hostelry Will Be Largest in World—Contains 1,000 Bedrooms and Has Roof Garden.

London.—When Sir Joe Lyons, England's newest knight, opened a big hotel on The Strand about 18 months ago and announced that there would be no tips in the new hostelry, most old Londoners laughed. They predicted that within a year either the servants would be accepting tips in the (then) honored way or the hotel would be closed.

Neither has happened. The hotel has not closed and the no-tipping system has proven such a success that the directors are going to build the biggest hotel in England and probably in the world where the same system will be practiced. It will contain 1,000 bedrooms, and its total dimensions will be over 40,000 cubic feet. It will have a large roof garden—an innovation in English hotels—fine smoking and billiard rooms, libraries, and, in fact, every modern convenience.

What the exterior of the building is to look like has not been quite decided, but from a hint dropped by Mr. Salmon it may be assumed that it will be distinctly impressive in appearance.

The site intended for the hotel is the old hotel neighborhood which lies between Regent street and Piccadilly circus. It is within a few seconds' walk of each, yet a quieter or more easily gettable spot could hardly be imagined. A number of very interesting old buildings will have to be demolished to make room for the hotel, and a considerable block of houses will have to be taken down. In one of the streets which are going the underground is Madon Nelson's Aboukir coffin had his shop, and a number of other venerable old business places will disappear. The cost of the site has probably been high, and a great many losses must have been sustained.

The rates at the new hotel will be six shillings a night ($160).

I asked about the success of the non-lapping system.

"The system has been a complete success," said one of the directors.

"It is?"

"Certainly," I asked. "Do they ever attempt to evade them?"

"They do occasionally," he replied.

"But it is only occasionally. As a rule they fall in with the system at once."

And you, the servants just as ready to oblige as when they had depend on tips?"

"Quite," was the answer.

The servants themselves seem to consider the system a success from their point of view, for Mr. Salmon assured me that he had no regular wages to the uncertain earnings of the waiter who depends on tips.

Many people here are of the opinion that such places as their hotel are quickly bringing about the death of the boarding house keeper. It stands to Lazy Persons May Take Advantage of Recent Invention.

Intended Primarily for Use in Sickness, it is Available on All Occasions—Bag Is Made Out of Soft Rubber.

Chicago.—"No bath, Chawles," and one does not need to get out of bed, if one is so lazily inclined or if one is ill or a confirmed invalid. Just take a bath in bed!

There has been invented and introduced in Chicago a bed bath in which one may enjoy a plunge in six or eight inches of water while in bed. The tub is made entirely of soft rubber; it is six feet long and large enough proportionately to admit of its use by adults.

It is inflatable and collapsible and the administration of a bath may be continued for as long a period as is required, more or less time than for an ordinary bath.

Deflated, the tub is flat and may be slipped under a person lying on a bed by a single attendant. Inflated, the tub, which is oval, is a sheet of flat rubber, the bottom hollow walls of rubber, ten inches high, open at the top, and form the pressure of the water, even if the tub is filled to its capacity.

The tub is inflated by means of a pump and a rubber tube connected with the walls, in the same manner in which one would pump up a deflated tire. The operation of inflating the tub requires about one minute. The water is poured into or conveyed to the tub by means of a hose and the bather is in the enjoyment of his ablutions without having left his bed.

It is not distinguished from the ordinary rubber tub. The loosening and lowering of a rubber sleeve, until now attached to the top of the tub, allows the water to empty into a vessel or vesicle, caroling observed always to have the tub on one side of the bed.

If the tub is lowered the sleeve which has been supporting the walls of the tub rushes out and the tub falls.

BREED FOXES IN CAPTIVITY

Yukon Territory Man Also Discovers
Black Ones Are Not Feasible—High Price for Furs.

Washington.—The raising of the black fox, the pelt of which is the highest priced fur on the market, is proving a profitable business and has demonstrated the fact that black and silver foxes can be bred in captivity, according to consular reports.

Recently Carl W. Faulk of Carcross, Yukon territory, captured a litter of black fox puppies and decided to raise them for breeding purposes. His enterprise not only has proved a success financially but has contradicted the general belief that black foxes, like black sheep, are merely fakes. Offers of as high as $1,500 have been made Mr. Faulk for the pelt of one of the black males, and he has sold pelts of silver foxes as high as $1,200 each.

One man's wickedness may easily become all men's curse.

WASHINGTON: Congressional circles are awaiting with interest the

The engagement was announced not long ago and the ceremony will take place sometime this month. Miss Tillman is well known and popular both in Washington and in her home state.

THIS APPETITE WAS AMAZING

Five Chickens, Eight Quarts of Dough and Fifty Waffles Part of a Hungry Man's Feast.

Bloomersburg, Pa. — The crowning achievement of the marauding career of Hungry Sam Miller occurred at a chicken and waffle supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Knies of near Strawberry Ridge, even though he long ago proved to the satisfaction of all comers that he is the original human octopus.

It was after 60 guests at the Knies home had partaken of the bounteous provisions, with great quantities of the delicacies remaining, that Hungry Sam appeared. He was quickly ascertained that he was willing to do his best to relieve the housewives of the trouble of clearing the tables. He started in with five whole chickens, garnished with 50 waffles and two country pie came as dessert, but still Sam's capacity had not reached the limit.

The combined waffle baking brigade was again called into action, but their services proved too slow for the great gourmand, and he seized the eight-quart bucket brimming full of waffle dough and drained it to the bottom.

Sam had to wait half an hour because Sam had reached the limit of endurance, but because the stock of edibles had been exhausted.

KILL RABBITS BY WHOLESALE

This bed bath is the invention of a man of science who designed it originally for use in homes and hospitals in the treatment of typhoid fever or other diseases where the full or plunge bath is indicated. In administering the full bath in typhoid fever cases—as known to physicians as the Brand treatment, it has not only been used in homes, now, but who first prescribed it —doctors dislike to remove their patients from the bed to a movable or stationary bathtub, fearing that the shifting and carrying necessary under such circumstances will induce harmful phages. It is asserted by physicians that the rubber bed bath, which does away with this difficulty, will be hailed as one of the greatest medical inven-

According to medical statistics, the death rate from typhoid fever, which has increased in the United States to an alarming extent in the last few years, has been reduced from 60 to 100 per cent. when the Brand treatment was used, the only objection to the Brand treatment being the necessity of keeping the patient in bed for a long time. Now that can be dispensed with—and the lazy man also may have his luncheon.

Photograph One's Thought?

Worcester, Mass.—Dr. Max Baff of Clark college, discussing the discovery credited to Japanese scientists enabling human thoughts to be photographed, said:

"As a method of taking thought photographs, a capital way would be to expose the film in a vacuum tank, and have the subjects, whose thought are to be photographed, placed near the tank. The vacuum tank is against it. Developing the film roll, after it had been unwound in darkness, with a pair of subjects thinking on a given subject while it was being unrolled, might show some extremely interesting things."

PARALYSIS REMEDY IS NEAR

Dr. Simon Flexner Announces Cure for Infantile Disease Will Soon Prove to Be Success.

New York.—The Rockefeller institute in this city believes that its search for a cure for infantile paralysis is about to be rewarded. Within six months, according to Dr. Simon Flexner, definite announcement of a specific remedy may be expected.

"The disease has been discovered how to prevent the disease," said Dr. Flexner, in a statement published here the other day, "and the achievement of a cure, I may conservatively say, is not now far distant. We have been working on this problem for a long time and we have learned where the germ resides, how the disease is spread, how the germ enters the body, the main source of infection and the means of combating the disease.

"The germ is so excessively minute that it is only by the use of a microscope falls to reveal it, but the

1910 FIRE LOSS $7,500,000

Manager of Chicago Underwriters' Association Says the Public is Criminally Careless.

Chicago.—Losses by fire in Chicago last year reached the total of $7,500,000, according to H. H. Glidden, manager of the Chicago Underwriters' association. The statement was made at a meeting yesterday afternoon of the Chicago real estate board.

"The average annual waste by fire in Chicago for the last five years has been at the rate of $3.34 for each human being in the city," Mr. Glidden said. "Compare this with an average of 61 cents loss per capita each year in European cities.

"In the last five years the city has seen vanish in smoke the vast sum of $36,397,000. This with a whole lake from which to draw our water supply and an abundance of other natural facilities advantageously arranged.

"The full extent of our profligality is not realized until we compare our losses per capita with those of Europe. In thirty European cities last year the average fire loss was only 61 cents per capita, and in six European countries only 33 cents. There is no sane reason why ours should be larger. We simply are criminally heedless; we are blinded by our pursuit of business. In plucking up cities we take no caution against the element that in a week could sweep all the cities of time into ashes."

SEA'S BURIED GOLD

TREASURE OF LOST TREASURE HUNT. ING NOT ALL FICTION.

Millions Hidden Under Ocean—Some Has Been Recovered, but Much Remains to Be Found— Case of John Phipps.

Boston.—Not all the tales of vast treasures buried deep under the waves evolved in the minds of novelists. Louis Stevenson and a dozen other writers have made such stories delightful to read, but there have been men, and men, who have profited by legends of buried gold, real gold. In fact, some of the real stories of lost and recovered treasure can give hints to romance and beat it with the truth.

The successful adventures of John Phipps are a case in point. Phipps, who had been a ship's carpenter, towards the end of the seventeenth century, spent years trying to recover various pieces that there lay at Spanish treasure under the sea in Hispaniola. At last, the Duke of Devonshire lent him a ship, with the outfit that, after a year of adventure in the Caribbean, returned to England, bringing him recovered treasure worth over $100,000.

Phipps' welcome when he returned to England with this freight resulted, through the influence of the Duke of Devonshire, who shared his treasure, in knighthood and an appointment as governor of Massachusetts.

Ever since the time of Phipps, the search for gold has gone on. How many centuries have passed, yet still a million still lies on the bottom of the ocean, and it may continue for centuries longer.

Perhaps the most valuable sunken treasure in the world is now lying at the bottom of Vigo bay. The Spanish,

...ence, which lies at the bottom of the sea off Sevastopol. The Black Sea was dispatched to Sevastopol with a general cargo for the army and 60,000 as service pay. It was sunk the day of its arrival by Russian guns, and went down with its cargo and treasure, none of which has ever been recovered. Another English vessel containing a large amount in specie is the East Indiaman Greyhound, now lying under water off St. John's, Cape Colony.

As an amusing instance of the way in which lost treasure can grow by rumour, Captain Kidd's board is instructive. When Kidd was hanged in London in May, 1701, a shipmate of Kidd's said that the captain had hid-about $1,500 worth of plate and tin, which he had not been able to recover. From this small beginning grew the innumerable stories of the Klondike Kluge, the vast of which placed the amount at $5,000,000.

INDIAN TRIBE NOT EXTINCT

California Expedition Discovers Remnants of Kombos Near Head Waters of Sacramento.

San Francisco.—An anthropological expedition from the University of California, under Professor Kroeber, has reported the discovery of remnants of a supposedly extinct tribe of California Indians near the head waters of a Sacramento tributary. The main body of the tribe, the Kombos, was exterminated in a raid in 1870 by settlers. According to the members of the expedition, which has returned from the north, there are about 20 in the tribe at present. They were identified by the name of the Kombos, although the natives themselves are too wild to be approached.

The university will try to have them rounded up by a troop of United ates cavalry in order that their language and ancient customs may be studied in the interest of ethnology.

Reports from sheepmen in Tehama county that sheep had been found killed by arrows led to the search for Indians.

Find $1,250,000 in Old House.

London.—Treasure trove to the value of $1,250,000 is reported from a building where it was uncovered by a Christianist Riley while he was pulling down the ruins of an old manor house which he believed to date from the twelfth century. The discovery includes ancient urns and vessels, armor, a sword, a battle-axe, and a sword. The armor bears the monogram of Elizabeth Vespaiani, the Roman who flourished in the first century.

THE PRICE OF LAND INCREASING

"BACK TO THE LAND" CRY IS EFFECTIVE.

Traveling through the state of Iowa one day, and laws to no extraordinary story about to be related, a writer was shown a farm that was used three years ago for $250 an acre. That appeared to be a high price for land upon which the owner ended upon the crops of corn, hogs and cattle that could be raised upon it. But it wasn't. A few weeks since the farm changed hands at $250 an acre. Over the Illinois town in line, up in Wisconsin, across the state in Minnesota, the same experience was met with. And then attention is directed to Canada, which has the Mecca of so many hundred thousand Americans during the past years. Not only in Eastern Canada but in the lands of the West, in Western Canada, during the few weeks, farm lands have increased from three to five dollars an acre, with the prospect of a similar advance during the next three months. The reason for this is very apparent. In a few words it may be pointed out that the lands are worth a great deal more than the present prices.

Northwestern Agriculturist of Minneapolis, a paper that was one of the first of the American farm papers to discover the real merits of the life of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, says: "The reciprocity scheme would encourage American farmers to move to Canada, and thus the vast country would be settled with less labor than can be produced in our own farms in the Northwest. The result will be to enhance the value in Canada." This paper finds land values in Canada will be increased at the expense of land values in the United States. In fact the United States are increasing the rural population scarcely holds. The reason for advance in value of Canadian dollar is partly accounted from this admitted by this paper, that Canada's virgin soil will produce "greater mass of grain with less labor." But the "greater mass" is a canon. During past twelve months 320,000 people have made Canada their home and are mostly of the farming class.

They want farms, and the demand as on the wealth of the soil is requiring the price. A study of the increase in the value of the land in every crop last year, which can be had in any Canadian government representative, will prove the point, that the demand is increasing at a greater rate than even the most sanguine could have predicted.

Parents and Children's Faults.
Parents ought to collaborate with teachers in helping to develop the talents in their children, and communities to eliminate the "waste."
The "waste" is a matter of fact. See of their children and discuss a remedy, and all the work which the teachers hoped to do in character build-indigent parent, who insists that

"y child" must be without faults, that the teacher who sees faults in an enemy, not a friend. It is seldom, indeed, that a man or a woman can see the faults of the teacher in justified or of his personal or selfish feelings for criticizing a child.

Triumph of Courage.
The "courage and the power of the humanity," saved Walter Sergeant, a young newspaper reporter, in the blood-stained, San Jose, when he was confronted by a hungry mountain lion the evening Sergeant was driving a herd of cows to his home in the hills when he noticed the big cat killing him.
Sergeant turned and fixed the cat with his eye. Man and lion glared as immovable as statues for two seconds and then the animal turned and trotted away.

Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man is strong who is suffering from weak stomach. Consequently indigestion, or from some other ailment of the stomach and its associated organs, weakens digestion and nutrition. For when there is weak or diseased there is a loss of the food contained in food, which is the source of all strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right" when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous, or is lacking the normal needed to make work a man should use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

It cures diseases of the stomach and its associated organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the liver, strengthens the nerves, and so gives HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO THE WHOLE BODY.

You can't afford to neglect a weak stomach. The best medical medicine no known cure, however, may thereby make a little bigger profit, in the long run.

VESPER

George Huntington, of Grand Rapids, the leading agent for the Ford Automobile Company, sold a car to G. E. Martin, President of the State Bank of Vesper. Mr. Martin was well satisfied with his purchase and says: "The Ford is the only machine. They made the trip from Milwaukee to Grand Rapids in ten hours, though the roads were in very bad condition, they passed thru about thirty-five miles of heavy sand, the entire trip was made without the least trouble, using about 4 1/2 gallons of gasoline. Anyone wishing to purchase a new car would do well to call on Mr. Huntington as he is a master of all machines."

Vesper is beginning to be noted for its prosperity. It is getting so it can support two barber shops. Another shop will be opened in the new Sears hotel just as soon as Mr. Sears can get the rooms ready.

There were six real estate deals made in Vesper last week. Chas. Ratcliff, the superintendent of the Vesper Safety Clavis and Malleable Iron Co., purchased the John Hayes property of Mr. Goldaworthy. Geo. Martin the president of the Vesper Bank, purchased Ed. Flanagan's house and lot, No. 56 Cameron Ave., Frank Jagodzinski purchased two lots in Fairview Addition. Harry Cole sold his ice cream parlor, 111 Virginia Street, to a party of Grand Rapids, Walter Truett sold his house and lot, 87 Elm Street to Frank Morris. Geo. Bliesner, Vesper's painter and decorator, purchased a lot in Fairview Addition.

Henry Staven has excavated and began laying the stone wall for a cellar on his lot in Fairview Addition. The church fair held in the hall last Friday evening by the Ladies Aid Society of the Lutheran church was a grand success. It was the largest and best church fair ever held in Vesper.
